SHORE LEAVE: Under normal circumstances no restrictions are imposed by the Government Immigration Authorities on shore leave.

GENERAL: While alongside vessels must maintain engines and propulsion machinery in readiness to leave the pier under full power on short notice. No repairs are permitted which should interfere with this requirement. While alongside, oil tankers should have their offshore anchor out about 50 ft.

All vessels except ships of war, must furnish a statement, of the amount and character of explosives carried, also a certificate to show how they are stored and manner of packing.

Special anchorage areas are provided in the harbour for vessels with dangerous cargo.

All fire-arms and ammunition must be manifested on store lists and must remain in bond on board during vessel's entire stay in territorial waters of Surinam. Any violation of this regulation renders the vessel subject to fines and confiscation of fire-arms and ammunition.

BALLAST: Vessels must arrive with sufficient ballast to permit safe handling. All vessels should enter port with clean ballast water that may be pumped overboard while in the harbour, as it is prohibited to pump dirty ballast water or oil residue or sweepings into the harbour.

BANIAS 35.14 N. 35.56 E.

PILOTAGE: Pilots board all tankers approaching the Terminals. These Pilots act in the same capacity as Mooring Masters in the berthing of vessels, after which they supervise the raising of the flexible hoses and their connection to the ship's manifold. During loading operation they act as the Company's Representatives. The Company's Mooring Masters will meet tankers in the vicinity of Marqab Light Buoy.

It is requested that tankers of 40,000 dwt. and over should have rigged, when in light condition, an accommodation ladder lowered to about 12 ft., above the water. This can be adjusted to suit conditions. A pilot ladder should be rigged immediately abaft the accommodation ladder, to within 2 ft. above the water. This will enable the Pilot to ascend the pilot ladder clear of the launch and then step on to the lower platform of the accommodation ladder. United Kingdom Merchant Shipping (Pilot Ladders) Rules 1965 is relevant.
ANCHORAGE: Vessels awaiting berth may anchor immediately South of No. 6 Berth in the vicinity of Marqab light-buoy with Banias Coastal Light bearing 180°. The sea bed is rock, coral and sand. To the seaward of the berths the depth of water is too great for safe anchoring.
MAX. SIZE: Maximum draft: 53 ft. from April to October; 51 ft. from October to April. Vessels up to 125,000 dwt handled at off shore moorings.
HEALTH: Masters of tankers due may obtain free pratique by addressing the usual quarantine message to their Agents through commercial radio channels.
RADIO: The Iraq Petroleum Company Limited must be informed 48 hours prior to arrival of a vessel's ETA, quantity of cargo required if in a state to load and maximum loading rate required. All times to be given in GMT or local time clearly stating which time is being used.

Banias Terminal Radio Station. Call sign: "YKM 5". Frequency: 442 kc/s.

Tanker VHF Radio Communications. Vessels approaching Banias can communicate with the Terminal by FM, VHF, Channel 16. Range-30 to 40 miles. Frequency 156·8 Mc/s. Simplex Operation. Call sign: Banias. On arrival, ships radio installations will be sealed off according to normal practice and the boarding Mooring Master will put his own portable equipment on board. Communications will then be as follows:

Banias. Equipment: Fixed station sited in the Terminal. Call sign: "Banias". Frequency: Transmitting 163·6 Mc/s. Receiving 159·1 Mc/s. Range: 8 miles. Watches: Continuous whilst vessels are in port or immediate vicinity.

Note: The radio telephone circuit is connected with the main Company Communications network in Banias Terminal.

BERTHING: At all berths vessels moor using both anchors forward, with wires to a buoy on the port bow, one buoy astern and one on each quarter. Hoses are lifted on the port side.

Berth No. 1: Out of commission.
Berth No. 2: depth 56 ft., three 16 in. hoses.
Berth No. 3: ,, 57 ft., three 16 in. hoses.

Loading rates up to 8,000 tons per hour.

FRESH WATER: Facilities are not available for the supply of potable or boiler water.

FUEL: Bunkers are not available at Banias.

BALLAST: All tankers should ensure ballast is clean. Authorities are most strict and impose heavy fines for the slightest contravention. Ballast quantity should be kept to the minimum required to ensure safe manoeuvring. No facilities for disposal of ballast ashore.

NOTICE OF READINESS: Notice of Readiness will be received by the Company Representative provided the vessel is ready to load. Lay time will commence six hours after receipt of Notice of Readiness, berth or no berth. The Company will make every effort to load a tanker on arrival provided a berth is available and weather permitting.

ANCHORAGE: Vessels proceeding to Tartous pick up Pilot at the Anchorage which is ½ mile South-west of the main breakwater. The rocky bottom constitutes good holding ground with a depth of up to 20 metres of water.

RADIO: Tartous Radio, call sign YKO, continuous watch on 2182 kHz.

BERTHING: Mooring Masters are temporarily supplied by Lattakia port and vessels should therefore contact Agents at Lattakia giving them their ETA and requirements. Vessels berth heading to the predominant South-western winds, i.e. stb. side alongside unless contrary winds prevail at the time of the berthing.

Southern breakwater – 2,650 metres long called Main breakwater
Northern breakwater – 1,650 ,, ,, ,, Lee breakwater

The distance between the two heads of these breakwaters is 250 metres with a depth of 10½ metres, which is being dredged in order to bring it up to 13 metres.

The harbour is divided into three basins which are protected by the two breakwaters: (1) The North basin; (2) The Middle basin; (3) The Southern basin. The Southern basin is the only one used presently, for the discharge of cargo.

Twelve vessels can be moored at anchor inside the breakwater of this basin, the depth being between 8–13 metres. The turning circle at the entrance is 450 metres diameter with a depth of 11–13 metres.

The main quay which is 150 metres wide offers on its southern side from the shore side 300 metres of jetty with a depth alongside of 2–4 metres, 300 metres with 8 metres and 200 metres with 9 to 10·5 metres depth. A standard gauge railway line is installed on the entire length of the quay.

TANKERS: Tartous Sealine Terminal:
Maximum safe length of tankers acceptable – 1,500 ft.
Maximum safe draft of tankers acceptable – 68 ft.
Maximum deadweight of tankers acceptable – 100,000 tons.

This is a one-berth Terminal that offers the same approaches used to reach the port of Tartous. Vessels await pilot 1·6 miles West of berth and the loading capacity is 4,000 tons per hour. Mooring, daylight only.

This operation performed without tug assistance but should there be a situation necessitating the help of a tug, same can be ordered from nearby Tartous port where 300 h.p. tugs stationed.

There are two breast buoys, two aft buoys and one astern, the vessel holding on its two anchors forward. In view of the rather sudden South-westerly winds, it may be decided to supplement the mooring lines with steel wires to assist in holding vessel in moorings.

The two flexible 10 in. hoses forming a "Y" will be connected to ship's manifold for side loading and the Terminal will supply the necessary standard flanges for the connection if required.

The Berthing Master will also supervise the loading and will keep in close contact with the control room by portable VHF radio since the vessel's own equipment has to be sealed during the ship's stay in port.

FRESHWATER: FUEL: There are no plans at present to furnish bunkers or fresh water to vessels calling at Tartous port except in limited quantities that will be brought alongside by tank-trucks.

MEDICAL: Medical facilities are available, but serious cases may involve transportation to Lattakia or Damascus.

DEVELOPMENTS: A new quay for phosphate is now under construction 300 metres long and 4 metres depth and will be prolonged by a quay of 250 metres long and 11 metres depth for vessels loading phosphate up to 25,000 tons capacity.

FATEH TERMINAL (offshore Dubai).

Oil Loading Terminal of the Dubai Petroleum Company.

Note: All tankers loading Fateh Terminal cleared by Dubai Petroleum Company, taking care of all necessary documentation concerning cargo. DPC does not charge owners/operators for this service. However, for all other agency services DPC refers owners/operators to regular shipping agents in Dubai.

According present oil company regulations vessels not allowed receive any deliveries or any launch alongside while loading at Terminal. Deliveries of mail, spare parts and performance of crew changes will, therefore, take place at Terminal anchorage, Dubai anchorage, or at a rendezvous point.

Weather permitting, Fateh Terminal operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and provided berth not occupied, tankers will be berthed upon arrival, day or night.

LOCATION OF TERMINAL: Fateh Terminal consists of crude oil production and export facilities of Fateh Field, offshore Dubai, Trucial States. Terminal limits are:

25° 41′ N., 54° 21′ E. 25° 41′ N., 54° 30′ E.
25° 31′ N., 54° 21′ E. 25° 31′ N., 54° 30′ E.

Within this area anchoring prohibited and Terminal Safety Regulations have effect.

For loading crude oil a Single Point Mooring (SPM) Buoy in position: 25° 35′ 12.6″ N., 54° 25′ 46.3″ E.

SPM bears approximately 292°, 50.1 nautical miles from Port Rashid, Dubai Light (F1, 3 sec. 10M) and approximately 202°, 19.5 nautical miles from Jazirat Sirri Light. It is anchored in approximately 130 ft. of water.

NAVIGATIONAL AIDS: SPM fitted with five-mile white flashing light; one 1-second flash every 10 seconds. Two oil-storage vessels, "Majmaa No. 1" and "Majmaa No. 2" show lights and shapes as prescribed in International Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea for vessels engaged in underwater operations.

Each vessel is equipped with a continuously operating foghorn, one 2-second blast every 20 seconds.

Submerged storage tank shows one white flash every second, also equipped with continuously operating foghorn, one 2-second blast every 20 seconds.

Central production and "A" platforms show one white flash every second and also operate a foghorn during fog. Various working lights also shown.

Well platforms "B", "C" and "D" show in white flashes the letters B, C and D respectively in morse code one every ten seconds. Each platform also equipped with a continuously operating foghorn, one 2-second blast every 20 seconds.

A flare when showing, gives an orange light, which may be visible a great distance. In addition, on the flare structure a light shows one white flash every second.

APPROACHES: On approaching Terminal, Masters of incoming tankers should head for anchorage area (see "Anchorage") where, under normal conditions, their vessel will be boarded by a DPC Mooring Master.

ANCHORAGE: Position 25° 36′ N. 54° 31′ E. represents centre of a circle with radius approximately one mile, which must be used by vessels required to wait at anchor. Anchoring within Terminal Limits prohibited. If tanker not scheduled berth on arrival (e.g. another vessel is already in berth, or port closed on account adverse weather, etc), Masters will be advised by radio and requested to anchor.

NOTICE OF READINESS: After arrival Anchorage Area and in every respect ready to load, Master may tender Notice of Readiness, which will be accepted, provided Mooring Master on board or dropped anchor in anchorage area.

Port Closed. Notices of Readiness will not be accepted during periods when the port closed. Port "closed" when weather such that it is too rough for incoming tankers to berth. Decision regarding opening and closing of port will rest with Fateh Terminal Superintendent or his deputy.

DOCUMENTS: At present, there are no regulations requiring the tendering of any documents at Fateh Terminal. However vessels may be advised to tender to Dubai Petroleum Company, following documents:

Declaration of Health, in duplicate.
Declaration of Stores, including bonded stores.
Notice of Readiness.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage compulsory within Terminal Limits (see "Location"). Vessels to be moored Fateh Terminal will be boarded by DPC Mooring Master in anchorage area. Mooring Master will advise ship's Master on approaches to SPM mooring, unmooring, connecting and disconnecting hoses and all other operations within Terminal area. All manoeuvring of ships within Terminal area shall be done only in accordance with advice of DPC Mooring Master, subject to the understanding that in all cases and circumstances the Master shall remain solely responsible for safety and proper manoeuvring of vessel. Master or one of his qualified deck officers must be on bridge at all times while tanker being manoeuvred.

MOORING: Vessels requested have pilot ladder safely and securely rigged ready for immediate use and long enough to meet Mooring Master's launch. Vessels will provide a lee for the Mooring Masters both when boarding and leaving. Tankers requested to have ready on forecastle head the following: 2 mooring ropes, polypropylene if possible; 2 mooring wires, on winches if available; 1 messenger rope minimum length 300 ft. rope and chain stoppers and on port side amidships: derrick rigged and ready to pick up from a launch, mooring shackles, nylon strops and hose connection gear.

On near approach to buoy a launch will attach a ship's line to one of Terminal's floating nylon ropes. This will be hove aboard and secured to the towing bracket, if the ship is so fitted, or otherwise secured by a ship's mooring wire and a nylon strop previously passed aboard. Same operation will be repeated with second nylon rope.

LOADING: Maximum loading rate 40,000 barrels per hour. Two 16-in. diameter hoses will be lifted by ship's gear on port side. Each lift is five tons. Hoses shall be hoisted and connected by ship's crew. Mooring Master will advise the ship's officer in charge concerning lifting techniques. 16 in. – 12 in. reducers are fitted on the ends of the crude oil hoses thus enabling tankers with either 16 in. or 12 in. ASA 150-lb. flanges to connect directly to the Terminal hoses.

All communications relative to loading routed through Mooring Master, who will remain in contact with production platform constantly via portable VHF units.

RADIO: When within 72 hours of arrival Fateh Terminal Master should notify DPC by cable via Bahrain Radio (call sign GOU), which operates on a 24-hour service giving following information: Name of tanker, ETA in GMT (Dubai time is GMT plus 4 hours throughout the year). If ship's hose connections are different from 16 in. or 12-in. standard ASA 150 lb type, the size should be stated. Sections 1 and 2 of the above message should be repeated via Bahrain Radio when within 24 hours and again when within 12 hours of arrival at Terminal.

Within about 60 miles of Terminal communication may be established by radio telephone on International Marine VHF Channel 16 (156·8 mHz). This frequency is monitored continuously. Once contact has been made on Channel 16 further conversation should be conducted on either Channel 14 (156·7 mHz) or Channel 8 (156·4 mHz). A DPC Mooring Master will board incoming tankers in anchorage area with portable VHF radio telephone units. All communications between ship and platform will be conducted by mooring Master via portable VHF units.

DIRTY BALLAST: No slop tanks or facilities for receiving dirty ballast. Tankers must arrive with clean ballast. In event tanker does have dirty ballast, it will not be allowed to be pumped overboard. Dirty ballast will be collected into one tank, measured and left aboard.

GENERAL: Bunkers, Fresh water, Stores, Boats for hire, Repair facilities, not available. There is no shore leave.

MEDICAL: Medical and dental services not available. In emergency requiring hospitalisation, patient will be taken by boat from tanker to production platform, hoisted to upper deck of platform, and flown by helicopter to Dubai. Shipowner will be charged for all expenses incurred.

AGENT: Gulf Agency Co (Dubai) Ltd., POB 2404, Dubai, Trucial States. Cables: "Confidence", Dubai. Tel. 31300, after office hours 31549, 31367. Telex: 448 (answerback: "Confidence DB448").

Abu Dhabi National Flag must be flown on foremast when in Abu Dhabi territorial water. Flags available through ship's Agent.

Jebel Dhanna Sea Line Terminal

APPROACHES: (Inward Passage).

Outer Route between Jazirat az Zarqa and Ghasha Tower Beacon marked by two light floats and four buoys. The two light floats are both port hand marks, and the buoys starboard hand, as indicated by shape, colour and light characteristics. Depths along route vary and shown on chart.

Inner Channel, from Ghasha Tower to berths at Jebel Dhanna marked by 21 light buoys. Least depth in this channel is 46 ft. and minimum width of 800 ft. between Nos. 7 and 10 buoys.

(Outward Passage)

After clearing berth an outward bound vessel should steer to pass midway between Nos. 13 and 20 buoys, leaving Alaq Island to starboard. From Nos. 13 and 20 buoys the same track is followed as for inward passage.

DOCUMENTS:

2 Crew Lists.
2 Passenger Lists.
2 Manifests.
1 International Maritime Declaration of Health.

PILOTAGE: Give 48 hours notice of ETA, etc., to Agent via Cable and Wireless, Bahrain. On confirmation of ETA on VHF Channel 16 either to "Jebel Dhanna Radio" or "Jebel Dhanna Pilots", Pilot will meet and board inward bound ship to West of Gasha Tower Beacon on request and will conduct through Inner channel to berth. Pilots act in same capacity as Mooring Masters in berthing vessels, after which they supervise raising of flexible hoses and connection to ship's manifold. Pilots disembark off Ghasha Tower outwards.

TIDES: In outer approaches, i.e. from Zarqa to Ghasha Tower, tides almost purely diurnal, but semi-dirunal effect becomes more evident as Dalma is approached and is (comparatively) most marked at Jebel Dhanna. However, this semi-diurnal effect not of great significance and for all practical purposes it can be taken that there is only one high water and one low water per day throughout length of approach and at Jebel Dhanna, but times of high and low water at various control points are not coincident.

High water at 01 buoy occurs on average about 1½ hours before high water at Jebel Dhanna, but differences may be from about ½ hour up to 2½ hours.

Time differences between low waters appear erratic. At 01 buoy low water may occur anything from 3 hours before low water at Jebel Dhanna to 1½ hours after, but more often than not it precedes low water at Jebel Dhanna. At 05 buoy, Dalma and Ghasha Tower, time differences reduce slightly more or less in proportion to increasing distance from Jebel Dhanna, but as for 01 buoy the extremes show a wide variation.

Tidal Streams. In berth area, streams generally do not exceed ½ knot and are predominantly confined to S.E. and S.W. quadrants. In outer approaches, streams appear to attain a maximum of 1 knot approximately along line of route, but this information should be regarded with caution as it depends on limited observation.

ANCHORAGES: If berth not available, or if ships cannot sail immediately after loading, they can anchor in an area South of Buoys Nos. 13 and 20 and North of Berths. This area marked by No. 15 buoy to West, No. 22 buoy to East and by berths to South. Alaq Island lies in the middle of this area and is marked by two buoys No. 17 and N. Alaq and by S. Alaq Beacon.

RESTRICTIONS: Vessels must receive clearance from Jebel Dhanna Terminal to enter channel. This is to ensure that all outward-bound vessels are aware of traffic movements in channel. Mooring, loading and unmooring carried out by day and night.

MAX. SIZE: (Also see "Berthing"). Maximum length: 1,100 ft.; Maximum breadth: 160 ft.

Note: Draught of laden tankers leaving Jebel Dhanna controlled by depth in Inner Channel between Nos. 7 and 10 Buoys. This is 48 ft. below Chart Datum and Zero of predictions. An allowance of 3 ft. 6 in. under keel is considered sufficient.

HEALTH: International Maritime Declaration of Health. In case of suspected disease Agent to be informed on VHF Channel 16. Smallpox and cholera inoculation required.

RADIO: Cables to Agent, Receivers, etc., should be sent via "Bahrain Radio". When vessels within range they should confirm ETA on Channel 16, 156·8 mc/s to either Jebel Dhanna Terminal Call Sign "Jebel Dhanna" or Jebel Dhanna Pilots call sign "Jebel Dhanna Pilots"; ship's Agent in Jebel Dhanna also equipped with Channel 16.

TUGS: No tugs available.

BERTHING: Berthing is by mooring to 2 anchors and stern buoys. Arrangements in advance by contacting Jebel Dhanna Pilots on Channel 16.

Berths are approached on W.S.W. course passing S.E. of Alaq Island. Leading lights have been established which will lead ships on the line of the two anchors when in berth. A small marker buoy has been established to assist the Mooring Master in placing starboard anchor in correct position. Vessels berth heading N.W. Holding ground good. Bottom consists of clayey silt.

Sea Line Loading Berths. Three sea line berths Nos. 1, 2 and 3 numbered from N. W. to S.E., each supplied by single 36 in. lines terminating in a header which passes under vessel in berth.

Berth Specifications:

Berth	Draught acceptable	Approximate deadweight acceptable	Maximum loading rate	Strings of flexible hoses	Length of sea line
No. 1	45′	83,000	6,000 t.p.h.	Four 12″	16,269′
No. 2	46′	85,000	6,000 t.p.h.	Four 12″	16,27′
No. 3	49′	90,000	7,400 t.p.h.	Four 16″

* Deadweights shown for vessels loading full cargoes. Part Cargoes may be greater. Nos. 2 and 3 Berth can accommodate 200,000 d.w.t. tankers.

Approximate draught limits quoted are based on an underkeel clearance in berths, of 6 ft. Rising tides permit deeper loading. Least depth of water available in berth, and swinging circle, after deducting 6 ft. for height above sea bed of sea line end cradle is as follows: No. 1 Berth, 51 ft.; No. 2 Berth, 52 ft; No. 3 Berth, 55 ft.

Swinging circle defined as 1½ ship's lengths from dropping position of ship's inshore anchor. General limitations as follows:

(a) Ships drawing 43 ft. 6 in. may sail at any time on any day.
(b) Ships drawing 44 ft. will rarely have to use tides.
(c) Ships drawing 45 ft. will usually have to use tides.
(d) Ships drawing 46 ft. will always have to use tides.
(e) Ships drawing 47 ft. will occasionally be neaped.
(f) Ships drawing 48 ft. will be neaped 176 days ± per year. The best months are June, July and August.
(g) Ships drawing 49 ft. may sail occasionally. The best months are June and July.
(h) Ships drawing 50 ft. are not worth programming as on the few days predictions indicate they could sail, meterological conditions may well cut tides.

Seaward ends of pipelines, terminate in 12 in. or 16 in. flexible hoses, there being four such strings of hoses at each berth. Two taken up on each side of vessel.

Additional information obtainable from Jebel Dhanna Pilots on Channel 16 prior to vessel's arrival. No slop discharge facilities available. Only clean ballast water is allowed to be discharged in port. No dirty Ballast. Specific gravity: 0·8250/0·8340 – API 38°/40° (crude oil).

MARSA AL HAMRA (El Alamein): 30.59 N. 28.52 E.

WEPCO Terminal

The Mono Mooring Buoy is in an open and unsheltered roadstead. The mooring buoy is located at latitude 30° 58.7′ North, longitude 28° 52.2′ East. It is 53 miles on a bearing of 255° from Ras-el-Tin lighthouse, Alexandria, and three miles off shore in approximately 66 ft. of water.

DOCUMENTS:
4 copies Crew List.
Deck log books showing date of last call at a U.A.R. port, completed up to the time of arrival.

Quarantine Questionnaire in duplicate (Form No. 15 Q.A.) showing all ports of call, as well as dates of sailings for the last 30 days, nature of cargo on board, destination, as well as sickness among crew or passengers, if any, specially when it is presumed that the sick will be hospitalised. These forms can be filled on arrival if not available on board before arrival.
Deratisation Certificate should be handy for inspection.
Clearance from Last Port.
Bonded Store List, in duplicate.
Crew List and Passengers' List in duplicate, showing rate of consumption of each.

PILOTAGE: The S.-S.W.-W. quadrant from the buoy is prohibited anchorage area, Gebisa Reef is at latitude 30° 58′ 30″ North, longitude 28° 49′ 10″ East, at 2·7 miles on a bearing of 260° from the buoy.

The mooring buoy carries a light, flashing six times per minute, and visible all round to a distance of 4½–5 miles in clear tropical weather.

Surface current sets East at 10 miles offshore at the rate of one knot. Maximum rise and fall of tide in the mooring area is 2 ft.

Vessel arriving should approach to within 2 miles North of the buoy, where they will be met by the Harbour Master or Pilot who will advise the ship's Master on approaches to the mooring buoy, mooring and unmooring.

RESTRICTIONS: Normally vessels are moored during daylight hours only, but permission can be obtained to sail at night. Arriving vessels should keep 50 miles off shore between sunset and sunrise.

HEALTH: Hoist International Code Quarantine signals when entering. Any sickness must be reported to local authorities.

RADIO: The commercial radio station at Alexandria will handle WEPCO radio traffic. Alexandria Coast Radio Station (call sign SUH) operates 24 hours a day on 444,500 and 8,578 kHz, and between 06.00 hours and 18.00 hours GMT on 12,974 kHz.

Ships nearing El Hamra Terminal may contact the terminal by FM/VHF radio on 156.70 MHz or 2182 kHz.

While at the mooring, ship-to-shore communication is by portable VHF radio-telephone units, under the direct charge of the Mooring Master.

TUGS: Not available and not required.

BERTHING: Two good lines must be ready on the forecastle to be sent to the buoy plus a further two lines for use as messengers. Ship's lifting gear must be ready near the port manifold for lifting and connecting two 12-in. hoses, with proper reducers if the manifold does not fit 12 in. hose with 150 ASA standard flanges. The total weight per hose assembly is approximately five tons. Maximum loading rate is 3,700 t.p.h.

A pilot ladder must be safely rigged for immediate use and long enough to reach the Mooring Master's launch. At night adequate lighting must be rigged overside to enable the Mooring Master to approach and board the ship safely, and searchlights should be rigged on both sides of the bridge to assist in running lines to the buoy.

BALLAST: No dirty ballast may be pumped overboard, and it is the ship's Master's responsibility to ensure that no oil – whether crude, diesel bunker or bilge – is pumped or spilled into the waters of and surrounding the Terminal. Ballast can be pumped ashore through one or both of the floating hoses direct to disposal facilities on shore.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Present regulations at El Alamein allow each seaman to retain in his possession a maximum of 50 cigarettes or one ounce of tobacco or five cigars. All other smoking items must be collected and listed before arrival. The list will be checked by Customs before sealing the locker, and any discrepancies will be subject to fines. There must be no items aboard of Israeli origin.

FRESH WATER: Not available.

FUEL: Not available.

MEDICAL: Nearest hospital facilities are at Alexandria, at least 90 minutes drive from the terminal.

TIME: From 1st October to 30th April, local time 2 hours ahead of GMT. From 1st May to 30th September, local time 3 hours ahead of GMT.

AUTHORITY: Western Desert Petroleum Company.

RAS GHARIB: 28.21 N. 33.06 E.

A natural port at the Western side of Suez Gulf sheltered by the Cape and a chain of reefs.

DOCUMENTS:
4 copies Crew List.
Deck log books showing date of last call at a U.A.R. port, completed up to the time of arrival.
Deratisation Certificate should be handy for inspection.
Clearance from Last Port.
Bonded Store List, in duplicate.
Crew List and Passengers' List in duplicate, showing rate of consumption of each.

Quarantine Questionnaire in duplicate (Form No. 15 Q.A.) showing all ports of call, as well as dates of sailings for the last 30 days, nature of cargo on board, destination, as well as sickness among crew or passengers, if any, specially when it is presumed that the sick will be hospitalised. These forms can be filled on arrival if not available on board before arrival.

PILOTAGE: Vessels should approach the anchorage from Southeastward and wait Southward of the prohibited anchorage until boarded by the Harbour Master who will pilot them either to moorings or to an anchorage clear of the prohibited area of the pipelines.

Two pairs of leading beacons stand about 4 and 5½ cables, beside three others that stand about 12 cables Southward of Ras Gharib light-structure. About 2 cables further Southward are two leading beacons. All the above beacons are difficult to identify until close inshore.

ANCHORAGE: Ras Gharib anchorage, South-westward of the cape, affords some shelter, but a moderate swell round the cape is experienced on most days. Vessels can obtain anchorage in depths of about 5 fathoms.

During most of the year there are Northerly winds, force 3–5, but in December and January there are occasionally calms. On very rare occasions, there are Southerly gales of short duration which make the anchorage untenable.

The Northerly wind causes some swell in the anchorage, but it is not normally severe enough to interfere with the working of lighters or boats of moderate size. It is, however, unpleasant for small boats, except alongside the piers, which are well protected.

Except in the vicinity of the piers, there is usually some swell on the beaches. There is practically no rainfall and sand storms occur only very occasionally and they do not interfere with work in the anchorage.

Anchorage is prohibited, owing to the existence of pipe lines, within an area indicated by pecked lines on the chart.

HEALTH: On entering, vessels must hoist the International Quarantine Signal for compulsory quarantine. Any sickness must be reported to the doctor specially when it is presumed that the sick will be hospitalised.

TANKERS: Tanker mooring buoys are situated in 30 ft. depth of water.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Present regulations allow each seaman to retain in his possession a maximum of 50 cigarettes or one ounce of tobacco or five cigars. All other smoking items must be collected and listed before arrival. The list will be checked by Customs before sealing the locker, and any discrepancies will be subject to fines. There must be no items aboard of Israeli origin.

TIME: Winter: from 1st October to 30th April, local time 2 hours ahead GMT. Summer: from 1st May to 30th September, local time 3 hours ahead GMT.

AGENT: Canal Shipping Agencies Co.

RAS SHUKHEIR: 28.08 N. 33.17 E.

ADVICE OF ARRIVAL: It is important that ships establish radio contact with "GUPCO" (Gulf of Suez Petroleum Co.) when three days distant from Terminal and maintain this contact until just previous to arrival at the Terminal. All ships should send a 72-hour ETA message to "Panintoil Cairo" giving the best estimate of ship's arrival time at the Terminal. This ETA message should also include a definite statement of the details of any equipment required from shore for connecting submarine hoses to ship's manifold. Further ETA messages should be sent to "Panintoil Cairo" when the vessel is 24 hours and 12 hours distant from Ras Shukheir and at any other time any appreciable change occurs in the original ETA or those subsequent thereto. The 12 hour ETA should include a positive statement regarding ship's readiness to load on arrival and the number of hours that will be required to discharge ballast after ship is berthed in mooring.

DOCUMENTS:

4 copies Crew List.
Deck log books showing date of last call at a U.A.R. port, completed up to the time of arrival.
Deratisation Certificate should be handy for inspection.
Clearance from Last Port.
Bonded Store List, in duplicate.
Crew List and Passengers' List in duplicate, showing rate of consumption of each.

Quarantine Questionnaire in duplicate (Form No. 15 Q.A.) showing all ports of call, as well as dates of sailings for the last 30 days, nature of cargo on board, destination, as well as sickness among crew or passengers, if any, specially when it is presumed that the sick will be hospitalised. These forms can be filled on arrival if not available on board before arrival.

PILOTAGE: Ras Shukheir lighthouse is located in Lat. 28° 08′ 15″ North, and long. 33° 16′ 20″ East. It is a white flashing light, flashing every 3 seconds and visible for 10 miles.

Gebal Gharib, situated about 18 miles South-westward, 5,742 ft. high. It makes nearly a perfect equilateral triangle with Ras Shukheir and Ras Gharib Lighthouses. Ras Gharib Lighthouse is an excellent landmark whether by day or night for vessels approaching from North, but caution should be exercised since this Light is obscured from 308 degrees to the Westward. The sea-berth buoys are unlighted.

The company's Mooring Master will meet all incoming tankers about two miles from Ras Shukheir Terminal on a bearing of 290/300 degrees from Ras Shukheir Lighthouse and will advise ship's personnel in mooring and unmooring, raising and lowering of hoses.

Vessels are requested to have a pilot ladder safely and securely rigged, ready for immediate use, and long enough to reach the Mooring Master's launch. If at night, adequate lighting must be rigged overside for the Mooring Master to approach the side and climb the ladder safely.

ANCHORAGE: There are a number of oil well installations, structures and submarine pipelines located in the Gulf of Suez opposite to Ras Shukheir Terminal and approaching vessels are warned of these obstacles in manoeuvring and anchoring. Vessels should approach from the Eastward and if necessary anchor Southeast of the sea berth. Never anchor north of the sea berth.

RESTRICTIONS: The Ras Shukheir Terminal operates 24 hours per day, seven days a week. Ships are loaded and unmoored at any hour, weather and other circumstances permitting. Vessels are moored during daylight hours only, however, an exception may be made at the discretion of the Terminal.

RADIO: The Alexandria or Port Said coast radio station will handle GUPCO radio traffic. Ships may contact GUPCO through their cable address "Panintoil Cairo". The message will be received on their Cairo Radio Telegraph Office local Teleprinter circuit. Tape perforated and relayed to the Ras Shukheir Terminal.

Cables from Ras Shukheir Terminal to the ships would be handled in the same manner. The Alexandria or Port Said coast radio station transmit traffic lists at regular intervals listing the call signs of all ships for which they have traffic on hand. Thus any ship hearing its call sign in the traffic list of the coast station would call the coast station immediately after the traffic list.

FM/VHF RADIO TELEPHONE: When ships are near Ras Shukheir Terminal, they may use their FM/VHF radios to contact the Terminal using 160.70 mc/s or 160.80 mc/s.

SUBMARINE HOSE LOADING BERTH: Tanker is loaded by means of submarine pipelines to which are attached two hoses for oil loading and one hose for discharging ballast water. A 36 in. line transports the oil and a 16 in. line, the ballast water. The loading berth is located approximately 940 metres (3080 ft.) offshore in a water depth of approximately 60 feet (10 fathoms). The loading and ballast lines are laid in the same trench and run in a direction N. 55° 00′ E. The mooring buoys are numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 starting with 1 North of the mooring and running consecutively in a clockwise direction.

LOADING READINESS AND ARRIVAL TIME: The company will make every effort to load vessels upon arrival or as promptly as berth is available, weather permitting. Notice of Readiness will not be accepted as at time of arrival unless the vessel is in all respects ready to load. Arrival time will be considered as the time the Mooring Master boards the vessel or the time that vessel anchors, whichever occurs first.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Present regulations allow each seaman to retain in his possession a maximum of 50 cigarettes or one ounce of tobacco or five cigars. All other smoking items must be collected and listed before arrival. The list will be checked by Customs before sealing the locker, and any discrepancies will be subject to fines. There must be no items aboard of Israeli origin.

TIME: Winter: from 1st October to 30th April, local time 2 hours ahead GMT. Summer: from 1st May to 30th September, local time 3 hours ahead GMT.

AGENT: Canal Shipping Agencies Co.

SAFAGA: 26.46 N. 34.00 E.

DOCUMENTS: The following documents are required on arrival

Quarantine Questionnaire in duplicate (Form No. 15 Q.A.) showing all ports of call, as well as dates of sailings for the last 30 days nature of cargo on board, destination, as well as sickness among crew or passengers, if any, specially when it is presumed that the sick will be hospitalised. These forms can be filled on arrival if not available on board before arrival.

One Crew List and one Passenger List.
Deratisation Certificate should be handy for inspection.
Clearance from Last Port.
Complete set of Manifests covering all cargo on board showing names of shippers and consignees.
4 copies List of Passengers in Transit.
4 copies Crew List.
Deck log books showing date of last call at a U.A.R. port, completed up to the time of arrival at Port Said or Suez.

PILOTAGE: Masters should endeavour to arrive at the N. end of the island by sunrise, at Safaga Port by early morning; the light behind them will show up the reefs clearly. Wind, light in the morning, gains strength during the day, making tying up more difficult. A beacon (Morewood Beacon), visible a mile off, is erected on the southern spit of the island. After rounding the spit, masters keep five cables clear of visible reefs and enter the harbour keeping the two large beacons to the North of the pier in line. Anchorage is then indicated by a small red or white flag. The Manager or his representative, of the Safaga Phosphate Company will meet ships in launch with instructions on berthing.

MAX. SIZE: Safe draft in the fairway, over reefs and alongside pier: 27 ft. 6 in.

HEALTH: On entering, vessels must hoist the International Quarantine Signal for compulsory quarantine. Any sickness must be reported to the doctor especially when it is presumed that the sick will be hospitalised.

BERTHING: There are two mooring buoys marked B and C and two mooring posts marked A and D.

(1) The anchor position is marked by a small red or white flag. When mooring, manilla ropes only should be used, as wire ropes can be run out afterwards when ship is alongside.

(2) Due to rocky nature of sea bottom, it is very desirable that ship in coming into berth, does not override her anchor, as, if this happens, chain is apt to foul coral bottom and cause trouble later on.

(3) Endeavour to have all way off ship when anchor position is reached. Drop anchor as close to flag as convenient and go astern. If necessary check cable when two shackles have been paid out.

(4) Run rope to Buoy C, run rope to Buoy B, run rope to Post D, then run rope to Post A. Run Spring to S1, S2, S3, and pull alongside. Company's launches will run all ropes.

(5) If wind is blowing strongly off shore, a Spring to S3, may be run immediately a good rope to Buoy B is made fast.

(6) The best way, to reach the anchor position is to steer straight for same, keeping Buoy C on port side. This will keep vessel clear of Buoy C and when anchor is dropped, the stern should swing clear of this Buoy. If it does not, a rope can be run to S3 and the stern pulled in before falling back on pier.

(7) With anchor dropped as shown, six shackles should see No. 1 hatch at the pier, but if chain is slackened carelessly, it may foul bottom and be insufficient to reach pier.

If visibility is very good, a course can be made between the Hyndman and Cannon Reefs, and altered to bring the beacons referred to into line. Rock phosphate and ground phosphate are loaded at this port for shipment all over the world. The mines are situated some 30 km. away and are connected by company's own railway. Rock phosphate loaded (200 tons per hour) from elevator and phosphate in bags by ship's gear. No water or stores.

LONDONDERRY (incl. Moville): 55.00 N. 07.20 W.

The main port of Londonderry is situated about 21 miles from the sea on the River Foyle.

PORT LIMITS: Extend from Lifford Bridge to a line drawn from Greencastle Fort in the County of Donegal to the Tower on Magilligan Point in the City and County of Londonderry.

DOCUMENTS: For Londonderry see "Belfast". For Moville see "Dublin".

Since the Port of Londonderry falls within the Republic of Ireland and the United Kingdom, both Governments are concerned in regard to Customs documents. Moville, which is situated down river from Londonderry, is located in the Republic of Ireland and is the anchorage where deep-sea vessels lie prior to proceeding to Londonderry. Should vessels discharge cargo or load cargo at this anchorage, Irish documents are required. The port is under the control of the Londonderry Port and Harbour Commissioners who are recognised by both Governments.

PILOTAGE: The Londonderry Port and Harbour Commissioners are the Pilotage Authority for the Londonderry Pilotage District. For information regarding pilotage application should be made to The Secretary, Harbour Office, Londonderry, Northern Ireland.

Pilotage is compulsory, vessels taking the Pilot at the Foyle Buoy or Fairway Buoy, about 2½ miles N.E. from Dunagree Point, Innishowen Head.

The pilot station is located at Carrickarory Pier, Moville, 55° 10′ 57″ N.; 07° 03′ 27″ W.

Deep-sea vessels usually take Pilot 2 hours before High water time Londonderry, so as to arrive at Londonderry on the top of High Water.

Pilotage service may be obtained in response to following signals:

Inward-bound vessels: By day. 1. The International Code Signal G; 2. The International Code Signal P.T.; 3. The Pilot Jack hoisted at the fore; 4. By daylight signalling lamp to the pilot station.

By night. 1. The pyrotechnic light, commonly known as a blue light; 2. A bright white light flashed or shown at short or frequent intervals just above the bulwarks for about a minute at a time; 3. The International Code Signal P.T. by flashing; 4. By signalling lamp to the Pilot Station.

By day or night. 1. By VHF (FM) radiotelephony to the pilot station at Carrickarory Pier. 2. By VHF (FM) radiotelephony to the pilot launch "Foyle Leader." 3. By I.F. radiotelephony to the pilot launch "Foyle Leader."

In poor visibility. By sounding the letter G in Morse Code on the steam whistle or siren.

As visibility to seaward from Carrickarory Pier is restricted it is important that Owners, Masters or Agents notify the Harbour Master (tel. Londonderry 3680) or outside Office hours the pilot station (tel. Moville 92) of the name of vessel; estimated time of arrival at the Fairway Buoy; draft of water of the vessel. It is also important that VHF (FM) communication be established with pilot station or pilot launch "Foyle Leader" or IF R/T communication with the pilot launch "Foyle Leader" as early as possible before arrival in Lough Foyle. Call signs, frequencies and procedure are as follows:

VHF (FM) and R/T Communications:

1. Pilot Station at Carrickarory Pier, Moville: Call sign "Foyle Pilots". Equipment VHF (FM) R/T single frequency working. A continuous listening watch is kept on Channel 16 (156.80 megacycles) except when pilot launch is operating, when watch is transferred to the launch. When communication has been established on Channel 16 (calling and safety channel) operators should switch to Channel 12 (156.60 megacycles.)

2. Pilot launch: Name of vessel "Foyle Leader". Call sign MIBC Equipment VHF (FM) R/T single frequency working and IF R/T When launch is operating a listening watch is kept on Channel 16 (158.80 megacycles). When communication has been established on Channel 16 (calling and safety Channel) operators should switch to Channel 6 (156.30 megacycles).

When arrival of vessels not yet fitted with VHF (FM) R/T is expected a listening watch on IF R/T will be kept on the pilot launch on frequency 2182 kilocycles per second (calling and distress frequency). When communication has been established on this frequency operators should switch to 2246 or 2301 kilocycles per second.

3. Harbour Office, Londonderry: Call sign "Harbour Office" Equipment VHF (FM) R/T single frequency working. All vessels fitted with VHF (FM) R/T while navigating in the river or at anchor in Moville Bay should keep a listening watch on Channel 16 (156.80 megacycles). When communication has been established on Channel 16 (calling ans safety channel) Operators should switch to Channel 12 (156.60 megacycles).

Messages must be restricted to those related to the movement of vessels and safety of vessels and persons. Messages of any other nature and messages of a personal character cannot be accepted.

Outward-bound vessels and vessels shifting:

When the services of a Pilot are required for an outward-bound vessel or for shifting a vessel, notification should be given to Harbour Master (tel. Londonderry 3680) during office hours, of name of vessel; time of departure; draft of water of vessel; where bound. Early notification should be given to enable Pilot to board vessel in good time.

ANCHORAGES: The only anchorage at Londonderry is located at Moville.

Owing to its geographical position, the port is natural distributing centre for whole of the North-west of Ireland. It is served by one railway system, the Northern Ireland Railways and this system is connected with all other railways in Ireland.

The port is especially adapted for shipment of live stock on large scale. The pens for reception of cattle, sheep and pigs for inspection by Government veterinary officers before shipment are situated close to shipping berths, and are completely roofed over for protection of animals.

STEVEDORES: ETA advices should be given before 1600 hours on week-days to arrange work for the next morning and before 1100 hours on Saturday to arrange work for Monday morning. Bagged cargoes at Londonderry are discharged by the ship's winches/derricks.

PILOTAGE: Non-compulsory. Orders for Pilots may be lodged with the Pilotage Office at Eastham (Tel. Eastham 1242) or at Dock Office at Manchester (Tel. Trafford Park 2411). As much notice as possible should be given, particularly in the case of inward-bound vessels due to arrive at Eastham. Helmsmen can be obtained in same manner.
RESTRICTIONS: Eastham Locks. The main entrance to the Canal is at Eastham where there are two locks side by side, one 600 ft. by 80ft., and the other 350 ft. by 50 ft. The outer or lower sill of each lock is 13 ft. below Liverpool Bay Datum. The levels of upper sills of the 80 ft. and 50 ft. locks are 32 ft. and 29 ft. respectively below statutory water level in Canal.

Both locks are operated for incoming and outgoing vessels of suitable draft during a period of 8 hours on each tide, i.e. from 4 hours before high water to 4 hours after high water.

The Canal is constructed to give an available depth of water of 30 ft. from Eastham to Ince Oil Berth (5⅜ miles) and of 28 ft. from Ince to Manchester Docks.

The size of vessel which can navigate the Canal is governed by dimensions of locks, the height of fixed bridges and limitations for the draft of vessel.

Maximum length: The greatest length measured between perpendiculars drawn at the foreside of the foremost extremity and at the afterside of the aftermost extremity of the hull or any attachments to the hull shall not exceed 560 ft.

The length measured between perpendiculars drawn at the foreside of the stem and at the afterside of the rudder post, or through centre of the rudder stock if there is no rudder post, on the summer load water-line shall not exceed 535 ft.

The length measured between perpendiculars drawn at the afterside of the rudder plate and at the foreside of the foremost extremity of any part of the hull which is below a horizontal line drawn through the top of the rudder plate shall not exceed 544 ft.

Maximum beam: Vessels not proceeding beyond Ince Oil Berth: 72 ft. overall. Vessels proceeding beyond Ince Oil Berth: 63 ft. 6 in. overall.

Provided the height of masts and/or funnels or other structures is not more than 71 ft. 6 in. from water-line, vessels can pass under all fixed bridges under normal conditions. As, however, the head-room is less during periods of high-water levels, a vessel, in order to avoid possible detention, should reduce masts and funnels or other structures to 70 ft. above the water-line. The restriction as regards height does not apply to vessels proceeding only as far as Runcorn Bridge.

Facilities are available at Eastham for removing and replacing tops of masts and funnels.

MAX. SIZE: When vessels are Loading inwards for the canal Master should take these facts in to their calculations and have regard to the following limitations, all of which are expressed as maximum draft in fresh water:

Vessels inward bound to a berth	Arrival draft at Eastham not to be such as would exceed:
Between Eastham Locks and Ince Oil Berth	28 ft. 10 in. in fresh water
Between Ince Oil Berth and Manchester Docks (other than Pomona Docks)	26 ft. 6 in. in fresh water
To or from Pomona Docks (for coastwise shipping)	16 ft. 0 in. in fresh water

Vessels loading outwards at any point between Eastham Locks and Ince Oil Berth should not have a draft exceeding 28 ft. 6 in. upon completion of their loading in this section.

Vessels loading outwards at any point between Ince Oil Berth and Manchester Docks (other than Pomona Docks) should not have a draft exceeding 26 ft. 6 in. upon completion of their loading in this section.

Large vessels can swing in the basins at Stanlow and Manchester Docks. Small vessels can swing at certain other points on the Canal.

HEALTH: Foreign arrivals to complete Maritime Declaration of Health. They are cleared immediately on arrival by either a port doctor or an officer of H.M. Customs depending on where ship comes from and whether there is sickness on board.

Vessels arriving from ports within accepted area (N. European ports) and coastal arrivals need not present Declaration in all cases; when there is sickness on board the Port Health Authority must be informed preferably not more than 12 hours and not less than 3 hours before arrival.

RADIO: A VHF radio-telephone service is available for communication between ships and shore and vice versa for exchange of information of a navigational character. The Canal Company's Control Station, which operate on channels allocated by the General Post Office are:

Eastham	Hague Channel 2
Latchford	Hague Channel 2 and 20
Manchester Docks	Hague Channel 2 and 18

A continuous watch on Channel 2 is maintained.

TUGS: The Canal Company maintains a fleet of high-powered tugs which may be hired to assist vessels.

PILOTAGE: Link call with pilot station: tel. Milford Haven 2343. Call Milford Haven Signal Station VHF Channel 16 (156·8 m/g). Advance notice of ETA at least 2 hours.

Pilot Launch Green hull, white wheelhouse; keeps a continuous watch on VHF Channels 16 and 12 with facilities for operating on Channels 14, 8 and 6. Note: The Pilot launch does not cruise continuously at St. Ann's Head, and early ETA's to Signal Station necessary to avoid delay. PORT VHF: It is important to maintain continuous radio telephone contact with Signal Station when within one hour's steaming of St. Ann's Head, and at all times when in Haven and not safely moored to an alongside berth, including times spent at anchor or at buoys. All vessels equipped with F/M, VHF, R/T should adopt following procedures:

Entering the Harbour: Contact Signal Station on Channel 16 (156·8 m/cs) when within one hour's steaming of St. Ann's Head. After making contact ship will be requested to maintain watch on Channel 12 (156·6 m/cs) until vessel safely moored alongside or at anchor.

Going to anchor or to a buoy mooring: report to Signal Station when secured and then maintain a continuous listening watch on Channel 16.

Berthing alongside: report to Signal Station when safely moored and may then shut down.

Leaving the Haven: Maintain continuous listening watch on Channel 12 (156·6 m/cs) until Pilot has disembarked, when Signal Station should be informed and vessel should maintain a continuous watch on Channel 16 (156·8 m/cs) until one hour after passing St. Ann's Head.

Navigating within the Haven: Maintaining a continuous watch on Channel 12. When radio telephone is used between vessel and tugs during berthing operation Channel 6 or 8 will be used and Signal Station will be informed before vessel comes off Channel 12.

Signal Station will answer calls on Channel 16 for any ship in the port which has been instructed to move off international calling frequency.

PILOTAGE: Each vessel entering the Chesapeake Capes under foreign flag or carrying foreign cargo is required to employ a Pilot of the Association of Maryland Pilots. The Association maintains a pilot boat which is anchored at the entrance of the Chesapeake Capes. Pilots will be furnished with a small transistorized portable radio unit, which provide ships bridge to bridge communication system to ensure navigational safety while traversing the waters of Chesapeake Bay. It is a positive means of communication to ensure ship's position reporting, the safety and movement of vessels, as well as messages related to the operational needs of vessels proceeding to the port, and provide the Pilots communications instructions expediting operations of vessels when they are aboard.

ANCHORAGE: Numerous anchorages located within harbour limits for ocean-going vessels. Nine such areas are available for vessels of light and heavy drafts. Four of these anchorages are located on the East side of the main ship channel between the entrance channel to the Pennsylvania Railroad Grain Elevator and Fort Carroll. Three are on the West side of the main ship channel. Two more are bounded by the Middle Branch channel on the North side of Curtis Bay channel.

At Sandy Point approximately 22 miles South of Baltimore there is an emergency anchorage in natural deep water with depths of 50 ft. or more.

RESTRICTIONS: There are two different approaches and exits to the sea lanes. The principal route is by way of the Southerly course through the Chesapeake Bay and Cape Henry to the ocean. The distance by this route is approximately 150 nautical miles. There is a main ship channel 20 miles long from Baltimore to deep water in the Chesapeake Bay, this channel being 800 ft. wide and 42 ft. deep.

The other route to the sea lanes is via the Chesapeake and Delaware Ship Canal. This offers a short protected route between Baltimore and other leading North Atlantic ports by way of Delaware Bay. The entrance to the Chesapeake and Delaware Ship Canal is located 50 miles North of Baltimore. The width of the channel is 400 ft. and the depth is maintained at 25 ft. The Canal itself is 27 miles in length and from the Delaware Bay side the distance to sea lanes is about 50 miles. Navigation lights are maintained so that the Canal is open to navigation day and night.

If given provisional pratique, vessel may enter port but must take any additional measures specified in connection with discharging passengers and cargo, until free pratique is given.

Quarantine office is located in the U.S. Custom House. Immigration and Quarantine board vessels at dockside. In the event of vessels not docking launch arrangements must be made by Agent.

No bridges cross the main ship channel in Baltimore Harbour. Vessels en route to the harbour from the ocean via the Chesapeake Bay pass under the Chesapeake Bay Bridge, about 151 statute miles above the ocean entrance to the bay. This bridge is 3·7 miles long from shore to shore; its western end is 0·5 miles South-west of Sandy Point and its Eastern end is on Kent Island, 4·0 miles South-west of Love Point. The Curtis Creek and Middle Branch sections of harbour are each crossed by a highway and a railroad bridge.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas: 25.54 N. 97.28 W.

DOCUMENTS: See "Houston".

PILOTAGE: When a vessel is scheduled to arrive at the port of Brownsville the vessel's Agent notifies the Harbour Master's office of the approximate ETA. Later, when a firm ETA is received, the Harbour Master's office notifies the pilot office that the vessel is expected on the bar at a certain time and also gives the time which she would like to enter.

The telegraphic address of the pilot office is: Brazos-Santiago Pilots, 411 First National Bank Bldg., Brownsville, Texas.

If possible, it is desired that the pilot office be notified two hours in advance of the ETA of any vessel.

The VHF Channel to be used when contacting the pilot boat is 16. When contact is made, this will be switched to Channel 13.

The pilot boat is an oil screw vessel, powered by a Caterpillar diesel engine. Her gross tonnage is 1,782, length 45 ft., beam 12 ft 7 in. and draft 6 ft.

No light or sound signals are necessary from vessels requiring a Pilot, although light signals may sometimes be used at night – ordinarily a vessel is picked up by visual sighting.

The pilot boat is located on the South tip of Padre Island – the pilot station is adjacent to the entrance to ship channel with a clear view of the approach to the jetties.

The Pilot is taken on board an incoming vessel at the sea buoy which is located 2 miles off shore.

The anchorage for a vessel awaiting Pilot is 1½ miles North of sea buoy.

ANCHORAGES: Anchorages are marked on charts.

MAX. SIZE: The maximum permissible: Length 800 ft., beam 100 ft., draft 35 ft.

RADIO: ETA cables to Agent, etc., should be addressed to the Agent via Mackay Radio at Galveston or RCA in Port Arthur. When within a 60 miles range of the port, calls may be made through the Harbour Master's office on VHF Channel 16 or 26 and the calls will then be transferred to land lines to any point.

TUGS: Tugs normally join an incoming vessel 1¼ miles before she enters the turning basin. The tug's lines are used for which there is no charge.

STEVEDORES: To arrange for gangs the vessel needs to notify the ship's Agent of ETA; the Agent will in turn notify the stevedore. It is necessary that the Agent be advised of an ETA before 1900 for an 0800 start.

Main commodities and average load and discharge rates:

Grain	Bulk carrier 1,200 tons per hour
"	between deck 600 tons per hour
Cotton	100 bales per hour per gang

Citrus in boxes	18 tons per hour per gang
Onions and carrots in bags	18 tons per hour per gang
General cargo	15 tons per gang per hour

VHF: A vessel approaching the port of Brownsville may contact the Harbour Master's office on VHF Channel 16 or 26.

MEDICAL: When medical attention is required, advance notice should be given the Agent by ship's radio. U.S. Public Health radio pratique questionnaire should be complied with to expedite vessel's clearance on arrival from a foreign port.

TANKERS: Ballast facilities are available – 1,000 barrels per hour The port loads residual crude only – about 13·2 API. The port has three tankers berths, with 34 ft. 7 in. maximum draft.

FRESH WATER: Fresh water is available and can be delivered to a vessel through hose or pipe line at 150 gallons per minute. The cost is 50c per 1,000 gallons, plus a $5 connection charge.

FUEL: No fuel is available locally. It must be barged in from Corpus Christi – advance arrangements are necessary.

FIRE PRECAUTIONS: Tankers are required to berth head out.

Two additional barge docks will be completed in 1971. Plans are being made to build another grain elevator/bulk materials dock, a bulk liquid cargo dock, and another chemicals dock within two years. Grain elevator storage capacity will be increased from 2·9 million bushels to 3·8 million bushels by mid-1971.

HUENEME, California: 34.09 N. 119.12 W.

DOCUMENTS: See "San Francisco".

PILOTAGE: It is requested that ships entering port stand by one mile off harbour entrance and await port Pilot who will board from a tug. The U.S. Coast Guard Station at the harbour entrance maintains a radio beacon.

All vessels 300 gross registered tons and over entering, leaving and shifting within the Port of Hueneme, including area of the Oxnard Harbor District, must be piloted by a port Pilot duly licensed to perform the services of piloting vessels within the Port of Hueneme. The Oxnard Harbour District does not maintain Pilots; licensed pilots are available on a 24-hour-a-day basis from the Commanding Officer, Naval Construction Battalion Center. As a service to all vessels, requests for Pilots may be made by Agent or ship to General Manager of Oxnard Harbor District, who will act for ship in obtaining necessary Pilots. They can also be obtained by an electronic message request addressed to "CO, CBCEN, PORHUE" or by direct request to the Port Services Officer, U.S. Naval Construction Battalion

Center. Published rates are 1.2c per gross registered ton. It is not necessary to change Pilots at this port.
ANCHORAGE: If there is a wait for Pilot caused by weather, visibility, congestion in harbour, or any other reason, the best anchorage area is West-south-west of the harbour entrance where there are no hazards and there is some protection afforded by the natural curve of the coastline.
RESTRICTIONS: The length of entrance channel is 2300 ft. The narrowest width of harbour entrance channel is 330 ft. However, because of prevailing fresh winds, this is a one-way channel; thus, deep-draft ships not able to manoeuvre easily in a restricted channel have precedence over smaller craft.
RADIO: The U.S. Coast Guard Station, Port Hueneme, located at the entrance to harbour, guards the following frequencies: 2182 kc/s., 156·8 Mc., 157·1 Mc. After initial call up the Coast Guard can shift to 2670 kc/s., 2694 kc/s., 5080 kc/s. The Naval Construction Battalion Center (Port Hueneme Control) guards 2182 kc/s., 2150 kc/s. and 2716 kc/s. The harbour tugs guard 2150 kc/s. voice continuously. The harbour pilots, when expecting a commercial merchant vessel guard 2761 kc/s. voice circuit and voice call "Port Hueneme Control Three".
HEALTH: Ships required to pass quarantine may enter port and moor. "Q" Flag is to be flown. Upon mooring, ship must post gangway watch until ship has passed quarantine. A local physician has the authority of U.S. Public Health Officer and conducts the check. When port of Hueneme is its port of first arrival in the United States from foreign ports or from states other than California, a ship must be inspected by the Department of Agriculture. There is a local representative in Oxnard. The Oxnard Harbor District will order officials if requested by ship or Agent.
TUGS: Tug services for port of Hueneme are furnished by the Commanding Officer, Naval Construction Battalion Center, Port Hueneme, California. Requests for tug services may be made to the General Manager of the Oxnard Harbor District, who will act as Agent for ship in forwarding them. Two tugs are available on a 24-hour basis. They are Class UTM, with 1,000 shaft horsepower. The number of tugs to be used on any movement is determined by port Pilot in charge of the movement. Tugs are not available for deep-sea towing, except in case of emergency to save life or property. Minimum straight time charge per tug is $85.00; nights, week-ends and holidays, $95.00. As a service to all vessels, the Oxnard Harbor District, acting as Agent for vessel, will pay all necessary tug fees to United States Government, subject to reimbursement conditions as arranged between the vessel, her owners, or Agents, and the General Manager, Oxnard Harbour District. Seldom are tug charges more than the minimum due to the short transit time to berths.
BERTHING: Berthing arrangements should be made with the General Manager by Agent as far in advance of arrival date as possible, specifying dates of arrival and sailing, and nature and quantity of cargo to be handled. The Oxnard Harbor District also has a licence agreement with the U.S. Naval Construction Battalion Center, Port Hueneme, for the use of additional berths and terminal facilities on an "as available" basis. Prior arrangements must be made, should use of these additional facilities be desired or necessary. The Port of Hueneme presently is constructing additional berths and appropriate terminal facilities. At the present time there are 9 deep-draft berths within the entire port area.

Soundings in excess of 30 ft. of water at mean lower low water. Bottom is sand and mud. Mean low water is +1.5 ft. Height of wharf above MLLW is 13 ft.
STEVEDORES: All stevedore work is presently performed by resident stevedores, the Marine Terminals Corporation, who also have offices in San Francisco, Long Beach, etc. They maintain an office at 200 West Clara Street, Port Hueneme. They provide modern handling equipment to suit cargo's need. There is no special fixed bulk handling equipment available as yet. Longshoremen are members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and conform to the Pacific Coast Longshore Agreement. Hours of work are as outlined in this agreement. Longshoremen at this port do all covering and uncovering of hatches and rig the gear. There are fourteen gangs available in the port. Day and night gangs for Tuesday through Saturday (except Monday through Saturday, 7 p.m. initial start) must be ordered by 3.30 p.m. the previous day. Night gangs required Monday for a 7 p.m. initial start, and Sunday and Monday gangs must be ordered by 11 a.m. Saturday. Cancellation time is same as ordering time, if gangs which have been ordered are cancelled after the aforementioned deadlines, the agreement's four-hour minimum applies. Normal day shifts begin at 8 a.m. and normal night shifts at 6. p.m. Each shift consists of 8 hours and on sailing day 10 hours may be worked by the final shift. There are no obstructions on the wharf to keep all hatches from being worked concurrently.
MEDICAL ATTENTION: Patients are provided medical attention at the Medical Center, Port Hueneme, or St. John's Hospital, Oxnard California. Temporary visa must be obtained from Department of Immigration and Transportation if a crew man or passenger must remain after the ship sails.
FRESH WATER: Fresh water is available. There are hydrants along the wharf and delivery to ship is effected by hose. Water is good to taste but is hard. It is suitable for boilers. Contact wharfinger on duty for delivery of water.
FUEL: Fuel and diesel oil are obtainable from a local port-based tenant. Quantities beyond the capability of that tenant's ability can be delivered by tank truck direct to ship's tanks. In an emergency, the Navy will make Navy special black oil available.
REPAIRS: Minor repairs may be made in port. Machine shops in Ventura and Oxnard are qualified for normal voyage repair work.
WATCHMEN: Gangway or special wharf watchmen are available upon request.
DEVELOPMENTS: Due to the Oxnard Harbour District Expansion Program, the berthing space available at Wharf 1 has been restricted to one 550 ft. deep-water berth until mid-1971.
TELEPHONES: Two pay-telephone booths are located at the South-west corner of Wharf 1 adjacent to the wharfinger's office and maintained for the convenience of ships berthed at Wharf 1. The wharfinger's office has a telephone which may be used by people calling in to contact the ship. This phone is manned 24 hours a day for convenience. Its number is (805) 488–4615. The Port of Hueneme office telephones are available to ship's officers and Agents for local calls or collect long distance calls. Wharf lines permit a telephone to be installed at a nominal charge if desired by Agent.
HEAVY LIFT EQUIPMENT: The U.S. Navy, in special circumstances, makes available a 65-ton floating derrick barge, subject to its prior needs. The General Manager of the Oxnard Harbour District will assist those desiring derrick barge services. Typical rental cost is about $150.00 per hour on a straight time basis (8 a.m.–4.30 p.m. on week-days) and $185.00 per hour on an overtime basis (4.30 p.m.–8 a.m. during week-days and all hours on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays). This includes equipment costs, mobilisation time, man-power, fuel and use of required slings.
HOLIDAYS: U.S. Federal holidays are observed by the Port and Terminal management. If stevedoring is required on holiday it is performed in accordance with the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union-Pacific Coast Longshore Agreement.
AUTHORITY: The U.S. Navy (Commanding Officer, U.S. Naval Construction Battalion Center) exercises overall Port Control Authority; the Oxnard Harbor District is solely responsible for its commercial operations.

It is the Consulate General's understanding that the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service will require only one visaed crew list from an overseas vessel which arrives at a United States port on the Great Lakes and the vessel need not present another such visa when returning from Canada to any United States port on the Great Lakes. The initial visa presented will be honored for multiple entries during the vessel's stay on the Great Lakes with respect to the crewmen named on the visaed crew list initially presented.

It is the policy of the Consulate General to give priority service to requests for crew list visas. However, it should be noted that, because much of our normal nonimmigrant visa workload is generated by people who wish to visit the United States over the weekend, our heaviest demand for services tends to be concentrated on Thursdays and Fridays. We are, thus, able to provide more expeditious service on crew-list visa applications which are submitted the other days of the week. When ships are in Montreal for only a few hours and time does not permit processing of a crewlist visa, ship's representatives may request a visa waiver at anytime from the U.S. Immigration Officer (Travel Control) at the U.S. port of call.

Over a period of time, the Consulate General has observed that the following are the problems most frequently encountered and which tend to impede the rendering of expeditious service to shipping companies:

1. names of crew members not listed in alphabetical order;

2. date and place of birth are incomplete or are not listed at all;

3. persons included on crew lists who are not in fact members of the crew of the vessel;

4. requests for out of hours service made in cases in which the time factor involved does not warrant such service.

The Consulate General does not wish to imply that there are frequent occurrences of the above difficulties, but merely to point out that these are the primary areas of difficulty, when problems do arise. The Consulate General feels that it is in our common interest to avoid these problems and your continuing cooperation in this respect is requested.

Vessels having wire moorings secured on warping winches with surge valve and brake are very acceptable. Warping winches must be adequate to handle mooring lines under heavy strain. Efficient stopper lines must be readily available to "stop off" mooring lines for transfer from winch to bitts without loss of tension.

If, in opinion of Mooring Master, vessel's mooring facilities, lines and/or gear inadequate, he will inform Master and vessel will not be allowed enter moorings until deemed satisfactory and such delay shall not count as used laytime.

Mooring Master will pilot vessel into moorings, supervise mooring and unmooring operation and connecting and disconnecting of submarine hose.

To moor, vessel approaches mooring heading due South; when in proper position, starboard anchor dropped and chain allowed to run until vessel crosses mooring area to a point where port anchor is let go. Then engines backed and vessel, with assistance of tug, manoeuvered into mooring area where lines run to 6 mooring buoys and then anchor chains drawn tight simultaneously with securing of stern to mooring buoys. Vessel then heading due west parallel with tide current flow.

DISCHARGE: After hoses are connected, Mooring Master will, after VHF radio communication with shore terminal, advise commencement of pumping. In the beginning the rate is to be slow and Mooring Master will advise when pumping rate is to be increased to maximum. Discharge may be stopped due adverse weather conditions. In which event hoses disconnected and submarine hose lowered to sea bottom. Discharge resumed when weather moderates.

No. 2 Oil Cargoes. No. 2 oil discharged through 2–8 in. hoses thence through 200 ft. of 12 in. submarine hose thence through 12 in. check valve then into 24 in. pipe-line which is one and a quarter miles in length. Height of shore tanks above sea level is 115 ft. Pressure at ship's side must be not less than 80 lb.

No. 6 Oil (Bunker C). Temperature of 6 oil shall be not less than 125° F. Therefore those tanks with lower temperatures shall be discharged only after temperature has been increased to 125° F. After all of 6 oil cargo has been discharged, submarine pipeline is to be displaced with 3,400 bbls. of sea water.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage in and around Golden Gate Region is provided by two groups of experienced, licensed ship Pilots.

The San Francisco Bar Pilots' Association, maintains a sea station 12 miles outside the Golden Gate, in the vicinity of the lightship for vessels arriving and leaving the area.

On station around-the-clock can be found one of the Pilots' two ships – the "California" or the "Golden Gate." Pilot boats are equipped with VHF radio-telephone, and maintain continuous watch for ship traffic and operate co-operatively with the Marine Exchange communication centre and lookout station. The Bar Pilots also carry portable VHF radios.

Some 8,500 ships are piloted annually into and out of the port complex, through the Golden Gate and the 2,000-ft. wide, 50-ft. deep main ship channel across the alluvial sand bar about 9 miles outside the Gate.

Considerable summer fog is experienced on the pilot grounds. In winter months radiation or tule fogs frequently occur. The tidal prism of hundreds of square miles of inland waters cause unusually swift and changing currents in the area. Pilotage for San Francisco is compulsory and available 24 hours a day. The Pilot boat is at a station in the vicinity of Farallon Islands about 14 miles from San Francisco, VHF Channels 18A and 10 for radio contact. Vessels with a draft of 42 ft. or more are requested to arrive at the pilot station for the inward passage about one hour before high water at the Golden Gate Bridge.
ANCHORAGE: Anchorages several available in San Francisco Bay for any type of vessel up to 50 ft. draft.

The well-protected bay affords excellent shelter and anchorage in all weather. The Captain of the Port (Coast Guard) will assign an anchorage to a vessel upon request. In San Francisco and San Pablo Bays, there are a large number of anchorages available for naval, quarantine, general and explosives.
RESTRICTIONS: The San Francisco Bay region is the first on the West Coast to have sea lanes established by the Coast Guard for greater safety in its ocean approaches. Use of the lanes is not mandatory, but is strongly recommended to reduce chance of ship collisions in congested approach and departure areas. The lanes are not intended to supersede or alter applicable rules of the road.

The lanes begin within 6 miles of the San Francisco Lightship, with each lane inbound and outbound separated by a buffer zone. The headings are: North lane outbound, 305°: north lane inbound 120°; main line outbound, 247°; main line inbound, 058½°; Southern lane outbound, 169°; Southern lane inbound 343°.

The size of the bay and the narrowness of the Golden Gate cause tricky and sometimes difficult tidal and current conditions. The flood current sets into all parts of the bay and causes swirls as far East as Alcatraz and Angel Islands. At the San Francisco–Oakland Bay Bridge there are large current eddies near the foundation piers which may require care to maintain proper course.

The bar channel is dredged to 50 ft. mean lower low water by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Entrance channels to the various ports are dredged to 35 ft., with the exceptions of Sacramento, Stockton and Redwood City, which are 30 ft. Stockton, however, is approved for a 5-ft. deepening, and study of similar deepening for Redwood City is being completed.

MAX. SIZE: The maximum permissible draft for tankers at the oil installation is 35 ft., for regular freighters and passenger ships at the San Francisco piers is 30 ft. No restrictions on length or berth. The best time to dock with maximum draft is at a rising tide.

HEALTH: Radio pratique may be granted basis information received prior to arrival of vessel, provided no communicable diseases on board.

Normally, vessels are boarded by Medical Officers on arrival unless free pratique previously given at U.S. port in the same voyage. If granted free pratique, vessel may enter port and discharge passengers and cargo. If given provisional pratique, vessel may enter port, but must take any additional measures specified in connection with discharging passengers and cargo, until free pratique is given.

RADIO: Radio station via RCA – Radio Corporation of America – Station KPH ITT – World Communications – Station KFS.

Safe and efficient navigation for all bay vessel traffic is maintained through a Ship Location and Reporting Service operated by the Marine Exchange. VHF radio and radar are used to report all bay activity, 24 hours a day.

TUGS: Tugs available and normally join the vessel when approaching their pier. Always the tug's lines are used, with no extra charge.

BERTHING: No restriction on berthing other than draft limitation and preferable at slack water.

There are 42 wharves, and a number of special terminals, with over 18 miles of berthing space; they range from 500 to 1,400 ft. in length and 150 to 350 ft. in width, with a depth of 30 to 40 ft. Wharf area: 130 acres covered, 100 acres open.

Oakland: The port area extends for 19 miles along the East side of San Francisco Bay. Marine terminal facilities include 21 deep-water berths. The newest of these are four which have been constructed for container ships at the 7th Street Terminal.

Alameda: Alameda, an island and city across the Inner Harbour channel from Oakland, is the home of Encinal Terminals, the largest privately owned and operated steamship terminal in the United States. There are seven berths for vessels at Encinal.

STEVEDORES: Stevedores orders must be placed 10 a.m. for night gangs and day gangs. Two 8 hours shifts 7 days a week. Sunday and Sunday night gangs must also be ordered on Saturday 10.00.

MEDICAL: Medical, and all hospital facilities available. No advance notice required.

TANKERS: San Francisco is an oil discharging port. All major oil companies have their own oil discharging pier. Reducing pieces are available. The maximum drafts are 35 ft. Tankers arriving with a greater draft are partly discharged in the bay before docking.

Port of Oakland, Outer Harbour Terminal, Oil Pier foot of Pier Street. Operated by Mobil Oil Company and the Ashland Oil Company. Construction: Timber pile, timber-decked pier projecting diagonally from rubble stone bank. Dimensions (water depth): Face 50 ft., lower side 623 ft., upper side 683 ft., depth alongside at MLLW; face 36 ft., lower side 33 ft., upper side 35 ft.

DENSITY: Average density in the bay is 10.16.

FRESH WATER: Available at all piers rate between 25 and 50 tons per hour cost about U.S. $0.15 per ton.

FUEL: Fuel available by barge or at the oil companies own pier. Special blends require some advance notice.

FIRE PRECAUTIONS: Any special instructions are given to the Master upon docking.

DEVELOPMENTS: At present a LASH terminal under construction at Pier 92 for lease to Pacific Far East Lines.

WATCHMEN: Not required but this service available at Master's request. Current cost $6.26 per man/hour.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: Normally done by stevedores. But crew may open and close before arrival at the dock or after departure.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: At the discretion of Customs Officers. Normal allowance is 200 cigarettes or 2 lb. tobacco and one quart wine or spirits per man. Additional allowances may be given if considered necessary, due to length of vessel's stay in port.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS: Standard U.S. Immigration Forms I.–95 to be made up for each crew member on arrival. Not necessary for crew man already holding Form I.–95, issued for the same vessel.

CONSULS: All Maritime countries represented at San Francisco.

The larger yards also have facilities for pipe, sheet metal, electrical carpentry, painting, rigging, machining and boiler work.

Pacific Ship Repair and Triple "A" Repair are both located in San Francisco and provide berth space for all types of ship repairs at plant and at any location in the San Francisco Bay area.

DRY DOCKS: Bethlehem Steel's San Francisco shipyard has three floating dry docks, one with 22,000 tons capacity and 654 ft. long, one of 11,400 tons capacity and 542 ft. long, and one of 6,500 tons capacity and 450 ft. long. With a recently completed pier, its tie-up and outfitting space totals 4,271 ft.

Todd's largest dry dock can lift 16,500 tons in its 598-ft. length. By combining two new mammoth sections with this dry dock, the size and capacity are increased to 800 ft. length and 25,000 tons capacity. It has two other dry docks, each 542 ft. long capable of lifting 11,500 tons. There are 3,500 ft. of space for ships undergoing in-the-water repairs.

Todd also has three mobile units for out-of-yard work. Other Bay region yards are equipped with graving-docks and outfitting piers.

Willamette Iron & Steel Company's yard in Richmond has 5 concrete graving-docks. Each dock is 600 ft. long and 190 ft. wide, with capacities of 35,000 tons and up. Willamette's facilities include a 3,000-ft. concrete outfitting pier for in-water repairs. In addition there are 9 gantry cranes, 4 cranes are 60 tonners, 5 are 45 tonners. HEALTH: Radio pratique may be granted basis information received prior to arrival of vessel, provided no communicable diseases on board. Normally, vessels are boarded by Medical Officers on arrival unless free pratique previously given at U.S. port in the same voyage. If granted free pratique, vessel may enter port and discharge passengers and cargo. If given provisional pratique, vessel may enter port, but must take any additional measures specified in connection with discharging passengers and cargo, until free pratique is given.
TANKERS: 7 tanker berths available with no standard load/discharge lines. Draft limitation applicable in channel also applicable at tanker berths.

Venezuela

AMUAY BAY: 11.46 N. 70.15 W.

OPERATORS: Creole Petroleum Corporation. Cable address, Creole Judibana.
ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS:
1. Incoming vessels must send ETA at least three days before arrival at Amuay Bay.
2. If a ship originally cleared for another port (including some other Venezuelan port) is diverted at sea to Amuay Bay, certain information must be radioed prior to arrival to avoid heavy fine and/or delays. See "Radio".
3. No dirty ballast may be pumped overside in port or in Venezuelan coastal waters. Ballast disposal facilities are available at Amuay Terminal.
4. The use of Venezuelan Government Pilots is compulsory for docking and for movements inside the bay.
5. The Venezuelan flag should be displayed at the mast-head during daylight hours by ships anchored and berthed in Venezuelan waters.
6. In addition to other clearance documents, two copies of an itemised list of articles in the ship's slop chest must be presented to Authorities on arrival.
7. Emergency fire signal is five long blasts on ship's whistle or siren. No other signal is to be given in the case of emergency.
8. Ratguards must be in place on all mooring lines.

LOCATION: The port of Amuay Bay is located on the Gulf of Venezuela, on the West Coast of the Paraguana Peninsula, Venezuela. The seabuoy marking the entrance to the bay is located in Latitude 11° 44′ 25″ N., Longitude 70° 14′ 53″ W.
DOCUMENTS: Inward clearance is effected on board immediately after docking by Government Port Officials and a representative of the Marine Department. It is necessary that the following documents be ready on arrival:
Clearance from last port (1 copy).
Ballast Manifest from last port (1 copy, visaed according to paragraph (a) if there is no Venezuelan Consul).
Crew Lists (6 copies).
Passenger and Baggage Lists (5 copies visaed, 2 copies not visaed).
Lists of Passenger in Transit, if any (2 copies not visaed).
Lists of Personnel Effects (2 copies not visaed).
Store Lists (3 copies, see note below).
Lists of Slop Chest (2 copies not visaed).
Sailing Permit (issued by Maritime Authority of last port).

Vessels arriving with cargo to discharge, will also require:
Manifest (Sobordo) (one original visaed and 2 copies not visaed from each loading port).

Tally Books (6 from each loading port).
Consular Invoice (3 originals visaed and 3 copies not visaed from each loading port).
Commercial Invoices (3 from each loading port).
Store Lists prepared should indicate separately all deck, engine and cabin stores.

The store lists may be prepared on board prior to arrival unless the ship is coming from the Islands of Aruba, Curacao, Barbados, Jamaica, Trinidad and the Guianas, in which case they must be visaed by the Venezuelan Consul at the port of departure.

(a) Cargo and clearance documents should be visaed by the Venezuelan Consul at the last port of call. In the absence of a Venezuelan Consul, they may be visaed by the Consul of a friendly nation, by the Chamber of Commerce, or by two reputable merchants, the latter's signatures to be notarised. In the absence of a Venezuelan Consul the following notation should be written on each document, in Spanish, and signed by the alternates designated above:

"Por no existir en la localidad Agente Consular Venezolano y a petición de los embarcadores, certifico el presente documento."

(Signature).....

Although vessels proceed directly to Amuay Bay, clearance documents should be prepared showing the port as Las Piedras, Paraguana (Amuay Bay). Failure to observe this requirement may result in penalties up to a maximum of Bs.2.000.

All ships calling at a Venezuelan port for the first time must be measured for tonnage by the Captain of the Port. It is the usual practice to take ashore the ship's Panama Canal or Suez Canal Certificate, which is used as a basis for recalculating tonnage under the Venezuelan Regulations, and is returned before sailing. The Venezuelan Admeasurement Certificate, when later issued, is forwarded to the owners. A fee is charged for this certificate, which is payable only on the ship's first call. Vessels registered in the following countries are excluded from the above regulations: Netherlands, Germany, France, Portugal, United Kingdom, Denmark, Sweden, U.S.A., Ireland and Norway.

Outward clearance and cargo documents are delivered on board by the Marine Dispatcher. However, in order to obtain the sailing permit, a special form, delivered on board on arrival, must be completed, not later than two hours before sailing time. This form gives cargo and freeboard information by the Captain of the Port.

In the event the berth is required by another vessel, a vessel having completed loading may be required to vacate the berth promptly and proceed to anchorage to await cargo documents.

PILOTAGE: Pilots are employees of the Venezuelan Government and pilotage is compulsory for vessels entering or leaving the harbour. The Marine Department will arrange for Pilots to board all vessels as necessary.

The Pilot acts in an advisory capacity; the Master retains responsibility for the ship at all times. In the event it becomes necessary to disregard the Pilot's instructions in order to ensure the safety of the ship, the Master must forward through the Marine Department a full written report of the circumstances, for delivery to the Captain of the Port.

ANCHORAGE: For vessels awaiting berth, there is a good anchorage about 1 mile N.W. of the seabuoy in 8 to 12 fathoms with a sand and mud bottom. Ship Masters are requested not to anchor at a distance greater than three miles from the seabuoy.

RESTRICTED AREA: A restricted fishing area has been established by the Venezuelan Government which is prohibited for mechanically propelled vessels drawing more than 5 ft. This zone lies within the area off the Paraguana Peninsula from Punta Macolla, Lat. 12° 5′ 32″ N., Long. 70° 12′ 55″ W., to Punta Estanques (Los Taques), Lat. 11° 48′ 45″ N., Long. 70° 16′ 45″ W., and a line connecting the positions below indicated: Latitude 12° 07′ 40″ North, Longitude 70° 14′ 25″ West; Latitude 12° 03′ 15″ North, Longitude 70° 19′ 23″ West; Latitude 11° 49′ 25″ North, Longitude 70° 21′ 50″ West.

MAX. SIZE: Length 1,000 ft.; draft 42 ft. 06 in.

BERTHING: Four finger piers provide eight berths, numbered one to eight, from South to North.

* Maximum beam permissible varies dependent upon the beam of vessel berthed on other side of the slip.

The use of an anchor when docking is permitted at all berths. It is considered prudent to have the outboard anchor hove-out prior to entering the harbour in order to facilitate speedy release if necessary while docking. The Pilot will advise whether the ship is to be berthed port or starboard side to the dock.

LOADING: Loading rates, particularly for low-flash products loaded during the hours of darkness or when topping-off cargo tanks, will be reduced by the terminal to meet existing conditions

All loading and discharging will be stopped during the passage of an electric storm, and ullage covers must be closed and dogged down. During periods of calm, loading of gasoline or other similar low-flash products may be loaded at reduced rates or loading stopped if the heavy vapours are not being dispersed quickly enough to prevent hazards from accumulated gas pockets. Ship's officers are cautioned to be on their guard during such conditions.

Loading rates will be reduced when topping-off, if requested by the ship's officer.

Some of the fuel cargoes are loaded from fuel reservoirs through certified positive displacement meters, and shipping documents are prepared on the metered figures. All reconstituted crudes are line blended with conditions recording of component rates and quantities. Actual loading rates of both this crude and metered fuel cargoes are available at any time upon request of the standby.

Instructions as to grade or grades of cargo, and the approximate loading rate anticipated, will be given to the Master on completion of inward clearance. Supplementary information including number and size of lines and hoses will be furnished to the Chief Officer before loading commences.

If vessel's loading order from owners or charterers do not agree with the terminal's orders, either as to grades or quantity, the marine representative should be advised immediately. The terminal is authorised to load 10% more or less than the quantity nominated; if the cargo to be lifted will be more or less than this 10% limitation it is necessary to cable New York for confirmation.

A terminal employee is stationed at each pier during the entire time the ship is discharging ballast, bunkering, or loading cargo. Fifteen minutes "stand-by" notice should be given to this man prior to completion of ballast, bunkers, or cargo.

TUGS: Tug-boat assistance is considered essential and is afforded all vessels entering, leaving or shifting in the harbour by two 1,600 h.p. tugs. Disposition and manoeuvres of tug-boat are directed by the Pilot, who uses a "walkie-talkie" to convey orders to the tugs.

RADIO: The cable and telegraphic address for the Creole Petroleum Corporation at Amuay is "Creole Judibana". Radio messages to and from ships at sea are routed through the government radio station at Maiquetia (La Guaira) call letters YVG. This station operates on a 24 hour continuous watch, on the following frequencies:

Listening Frequencies: Long Wave, 500 kc/s., Short Wave, 4178, 6267, 8356, 12534, 16712, 22225 kc/s.

Transmitting Frequencies: Long Wave, 500, 472, 464, 417 kc/s. Short Wave, 17141.6, 12817.5, 8730, 8722, 6519.5, 6505·5, 4352, 4322 kc/s.

Vessels that were originally cleared for another foreign port, or another Venezuelan port, and were subsequently diverted at sea, should radio the following information to "Creole–Judibana" prior to arrival:

Vessel's name	Last port of call
Master's name	Port for which originally
Vessel's flag	cleared
Number of crew	Grade and quantity of cargo
Estimated time of arrival.	to be lifted.

This information is required in order to make in advance special arrangements for inward clearance, to avoid payment of fine.

Radio notice of arrival should be sent 72 hours prior to arrival at Amuay.

Ship-to-shore telephone: Radio-telephone listening watches are maintained on a 24-hour basis in the Marine Office on the following frequencies: 2182 kc.; 156·8 Mc.; 8797·3 kc (single sideband).

International telephone: International telephone calls are routed through Caracas, Venezuela. Telephone number is Punto Fijo 1402. (It is usually difficult if not impossible to complete a call.)

BALLAST: Vessels should arrive with sufficient ballast to permit safe handling. The Pilots require a draft of minimum 8 ft. forward, 18 ft. aft, on a T-2 or similar size tanker, 11 ft. forward and 20 ft. aft on a 26,000 dwt. or larger vessel. Ballast should be carried in a minimum number of tanks, and all other tanks stripped, so as to minimise deballasting time.

A relatively small amount of salt water remaining in ship's tanks or lines can contaminate crude and cause operating problems for the refiners. It is important therefore to strip tanks and lines as dry as possible.

Vessels provided with completely segregated ballast system are permitted to discharge ballast and load cargo simultaneously.

Absolutely oil-free ballast may be discharged overside. All dirty ballast must be pumped ashore. A 20in. ballast line, two 60,000 barrel slop tanks and separator system are available.

A considerable number of vessels are now participating in the programme to eliminate pollution of the seas. Under this programme, vessels may arrive carrying quantities of oil/water emulsion. If it is desired to follow the "load-on-top" procedure in such instances, it is requested that the Marine Representative be informed on arrival.

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and hospitalisation, if required, is provided at a hospital located in the Creole concession, operated by the Society of Catholic Medical Missionaries. Several dentists are located in the area.

Italian crew members covered by Casa Maritime insurance receive medical attention from the appointed medical representative in Punto Fijo.

Authorisation forms for medical and dental treatment are provided, which require Master's signature. Transportation is available at the Marine Office. Please note that if the patient does not speak Spanish or English, an interpreter should accompany him.

FUEL: Ship's requirements specifying grade and quantity desired are to be given to the Marine Representative boarding the vessel on arrival. All grades of bunker fuel, intermediate fuels and Diesels are available, except Esso diesel. Bunker delivery rates average 2,500/3,500 barrels per hour. Bunkers are loaded through meters which automatically register quantities on bunker receipts. It is the responsibility of ship's engineer to give "standby" notice to the terminal employee and advise him when to shut down.

FRESH WATER: Fresh water can be supplied if necessary; however, supplies are limited to essential requirements. All fresh water is piped from distant sources; the cost to ships is Bs. 5.00 per ton. Loading rate is about 10 tons per hour.

CUSTOMS: Venezuelan laws are strict in regard to contraband and Masters are requested to instruct their crews not to take cigarettes or other articles ashore. Cigarettes in carton lots, cigars, tobacco souvenirs, gifts (particularly items of women's apparel) should be collected prior to arrival in port, listed with the items in the slop chest and placed in the custody of the Master for deposit in the slop chest or closet which will then be sealed for the duration of the vessel's stay in port.

Firearms on board any merchant vessel calling at Venezuelan ports must not exceed one per officer, nor can the ammunition exceed 18 cartridges per officer. All firearms and ammunition must be noted on the stores list. Officers must not carry firearms while the ship is in Venezuelan waters and these sidearms and ammunition should be collected and held in the Master's safe custody. Crew members should be warned against taking knives or other weapons ashore.

While the vessel is in port, Venezuelan National Guard Officials are assigned on board to ensure compliance with Customs regulations. The law requires that meals be supplied to these officials during regular meal hours. Masters are requested to give them the privilege of eating in the officers' mess-room, to avoid difficulties.

DENSITY: The usual specific gravity of sea water at the berth is 1025, temperature ranges from 78°F. to 85°F.

CONSULS: Brazil, Great Britain, Italy, the Netherlands, and Norway have consular representatives in the area.

TIME: GMT minus 4 hours.

SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave is permitted and a representative of the Captain of the Port boards on arrival and issues the required number of passes. Shore passes are to be collected prior to sailing, and given to the Pilot undocking the vessel. Vessels are not permitted to sail until all crew members are on board, unless hospitalised or prior arrangements made for disembarking.

REGULATIONS: (i) Pollution: The laws of Venezuela are very strict in regard to the pollution of harbour and coastal waters by oil, and heavy fines are imposed for violations. No dirty ballast, oil or bilge slops are to be pumped or allowed to escape overboard. All overboard discharge valves from cargo tanks and bilges are to be secured before loading or discharging commences. Loading is to be conducted with the greatest care and vigilance in order that errors or delays in handling cargo valves may not result in overflows. All deck scuppers should be plugged before loading to avoid harbour contamination should an overflow occur. The Authorities require that a written report be submitted by the ship involved in the event of an oil spill.

(ii) Gangways: All vessels using the port of Amuay must provide a safe gangway. The use of rung ladders, pilot ladders, etc., is contrary to Port Regulations, and Port Authorities will not board except by means of a safe gangway or accommodation ladder.

(iii) Passengers: Passengers will not be permitted to disembark unless in possession of the required visa and documents. To facilitate clearance, if passengers are carried, the Master should include advice to this effect in his radio ETA.

(iv) Visitors: All visitors to ships are prohibited except those company employees, petroleum inspectors, etc., whose duties require their presence aboard.

GENERAL: (a) Weather Conditions: There is little rainfall at Amuay Bay; annual precipitation averages 12 in. The so-called rainy season usually coincides with the Caribbean hurricane season, from August to November, although Amuay lies South of the usual hurricane track. During these months calms are often experienced and winds from a Westerly direction may be expected. Normal winds are steady from the North-east, average force 4, Beaufort Scale, with a maximum of force 8. Temperatures average about 85°F., with little variation from day to night or season to season.

(b) Tides: The normal range of the tide is about 11 in.; however, a 28-in. range has been observed during spring tides.

(c) Lubricating oil: Supplies of Essomarine lubricating oils are available. Requirements should be given in vessel's radio notice of arrival.

(d) Bonded Stores: Cigarettes or other stores in bond are not obtainable in Amuay Bay.

(e) Cash Advances: The local currency is the Venezuelan Bolivar and cash advances are made only in this currency. It is requested that any requirement for cash advances be included in the vessel's ETA radio, to permit delivery on board on arrival.

(f) Charts: No supplies of charts or sailing directions are available at Amuay Bay.

(g) Laundry: A six-hour laundry service is available throughout each working day. The charge is Bs. 2.25 per kilo. Such service should be requested in the vessel's ETA message.

(h) Mail: Itemised lists are required for ship's mail, to be signed by the Master. Unless other instructions are given, ship's mail received after sailing, or for vessels on which no advice has been received, will be held for 30 days and then returned to Owners or Operators at ship's expense.

(i) Inspection – Petroleum Products: Chas. Martin & Co. and E. W. Saybolt, petroleum inspectors, are available if specified. Telephone numbers, Chas. Martin 44665, 44650; Saybolt 44639.

(j) Norwegian Government Seamen Service: A field representative of the above service is stationed at Amuay providing Norwegian and Swedish film exchange and other usual services. His telephone number is 44511.

(k) Personnel – Seamen Left Ashore: In the case of seamen left ashore for hospitalisation, repatriation or other reason, all documents and personal effects are to be delivered to the Marine Office before sailing. A letter is required from the Master advising the maximum advances to be made to the seamen, if any, and instructions concerning his repatriation. All expenses incurred by seamen left ashore, including cost of repatriation, are for ship's account. It is important that Masters bear in mind that the Venezuelan law will at all time hold the vessel, her Master, Agent or owner, responsible for any seamen left behind in Venezuela.

(l) Provisions and Stores: Provisions and stores in limited quantities are available, the prices and quality of some items, such as fresh fruit, fish, shrimps, vegetables, etc. are competitive; dry stores are considerably higher than in most ports. The Port Steward will assist in filling requisitions.

(m) Radar and Radio: Radar and radio repairs can be effected in Amuay. A service repair man is available, but spare parts are limited.

(n) Repairs: Shore facilities are available only for emergency repairs of a minor nature. The nearest dry docks are those at Puerto Cabello and Curacao, N.A. Several contractors in the area provide labour for hull painting and for tank cleaning. Contracts for these services are made by the ship's Master directly with the contractor.

(o) Surveyors: There are no appointed surveyors to American Bureau of Shipping or Lloyd's in the area. However, with sufficient advance notice, arrangements can be made to have their nearest representatives come to Amuay to attend surveys.

(p) Walport Film Exchange: Subscribers to the Walport Service may exchange films at the Marine Office.

ATTENDANCE: Representatives of the Marine Department board vessels immediately on arrival, and it is particularly requested that Masters indicate at that time all ship's requirements. The Marine Office building is located at the Pierhead Trestle and personnel are available for assistance at all hours. Telephones are located on all docks and the Marine Shift Supervisor can be called on telephone No. 444475 or 444465.

CARIPITO: 10.09 N. 63.02 W.

OPERATORS: Creole Petroleum Corporation.

LOCATION: Caripito is located on the West bank of the San Juan River in latitude 10° 09′ 25″ N., longitude 63° 02′ 01″ W.

ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS:

1. Incoming vessels must send to Caripito their ETA Guiria at least three days in advance.

2. If a ship originally cleared for another port (including some other Venezuelan port) is diverted at sea to Caripito, certain information must be radioed to Caripito prior to arrival to avoid a heavy fine and/or delays. See "Radio".

3. No dirty ballast may be pumped overside in port or in Venezuelan coastal waters. Limited ballast facilities are available at Caripito Terminal.

4. Vessels calling at Caripito must obtain Government Pilots at Guiria.

5. The Venezuelan flag must be displayed during daylight hours while vessel is within port limits.

6. The emergency fire signal in Caripito dock area is six short and one long blasts on ship's whistle or siren. No other signal is to be given in the case of emergency.

APPROACHES: The traffic in San Juan River is restricted to one-way from Marieta Point to Caripito. Therefore, instructions are issued at Guiria to incoming vessels relative to what action to take on arrival at Marieta Point. Outbound traffic is controlled so as not to conflict with these instructions.

1. Guiria. The town of Guiria is located on South coast of Paria Peninsula on N.W. shore of Gulf of Paria. When approaching from East a signal tower will be observed on a bluff slightly to North of town.

2. Maturin Bar. Buoy E-1, marks the entrance to Maturin Bar Channel. At Punta Gorda there is a light tower located in approximare Lat. 10° 09′ 50″ N., Long, 62° 37′ 52″ W. displays a flashing red light.

3. Channel. Maturin Bar Channel is 14 miles in length and 400 ft. in width. The tidal range over the bar varies from 4 ft.-6 in. to 4 ft.-9 in. with currents up to 3 knots. The average salinity of water is 1.009; however, this may vary considerably between wet and dry seasons and spring and neap tides. Maximum draft permitted by Venezuelan regulations is 34 ft. in fresh water. There is a restriction of 6 in. less for all motor tankers. On leaving Maturin Bar Channel the San Juan River narrows from approximately 1¼ miles in width to about 0.7 miles with slight variations in width up to Marieta Point where it narrows to about 1,200 ft. and varies between 800 and 2,000 ft. up to Caripito. Marieta Point marks intersection of Caño Frances and the San Juan River. It is also at this point that course of San Juan River changes approximately 100° to starboard and it is the beginning of one-way traffic. Frequently, incoming vessels are requested to anchor below this point to await outbound traffic. There are 32 lights marking strategic points in San Juan River between Maturin Bar and Caripito terminal. These light towers are painted aluminium and are easily visible during daylight hours.

DOCUMENTS: (also see under "Radio").

1. Clearance (inward and outward). Inward clearance is effected at Caripito. The sanitary inspector boards vessel at anchor or at berth depending on tidal conditions and/or the availability of a berth. The Customs and other Government officials usually board at the berth. However. should there be a delay awaiting berth or tide, the entry will be granted while vessel is at anchor, in which case accommodation ladder must be rigged.

It is necessary that the following documents be ready on arrival:
Ballast List (1 original, visaed).
Passenger List (5 copies, of which none visaed).
Baggage List (5 copies, of which none visaed).
Crew List (7 copies, of which none visaed).
Sailing Permit from Last Port (1 original, visaed).
Stores List (5 copies, see Note).
List of Personal Effects (3 copies, of which none visaed).
List of Contents of Slop Chest (3 copies, of which none visaed).
List of Passengers in Transit (5 copies, of which none visaed).

Note: The Stores Lists may be prepared on board prior to arrival unless ship is coming from Netherlands Antilles or the Guianas, in which case they must be visaed by Venezuelan Consul at port of departure.

2. Cargo documents. The Port of Caripito has in force a system of cargo documentation for expediting the sailing of vessel. It is as follows:

a. Certain documentation with approximate cargo figures of unofficial nature are placed on board and official cargo documents are airmailed to discharge port.

b. Blank signed documents are placed on board to vessel's departure from Caripito and thence correct figures are radioed to sub-agency at Guiria who delivers them in writing to Master, who acknowledges its receipt by signing carbon copies of transmittal sheet.

PILOTAGE: Pilots are employees of Venezuelan Government and act in an advisory capacity. The Master retains responsibility for ship at all times. In the event it becomes necessary to disregard the Pilot's instructions in order to ensure the safety of the ship, the Master must forward through the Marine Department a full written report of the circumstances, for delivery to the Captain of the Port.

Pilots are compulsory and are embarked and disembarked at port of Guiria through a sub-agent. Vessels should proceed to the Guiria sea buoy and await instructions. If arriving during the hours of darkness, certain instructions are usually transmitted by light signals from the signal tower. Voice radio communications can be established at any time with Guiria or Creole Caripito on frequencies 2182 kc/s, 2638 kc/s and 2738 kc/s. The launch which embarks the Pilot will also deliver instructions to the Master relative to the movements of his vessel en route to Caripito, port regulations, facilities, etc. The regular pilotage fees cover the area from the entrance to Maturin channel to and from Caripito. The Pilot is to be provided sleeping quarters and food equal to that provided the officers aboard ship.

Note: Complaints or observations concerning the Pilots handling of vessel should be noted on back of pilotage ticket.

TIDES: The normal range of tide in the dock area is about 12 ft. with currents up to 3 knots during the flood and 4 knots during the ebb in rainy season (May-December). The normal current is $2\frac{1}{2}$ knots during the flood and 3 knots during the ebb.

ANCHORAGE: For vessels awaiting berth, there is an anchorage about 1,000 metres up-stream from the Caripito terminal. Vessels awaiting clear channel may at times be requested to anchor at Punta Marieta. Vessels awaiting high tide anchor at Punta Marieta or off Punta Gorda.

MAX. SIZE: Vessels up to 780 ft. and 48,000 dwt. can be accommodated with a low water depth of 35 ft.

RADIO: The cable and telegraphic address for the Creole Petroleum Corporation at Caripito is "Creole – Caripito". Radio messages to and from ships at sea are routed through the Government Radio Station at Maiquetia (La Guaira), call letters "YVG". This station operates on a 24-hour continuous watch, on the following frequencies:

Listening Frequencies: low frequency, 500 kc/s; high frequency, 4178, 6267, 8356, 12534, 16712, 22225 kc/s. Transmitting Frequencies: low frequency, 500, 472, 464 417 kc/s; high frequency, 4322, 4352, 6505·5, 6519·5, 8722, 8730, 12817·5, 17141·6 kc/s. Radio notice of arrival should be sent 72 hours prior to arrival at Guiria and corrected if weather or other conditions delay the vessel.

Radio telephone listening watches are maintained on a 24-hour basis at Guiria and at Caripito on 2182 kc. The following frequencies are available for communications after contact: 2638 kc and 2738 kc.

All vessels en route to Caripito may also communicate with Amuay or La Salina Marine offices and request that message dealing with corrected ETA's, Pilots and other business be relayed to the Caripito Marine Office.

Vessels that were originally cleared for another foreign port, or another Venezuelan port, and were subsequently diverted at sea, should radio the following information to Creole Caripito prior to arrival:

Vessel's name	Last port of call
Master's name	Port for which originally cleared.
Vessel's flag	Grade and quantity of cargo to be lifted.
Number of crew
Estimated time of arrival at Caripito

This information is required in order to make in advance special arrangements for inward clearance, to avoid payment of a fine. It is necessary in such a case that the following documents be ready on arrival:

Crew List (original and 6 copies).
List of Personal Effects (original and 2 copies).
List of Contents of Slop Chest (3 copies).
Stores List (original and 1 copy).

Also required are the original and 2 copies of the radiogram instructing Master to proceed to Caripito. Outward clearance documents are placed on board the vessel prior to departure from the Caripito terminal.

Masters should bear in mind that while vessels are within Venezuelan territorial waters, Government authorities do not permit the use of ship's radio equipment. Cables and radiograms should be handed to the company representative for transmittal via shore radio communication system. Caripito has also radio telephone communication with North and South America and Europe. For further information contact Port Services Section in the terminal building, telephone C-435.

BALLAST: Ballast is not required when mooring. Any ballast carried should be in a minimum number of tanks, and all other tanks stripped, so as to minimize deballasting time.

A relatively small amount of salt water remaining in ship's tanks or lines can contaminate crude and cause operating problems for the refiners. It is important therefore to strip tanks and lines as dry as possible.

Vessels provided with completely segregated ballast system are permitted to discharge ballast and load cargo simultaneously. Absolutely oil-free ballast may be discharged overside. Consolidated residues may be pumped ashore, where facilities are available for receiving up to a maximum of 8,000 barrels.

A considerable number of vessels are now participating in the programme to eliminate pollution of the seas. Under this programme, vessels may arrive carrying quantities of oil/water emulsion. If it is desired to follow the "load-on-top" procedure in such instances, it is requested that the Marine Representative be informed on arrival.

BERTHING: The Marine Office Building is located on the West bank of the San Juan River upstream from the berths. Representatives of the Marine Department board vessel immediately upon arrival and it is particularly requested that Masters indicate at that time all ship's requirements. Personnel are available for assistance at all hours.

Caripito Creole maintains a deep water terminal, consisting of two ocean tanker berths, Nos. 2 and 3. These are T-type piers with breasting dolphins located approximately 10 ft. off the face of each pier.

All terminal facilities are under the control of Creole Petroleum Corporation. The port is open for navigation during day and night. All ocean tankers are moored at berths No. 2 and 3 on the flood tide only. Vessels may sail from berth No. 3 at any stage of the tide. Sailings from berth No. 2 are restricted to flood tide only when berth No. 3 is occupied.

A vessel entering or leaving port must be assisted by a Docking Master in the general employ of and furnished by Creole Petroleum Corporation. The Docking Master will board an inbound vessel at San Juan River Light Beacon No. 31 and relieve the Government Pilot of his duties. A Custom guard will board at the same time and remain with the vessel. The Docking Master will deliver to the Master his loading and docking instructions together with any other information pertinent to the vessel's call. He will also sign the Notice of Readiness if requested. The vessel will proceed to anchor to await flood tide to dock, to await berth, or will swing to the flood tide in the turning basin and proceed directly to the berth depending on circumstances.

LOADING: Loading rates, particularly for low-flash products loaded during the hours of darkness or when topping off cargo tanks, will be reduced by terminal to meet existing conditions.

All loading and discharging will be stopped during passage of an electric storm, and ullage covers must be closed and dogged down. During periods of calms, loading of gasoline or other similar low-flash products may be loaded at reduced rates or loading stopped if the heavy vapours are not being dispersed quickly enough to prevent hazard from accumulated gas pockets. Ship's officers are cautioned to be on their guard during such conditions.

Loading rates will be reduced when topping off, if requested by the ship's officer.

Instructions as to grade or grades of cargo, and the approximate loading rate anticipated, will be given to the Master. Supplementary information including number and size of lines and hoses will be furnished to the Chief Officer before loading commences.

If vessel's loading order from Owners or charterers do not agree with terminal's orders, either as to grades or quantity, the marine representative should be advised immediately. The terminal is authorised to load 10% more or less than the quantity nominated; if the cargo to be lifted will be more or less than this 10% limitation it is necessary to cable our New York office for confirmation.

A terminal employee is stationed at each pier during the entire time the ship is discharging ballast, bunkering, or loading cargo. Fifteen minutes "standby" notice should be given to this man prior to completion of ballast, bunkers, or cargo.

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and hospitalisation, if required, is provided at a hospital located in the Creole concession. Several dentists are located in the town of Caripito. Authorisation forms for medical and dental treatment are provided, which require Master's signature. Transportation is available at the Marine Office. Please note that if the patient does not speak Spanish or English, an interpreter should accompany him.

FRESH WATER: Fresh water is available in any quantity. Delivery is made through 2½ in. national standard fire hose thread hydrants. Ships personnel must provide hoses and connect up.

FUEL: Bunker "C" fuel oil, marine diesel and intermediate fuels are available. It is the responsibility of ship's engineer to give "standby" notice to the terminal employee and advise him when to shut down.

CONSULS: There are no consular representatives in the area. Vessels bound for U.S.A. or British Caribbean ports will be provided with a letter stating this fact.

CERTIFICATES: All ships calling at a Venezuela port for the first time must be measured for tonnage by Captain of the Port. It is the usual practice to take ashore the ship's Panama Canal or Suez Canal Certificate, which is used as a basis for recalculating tonnage under the Venezuelan regulations, and is returned before sailing. The Venezuelan Admeasurement Certificate, when later issued is forwarded to the Owners. A fee is charged for this certificate, which is payable only on ship's first call. Vessels registered in following countries are excluded from above regulations: Netherlands, Germany, France, Portugal, United Kingdom, Denmark, Sweden, U.S.A., Ireland and Norway.

CUSTOMS: While the vessel is in port, Venezuelan National Guard officials are assigned on board to ensure compliance with Customs regulations. The law requires that meals be supplied to these officials during regular meal hours. Masters are requested to give them the privilege of eating in the officers' messroom, to avoid difficulties.

Venezuelan laws are strict in regard to contraband and Masters are requested to instruct their crews not to take cigarettes or other articles ashore. Cigarettes in carton lots, cigars, tobacco, souvenirs, gifts (particularly items of women's apparel) should be collected prior to arrival in port, listed with the items in the slop chest and placed in the custody of the Master for deposit in the slop chest or closet which will then be sealed for the duration of the vessel's stay in port.

Firearms on board any merchant vessel calling at Venezuelan ports must not exceed one per officer, nor can ammunition exceed 18 cartridges per officer. All firearms and ammunition must be noted on the stores list. Officers must not carry firearms while ship is in Venezuelan waters and these side-arms and ammunition should be collected and held in the Master's safe custody. Crew members should be warned against taking knives or other weapons ashore.

REPAIRS: Only minor repairs of an emergency nature can be made. There are no electronic repair services available in the area.

SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave is permitted and a representative of the Captain of the Port boards on arrival and issues the required number of passes. Shore passes are to be collected prior to sailing, and given to the Docking Master undocking the vessel. Vessels are not permitted to sail until all crew members are on board, unless hospitalised or prior arrangements made for disembarking.

TIME: Local time is Greenwich Mean Time minus 4 hours.

GENERAL:

Gangways: Gangways at berths No. 2 and 3 are provided by the terminal.

Plimsoll Marks: The Captain of the Port requires that the Plimsoll marks of all vessels using the port be clearly visible. Vessels will be checked on completion of loading, and if the Plimsoll Marks are not readily legible, permission to sail may be withheld.

Surveyors: There are no appointed surveyors to the American Bureau of Shipping or Lloyd's in the area. With 48 hours notice, non-exclusive surveyors can be obtained from Caracas, or at times from Puerto La Cruz, or qualified Masters or chief engineers may be available for appointment as surveyors when required.

Bonded Stores: Cigarettes or other stores in bond are not obtainable at Caripito.

Cash Advances: The local currency is the Venezuelan Bolivar and cash advances are made only in this currency. It is requested that any requirement for cash advances be included in the vessel's ETA radio, to permit delivery on board on arrival. Cash returns can be accepted only during the normal work day – 0700 to 1600 hours. Sundays and holidays excluded.

Provisions and Stores: Provisions and stores in extremely limited varieties and quantities are available at prices considerably higher than in most other ports.

Charts: No supplies of charts or sailing directions are available at Caripito.

Personnel – Seamen Left Ashore: In the case of seamen left ashore for hospitalisation, repatriation or other reason all documents and personal effects are to be delivered to the Marine Office before sailing. A letter is required from the Master advising the maximum advances to be made to the seamen. if any, and instructions concerning his repatriation. All expenses incurred by seamen left ashore, including cost of repatriation, are for ship's account. It is important that Masters bear in mind that the Venezuelan law will at all time hold the vessel, her Master, Agent or owner, responsible for any seamen left behind in Venezuela.

Laundry: Laundry service is not available for periods of less than 48 hours.

Lubricating Oil: Supplies of Esso marine lubricating oils are available from Puerto La Cruz. Quantities required should be included in the ETA cable.

Mail: Any pending ship's mail will be delivered on board by the marine dispatcher on arrival at Caripito. At the same time he will receive any ship's mail to be dispatched. The marine despatcher will accept personal mail only if it carries the proper amount of Venezuelan postage, or if Master authorises postage by signing seven copies of the Company Post Transmittal form. Masters interested in knowing the individual postage amounts to be paid by each crew member, should provide a list, in duplicate, of the senders, and number of letters sent by each one identified by a number written on each letter. Copy of this will be returned aboard vessel when leaving this port outward bound. If not ready on time, it will be airmailed to the vessel's next port of call.

Inspection – Petroleum Products and Crude Oil: Charles Martin & Co. and E. W. Saybolt, petroleum inspectors, are available from Puerto La Cruz if specified.

Visitors: All visitors to ships are prohibited except those company employees, petroleum inspectors, etc., whose duties require their presence aboard.

Passengers: Passengers will not be permitted to disembark unless in possession of the required visa and documents. To facilitate clearance, if passengers are carried, the Master should include advice to this effect in his radio ETA.

Pollution of Harbour and Coastal Waters: The laws of Venezuela are strict in regard to pollution of harbour and coastal waters by oil, and heavy fines are imposed for violations. No dirty ballast, oil or bilge slops are to be pumped or allowed to escape overboard. All overboard discharge valves from cargo tanks and bilges are to be secured before loading or discharging commences. Loading is to be conducted with greatest care and vigilance in order that errors or delays in handling cargo valves may not result in overflows. All deck scuppers should be plugged before loading to avoid harbour contamination should an overflow occur. The authorities require that a written report be submitted by the ship involved in the event of an oil spill.

AUTHORITY: Creole Petroleum Corporation, Marine Department, Caripito, Guiria, Venezuela. Cable address: Creole Caripito.

MARACAIBO LAKE

Including, Section A – BAJO GRANDE
Section B – LA ESTACADA
Section C – LA SALINA
Section D – MARACAIBO
Section E – PUERTO MIRANDA
Section F – PUNTA DE PALMAS

(N.B. Certain information common to all Vessels entering Maracaibo Lake is given below. For specific details of ports/terminals within the Lake, see relative Section as indicated above.)

FLAG: Local authorities require that the Venezuelan ensign be flown at vessel's masthead, from the time of entering the outer channel until clear of the outer channel outbound.

DOCUMENTS: (a) Inward Clearance for Scheduled Vessels: Vessels arriving in ballast or with cargo in transit require following documents:

1 copy Sailing Permit from Last Port.
2 copies–1 visaed Ballast Certificate.
1 or more letters Consular Mail (in sealed envelope).
4 copies–2 visaed Passenger Lists.
4 copies–2 visaed Baggage Lists.
4 copies–2 visaed List of Passengers in Transit.
4 copies List of Slop Chest.
4 copies List of Personal Effects.
4 copies–2 visaed Store Lists.
5 copies Crew Lists.

Vessels arriving with cargo should have, in addition to the foregoing:

4 copies–2 visaed Sobordos (Venezuelan Inward Manifests).
6 copies–2 visaed Bill of Lading.
2 copies visaed Inward Manifests.

In lack of a Venezuelan Consul at discharge port, clearance documents should be signed by consul of a friendly nation, one of the Port Authorities, Notary Public, the Chamber of Commerce or by two well-known firms.

(b) Inward Clearance for Diverted Vessels: Vessels diverted to Maracaibo Lake Ports to load cargo, should submit all documents indicated in 1 through 10 above, except consular mail, which they will not have.

Vessels diverted at sea to Maracaibo Lake Ports which do not have a Venezuelan clearance on board, must advise loading port via radio prior to arrival, the name of vessel, master's name, vessel's flag, Venezuelan net tonnage (if available, if not, the registered net tonnage), last port of call, destination port for which originally cleared, ETA San Carlos pilot station and grade and quantity of cargo to be lifted. This information is required in order that Inward Clearance may be arranged with government officials in ample time prior to vessel's arrival. Also 3 copies of the diversion telegram received by vessel and signed by Master, together with copies of those documents listed under (a) should be presented to the Port Authorities upon arrival at Maracaibo. In the absence of this information, or of presentation of each of these documents to the Port Authorities the vessel will be subject to a fine. Please note, that the documents covered under (a) have to be presented upon arrival, regardless, if the vessel is or is not arriving with consular clearance or arriving after being diverted at sea.

(c) In Maracaibo two clearances from Custom's authorities are needed: One for proceeding from Maracaibo to loading berth, and another after loading for proceeding from Maracaibo to destination. For this reason Custom Dispatch charges may be incurred twice.

(d) American Crew List. All non-American vessels loading for a U.S.A. port should have the American Crew List ready on arrival in Maracaibo to be visaed by the American Consulate in Maracaibo and placed aboard ship before departure. The crew list should be prepared on Immigration and Naturalization Service form No. I.–418 (Crew List Manifest) and should contain two sections:

Section 1 should list those crew members who are American or who possess individual visa documentation to the United States.

Section 2 should list, in the alphabetical order of their last names, those alien crew men who lack United States visa documentation and therefore require inclusion in the visa of the crew list.

Only one name may be placed on each line of the crew list. Two names should not be placed in the space of one line, nor should a full line between two names be left vacant. All copies of the crew list presented must be legible. Occasionally the names of the crew men included on the carbon copies of some crew lists presented at the consulate are blurred beyond recognition.

The information requested under columns 1, 2 and 3 should be filled in completely. Column 1 should always contain the complete first name and middle initial of the crew man. Column 2 should show the nationality of each crew member and the number of his travel Document. Column 3 should always include the name of the port where the crew man was shipped, not simply the country.

At the time of vessel's first application for a crew list, the crew list must be presented in four copies: Original and One copy should contain only information requested under Columns 1, 2 and 3. Two copies must include following information of those crew men to be included on crew list visa. Column 4 should list date, city and country of each crew men's birth. Column 5 should show place of issuance of seaman's travel document and name of Government which issued travel document. (It is not necessary to list date of issuance of travel document.)

Below is a sample line correctly entered on the Master crew list.

(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)
	Z.23455	Maracaibo	December 8, 33
Bello, Tomás E.	Venezuelan	Venezuela	Caracas, Venez.	Cabimas, Venez

Upon subsequent crew list applications by same vessel within same year, the crew list need be presented in duplicate only, and the information in Columns 4 and 5 need be provided only concerning any new crew members who require visa documentation. When twelve months have elapsed since presentation of Original crew list, a crew list should again be prepared in 4 copies and should contain all the information required in columns 1–5. Such a master crew list is required after each 12 months period.

APPROACHES: The Channels leading to the Lake of Maracaibo are called the Outer channel, the Inner Channel and the Lake Channel. The controlling depths of the Outer Channel, Inner Channel and the channel Southward to buoys M1 and M2 are normally 45 ft. At certain times the controlling depth may be less. At such times suitable notices are published advising mariners of these temporary reductions of controlling depth.

Outer Channel. The Outer Channel starts at the E.M. Buoy in position 11° 13′ 47″ North and 71° 33′ 31″ West. The light characteristics of E.M. buoy are: flashing white every five seconds, visibility approximately five miles. The distance from E.M. buoy to the Southern end of the outer Channel, marked by buoys B–27 and B–28, is approximately 15·75 miles. The channel is 1,000 ft. wide and has a normal controlling depth of 45 ft. LWS with tidal range varying about 2 ft. 3 in. This depth is maintained by periodical dredging. Tankers are required to have a keel clearance of at least 2 ft. and dry-cargo vessels a keel clearance of at least 3 ft. Vessels navigating the channel at the maximum allowable draft are confined from two hours before to two hours after high water. There are no turns in the channel and the course is 189°.

There is a breakwater 0·5 mile East of, and parallel to, the Outer Channel and extending 1·6 miles Northward from the North side of Zapara Island. The end of this breakwater is marked with a skeleton steel tower with a light 27 ft. above sea-level. Light characteristics-flashing white light every five seconds; visibility nine miles.

On Zapara Island there is a skeleton iron tower with a height of 136 ft. above sea-level.

Cross currents are sometimes encountered near Zapara, San Carlos and Pescadero Islands, especially at low water when the cross currents are strong. Overtaking at these points should be avoided.

There is one anchorage zone in the Outer Channel which is a trapezoid on the port side when navigating inbound near the Buoys B–14, B–15, B–16 and B–18. All buoys in the Outer Channel are equipped with radar reflectors.

Caution: Masters are warned to keep adequate speed in the Outer Channel even when embarking the Pilot as strong cross currents are encountered near San Carlos and Zapara Island. Pilot boats are fast and fitted with a flying bridge.

Inner Channel. The Inner Channel continues on the same course as the Outer Channel for about 10 miles, whereafter the direction changes to 150°. Entire length of the Inner Channel is about 12 miles.

The beginning of the Inner Dredged Channel is marked by buoys B–29 and B–30. Channel is marked by beacons, and terminates at beacons T–55 and T–56. The channel is 800 ft. wide and the normal controlling depth is 45 ft. LWS with tidal range varying from 1·5 ft. to 2·5 ft.

The channel from beacons T–56 to Maracaibo Harbour is a dredged channel, the end of which is marked by buoys Nos. B–73 and B–74.

About 0·2 mile South of buoys B–29 and B–30, there are located two towers – one on each side of the channel, and about 1 mile further South are two more towers. These four towers are marked E–31 and E–32 (North) and E–33 and E–34 (South). Towers No. E–31 and E–32 are of single steel pipe construction on a concrete pile base. Towers No. E–33 and E–34 are of skeleton steel construction (former oil-well derricks) each mounted on four concrete piles. The characteristics of these towers are:

		Height above water (LWS)
Tower No.	Light	Light
E–31	43′	Green – Fl.
E–32	43′	Red – Fl.
E–33	123′	Green – Fl.
E–34	128′	Red – Fl.

Vessels are not allowed to overtake each other in the Inner Channel between buoys B–29 and B–30 and light beacons T–25 and T–26. Vessels may overtake each other in the Inner Channel between light beacons T–39 and T–40 after having exchanged prescribed signals with the vessels to be passed. This manoeuvre is, of course, allowed only if conditions are favourable and no vessel navigating in the opposite direction is in sight.

Lake Channel. The channel starting at light beacons T–39 and T–40 and leading to Maracaibo Roads is called the Lake Channel. This is a natural channel 3,000 ft. wide and 11 miles long.

The Main Channel through Maracaibo Lake is approximately 83 miles long, not less than 244 m. wide and with a greater depth than the outer channels.

The access channels to the various ports and terminals branch off from the main channel as described under Section for each port.

CHANNEL NAVIGATION:

(a) Inbound vessels leave to starboard side the buoys and beacons marked with even numbers and to port side the buoys and beacons marked with odd numbers.

(b) Outbound vessels shall leave to port side the buoys and beacons marked with even numbers and to starboard side the buoys and beacons marked with odd numbers.

(c) Vessels should pass as close as possible to the channel's edge on starboard side. Loaded vessels have preference.

(d) Approaching vessels are to reduce speed in order to minimise the suction force of the displacing waters.

(e) Vessels must maintain a distance of five ship's lengths by day and eight ship's lengths by night from other vessels navigating in the same direction.

(f) No vessel should start to manoeuvre to overtake another vessel before having received clearly the affirmative signal from the ship to be passed.

(g) A grounded vessel is not allowed to start any manoeuvre when another vessel is passing.

Daytime

Black cylinder hoisted on side of yardarm: You can overtake me on the side on which the cylinder is shown.

Two black balls over the bridge: The channel is blocked.

Night

Green light on side of yardarm (a white light on mast-head helps to show on which side the green lights is placed): You can overtake me on the side on which the green light is shown.

Two red lights over the bridge: The channel is blocked.

The tidal range is 4 ft. at neaps.

(i) Maximum speed for vessels navigating in lake channels has been limited to 10 knots. Masters should exercise the outmost care in complying with this regulation as heavy fines may be imposed to offending vessels.

PILOTAGE: (N.B. Maracaibo Pilotage Regulations require that inbound tankers, in ballast, while crossing the Bar, shall not have greater than 8 ft. difference between the fore and aft draft. The Government pilot will not take the vessel if this requirement is not met, unless he is satisfied that the actual draft of the vessel will permit safe navigation through the Outer and Inner Channels.

Every Master of a vessel navigating in Lake Maracaibo who desires to enter the main ship channel in Pilotage Zones No. 1 or No. 2 must first ensure that said channel is free of traffic.

The limits of the Main Ship Channel in Pilotage Zone No. 1 are from buoys B1/B2 located at the entrance to the Outer Bar Channel and buoys B73/B74, of the city of Maracaibo. Pilotage Zone No. 2 begins approximately one mile below Maracaibo and extends Southward to lightfloats M36/M37. All other channels are considered as access channels to their respective port zones and subject to special local rules. Every vessel navigating to or from any port in Lake Maracaibo must follow the prescribed routes through the main and access channels leading to or from such ports, unless special permission has been granted to do otherwise.)

(a) Pilots are employees of the Venezuelan Government and act in an advisory capacity; The Master retains responsibility for the ship at all times. In the event it becomes necessary to disregard the Pilot's instructions in order to ensure the safety of the ship, the Master must prepare a full written report of the circumstances, for delivery to the Captain of the port.

(b) Inbound vessels have the option at present to embark government Pilot at the following areas:

(i) In the channel off San Carlos Pilot Station between buoys B–24 and B–26.

(ii) Anchorage area approximately 5½ miles North-east of pilot station, San Carlos Island. Position N. 11° 04′ 22″, W. 71° 33′ 48″

East of buoy B–17. This area is demarcated with green light buoy equipment with radar reflector.

(iii) At the E.M. Buoy.

(c) The Port Captaincy of Maracaibo is unable to guarantee embarking or disembarking Pilots at the E.M. buoy or at anchorage area position. For this reason Masters should communicate with San Carlos pilot station for necessary instructions as to where to pick up Pilot, who usually embarks between buoys B–24 and B–26. The communication system between San Carlos pilot station and vessels will be by Morse lamp and radio-telephone. The stand-by frequency at San Carlos is 2182 kilocycles. Other existing frequencies are 2120 and 2080 kilocycles; 156·6 and 156·8 megacycles. Each pilot launch has a radio-telephone with 2182 kilocycles frequency. The launch that leaves San Carlos pilot station with Pilot for ship, takes approximately 20 to 30 minutes to cover distance, and distance between Buoys and San Carlos is approximately 6 miles or 10 kilometres.

(d) Pilot Permit to navigate the Outer Channel without aid of a government Pilot will be granted to those Masters who desire to obtain same. In order to fill the application required, a blank sealed paper and three copies should be signed by Master on arrival. Copy of this solicitude duly endorsed by port Captain of Maracaibo, will serve the Master as temporary permit until the official one has been received. Masters in possession of permits to cross the Outer Channel without a Pilot, have the option to enter channel either at the E.M. buoy or between any other buoy, taking into consideration the heavy traffic of the channel. Government pilotage through the inner channel is compulsory at all times.

(e) Outbound vessels will receive Pilot in Maracaibo, who will pilot vessel up to San Carlos area approximately between Towers E–31 and E–33, where he will disembark. The Port Captain of Maracaibo has instructed that all Captains should always in ample time identify themselves with the San Carlos pilot station by radio-telephone regardless of time of day. While inbound – between buoys B–17 and B–19 and sailing outbound – between markers T–42 and T–40. These instructions are obligatory and are required in order for the pilot service to be aware, at any moment, of any emergencies which may arise, and also to avoid, especially during the night, the launch departing with an official pilot aboard believing that the ship in sight needs his services, in which case, even though the launch or pilot services are not rendered, the same will be charged to the company owning the ship, or its representative.

TONNAGE: Venezuelan Port Authorities base part of their pilotage charges on the size of the vessel, i.e.

(a) On Registered Net Tonnage. Venezuela will accept the tonnage of ships registered in countries with which they have a reciprocal tonnage agreement. As of this date, such countries are:

Norway	Sweden	Denmark
England	Ireland	Holland
France	Germany	Portugal
	U.S.A.

(b) On Venezuelan Net Tonnage. Ships not registered in countries listed above, when calling at Venezuelan ports for the first time, must be measured for Venezuelan tonnage by the Captain of the Port. It is the usual practice to take ashore the ship's Panama Canal or Suez Canal Certificate, which is used as a basis for recalculating tonnage under the Venezuelan regulations, and return it before sailing. The Venezuelan admeasurement certificate, when later issued, is forwarded to the Owners. A fee is charged for this certificate, which is payable only on the ship's first call.

(c) In practice, the procedure for stating the tonnage of all ships entering the Lake of Maracaibo is as follows: The inward Pilot boarding the ship presents Master a form on which among others the Master should fill in the tonnage of ship. Pilotage charges are based on this tonnage given by the Master. Master's attention is drawn to the fact that the Venezuelan net tonnage is usually higher than the International net tonnage. Care should be taken if an old Venezuelan net tonnage certificate is on board, because the country in which the ship is registered might later have signed the reciprocal tonnage agreement with Venezuela. If the pilotage charges are made on basis of a higher tonnage than the one that should be applied, it is later very difficult, if not impossible, to get a refund.

CUSTOMS: (a) Customs Watch. While vessel is in port, Venezuelan National Guard Officials are assigned on board to ensure compliance with customs regulations. The Law requires meals be supplied to these officials during regular meal hours. Masters are requested to give them the privilege of eating in officers' messroom, to avoid difficulties.

(b) Firearms and Ammunition. Firearms must not exceed one per officer nor may the ammunition exceed eighteen cartridges per officer. All firearms and ammunition must be carefully declared on Store List and should be collected and held in Master's safe custody while vessel is in Venezuelan waters.

(c) Contraband. Strict compliance with the customs law of the country is enforced by the authorities, and Masters are strongly advised to caution crew members against attempting to smuggle cigarettes. One open package per person is allowed to be carried ashore, but greater quantity will result in fine and imprisonment of the offender as well as lost ship's time. Due to very strict enforcement of the customs regulations, it is recommended that no goods be carried which are not shown on Store List. Any new articles (clothes, shoes, etc.) should be included in Store List and marked as personal belongings. If during a check-up by Customs, articles considered as contraband are found, this will not only mean confiscation of these articles, but also hours or days of lost ship's time, while the case is handled at court.

CONSULS: The following nations maintain consular representative in Maracaibo:

Belgium	Germany (West)	Peru
Chile	Great Britain	Portugal
Colombia	Guatemala	Spain
Costa Rica	Italy	Sweden
Denmark	Netherlands	Switzerland
Ecuador	Norway	United States of America
El Salvador	Nicaragua
France	Panama

TIME: Local time is Greenwich Mean Time minus 4 hours.

VISITORS: All visitors to ships are prohibited except those company employees, petroleum inspectors, etc., whose duties require their presence aboard.

PASSENGERS: Passengers will not be permitted to disembark unless in possession of the required visa and documents. To facilitate clearance, if passengers are carried, the Master should include advice to this effect in his radio ETA.

POLLUTION: The Laws of Venezuela are very strict in regard to the pollution of harbour and coastal waters by oil, and heavy fines are imposed for violations. No dirty ballast, oil or bilge slops are to be pumped or allowed to escape overboard. All overboard discharge valves from cargo tanks and bilges are to be secured before loading or discharging commences. Loading is to be conducted with greatest care and vigilance in order that errors or delays in handling cargo valves may not result in overflows. All deck scuppers should be plugged before loading to avoid harbour contamination should an overflow occur. The Authorities require a written report to be submitted by the ship involved in the event of an oil spill.

SEAMAN LEFT BEHIND: Sailing may be withheld until all crew members are aboard with exception of those ashore for justified reasons. It is important that Masters bear in mind that the Venezuelan Law will at all times hold the vessel's, Master, Agent, or Owner responsible for any seamen left behind in Venezuela.

Section A

BAJO GRANDE: 10.29 N. 71.38 W.

(N.B. For important details of Documentation, Pilotage etc., see "Maracaibo Lake".)

OPERATORS: Chevron Oil Company of Venezuela.

CHANNEL: Entrance and leaving this terminal is made between buoys B.85 and B.86.

DOCUMENTS: Cargo Documents and Outward Clearance.

Captain's copy of Bill of Lading – Bill of Lading form used is usual Warshipoilvoy form. Masters wishing to use another form should Furnish twenty blanks on arrival in Maracaibo.

A Pencil copy of the Certificate of Quantity and Quality.

Customs Clearance – Duplicate of "Conocimiento de Embarque". Duplicate of "Manifiesto de Carga".

(Both stamped and signed by Customs).

Communication – A letter from Maracaibo Customs Authorities to Customs Authorities in Port of Destination.

Zarpe – Permission to sail signed by Maracaibo Port Captain. This is brought on board in Maracaibo by outbound Pilot.

PILOTAGE: Chevronmar's Mooring Master will assist in docking. It should be borne in mind that Docking Master acts as adviser only. The Master retains full responsibility at all times. Any damage incurred to vessel or loading platform which may be deemed to have been caused by Mooring Master or Docking Master's fault or negligence, may be held against the ship.

MAX. SIZE: (a) Maximum Draft. Maximum draft alongside pier is 34 ft. 6 in. (b) Berthing Draft. Vessels up to 18,000 DWT – 12 ft. forward 18 Aft. Vessels over 18,000 DWT – deeper. Vessels with less than the stipulated draft may be refused a berth.

RADIO: Information to be cabled to Chevronmar three days prior to arrival.

(a) Cable Address is: Chevronmar Maracaibo. Please send through PJC (Curacaoradio) and AAC (All America Cables). Chevronmar offices in Bajo Grande have direct teletype communication with the offices of All America Cables in Maracaibo, and Chevronmar also receive cables over the telephone from AAC until 9 p.m.

(b) Flag. If vessel has loaded in Bajo Grande before the nationality of the vessel need not be cabled.

(c) Sailing port, and at which other port vessel will call in this area. For clearing vessel in and out in Maracaibo, Chevronmar must know beforehand from where ship comes and which other port it will call in this area. Therefore, it is of importance to inform Chevronmar whether vessel will load part cargo or bunker, at which terminal, and whether inbound or outbound.

(d) Port for which Vessel is cleared. In case vessel was diverted en route and consequently is not cleared for Maracaibo or one of the terminals in Lake of Maracaibo, Chevronmar must obtain from authorities special permit for vessel to enter Lake of Maracaibo.

(e) Ballast Certificate. If vessel arrives in ballast a Ballast Certificate is mandatory. A fine against vessel will be issued by Port Authorities if vessel does not have this certificate.

(f) Estimated Time of Arrival. Cable ETA San Carlos pilot station Buoys 25–27, 72 and 48 hours prior to arrival there, or, if vessel is taking part cargo or bunkering inbound, cable ETA bunker or first loading port. Please use local time if possible (four hours slow of Greenwich Mean Time).

(g) Net Tonnage. If vessel has not loaded in Bajo Grande before, also cable net tonnage. To determine whether international or Venezuelan net tonnage should be mentioned, see "Maracaibo Lake".

(h) Master's full name. Please sign first message with Master's first name and surname.

(i) Changed ETA. An additional cable should be sent about 48 hours and 24 hours prior to arrival at pilot station buoys 25–27 if ETA is changed.

TUGS: The Venezuelan Government has ruled mandatory the use of two tugs for docking and undocking and also to have stand-by tugs during loading operations.

BERTHING: Loading Pier in position 10° 50″ North and 71° 36′ 8″ West or about 8 miles or 12·8 kilometres South of Maracaibo on Western shore of lake and about 9000 ft. offshore with its centreline North-south. Two vessels can berth simultaneously, one outside at berth number one and inside at berth number two. Bajo Grande Pier heads are 700 ft. apart. However longer ships have been tied up. Design of fenders permits berthing of vessels with a displacement of 42,000 tons.

NOTICE OF READINESS: Masters are free to tender their ships as being ready to load at any place and time which, in their opinion, conforms with the terms of the charter party. Chevronmar's personnel authorised to countersign notice of readiness have been instructed to indicate the time vessel was all fast or, if vessel anchored to wait for berth, the time vessel anchored. This does not imperil in any way the rights of the shipowner in his negotiations with the charterer and it limits Chevronmar's liability to the consignee.

BALLAST: Shore deballasting facilities are available at Bajo Grande. Deballasting facilities at Bajo Grande are subject to no special regulations and procedures. Tanker ballast water is pumped through two 8 in. hose connections into a 24 in. line of about 9,000 ft. in length to a 120,000 bbls. receiving basin situated on shore. Contamination of Lake Maracaibo waters with only material of any nature is strictly prohibited by Venezuelan Laws. Chevron Oil Company of Venezuela is required to report to the authorities any such contamination by vessels docked at Bajo Grande. Heavy fines are then assessed against the ships. Co-operation is requested to prevent contamination from tank overflows, bilge oil, line leaks or any other source.

TANK CLEANING: (Before Loading). Precautions as are common for any heavy oil should be taken to insure that no ballast was left in any tank. If the cargo is contaminated with water, the water will not separate from the oil. The salt content of the oil will be raised approximately ten pounds per one thousand barrels for every 0·10% contamination by sea water. All cargo compartments must be stripped extremely dry. Cargo pipelines should be drained and/or purged of water. On standard T-2 type vessels, this can be done by draining the fore and aft main cargo lines, both suction and discharge sides, into the pump room bilges followed by opening of main suction valves on each individual compartment, thereby releasing water retained in dead and transverse lines. After this procedure is completed, each compartment should be restripped with stripping pumps and lines, followed by draining the stripping line to pump-room bilges. On other ships equipped with looped systems, it is possible to blow the system with air and drain water into the bilges. In other situations, fresh water might be used to flush cargo systems of salt water and in turn strip salt water and fresh water as outlined for T-2 vessels. All deck scuppers should be securely plugged and all precautions should be taken to avoid pollution of lake waters.

(a) Inspection of Tanks. Before loading can commence, tanks and loading system must be inspected and passed. This is usually done by Chevronmar's own cargo inspector but, if consignee so requests, third party inspection can be arranged. Both Chas. Martin and E. W. Saybolt & Company are represented in Maracaibo.

(b) Line Displacement. When a vessel is loading crude and products, it is usually necessary to displace lines once or twice during loading. Masters will be advised of necessary line displacements before loading starts and are requested to take note because notice has to be given by vessel when pumping should be stopped and tank changed. Once shore tanks have been changed it will not be possible to change the quantity of the product already in the ship, as shore lines will then contain a product different from the one already loaded. Ship's gauges and/or draft should be carefully checked when calculating required quantities.

(c) Spillage. In case spillage occurs, the port supervisor must be advised immediately, as any spillage must be reported to the Authorities without delay.

(d) After Loading. All butterworth plates, tank tops and ullage plugs should be inspected to insure against entry of salt water. Inspection of ullage plugs should follow on completion of temperature readings because of the necessity of taking temperatures enroute. Sea suction valves should be secured by positive means until all cargo has been discharged. This may be accomplished by numbered seals, chains and padlocks. The method of securing should be noted on the inspection documents. Regardless of which method is used, appropriate log entries should be made indicating the date, time and method used and under whose supervision, both vessel officer and/or cargo inspector, such method was applied. About one hour is required for preparation of documents.

BUNKERING:

(a) Advance Notice of Requirement. Owners, operators, or Agents should place their nominations with Chevron International Oil Company Inc., San Francisco, California; Chevron International Oil Company Inc., New York, N.Y., and Chevron International Oil Company, Ltd., London.

Cable addresses: "Chevronint, Sanfrancisco;" "Chevronint, New York," and "Chevronint, London".

In order to serve customers without inconvenience or delay nominations should be placed as much in advance of the delivered date as possible.

(b) Bunker Facilities. Bunkers available ex pipe line for vessels loading and unloading cargo at berths No. 1 and No. 2. Bunkering rate up to 10,000 barrels per hour for Bunker Fuel and Intermediate Bunker Fuel, up to 6,200 barrels per hour for Marine Diesel.

(c) Marine Fuels and Lubricants available: Bunker Fuel, Intermediate bunker fuels, Marine diesel, Lubricants – Full line of Chevron Marine Lubricants subject to seven day's advance notice.

(d) Lighterage. Bunker fuel, Intermediate bunker fuels and Marine diesel available for ships in the Maracaibo area. The barging rate is $0.18 per barrel (approx.), minimum $100.00. 72 hours advance notice is required for barge deliveries of all products.

WATER: Delivery of boiler and potable water is made by barge at an all-inclusive price of Bs. 12.00 per metric ton (approx.). Minimum quantity 80 tons. The barge holds about 160 tons and the pumping rate is about 25 tons per hour. Requirements should be cabled in advance.

REPAIRS: No major repair facilities are available in Maracaibo but small jobs can be taken care of by local machine and electric shops. Shore labour can be furnished if required. Technicians are available for minor radio repairs. Nearest dry docks are at Curacao for vessels up to 18,000 DWT and at Puerto Cabello for vessels up to 30,000 DWT. There is a submarine 2400 volt power line to the pier. Electric power can be supplied.

SHORE LEAVE: Shore Leave is permitted at the discretion of the port authorities: required number of shore passes will be brought on board on arrival in Maracaibo and have to be returned to the customs guard again before the vessel leaves Bajo Grande. Shorts may not be worn ashore.

GENERAL: (a) Visitors. According to port regulations concerning access to ships and loading terminals and in the interest of industrial safety, only persons directly concerned with loading operations will be permitted to board vessel or visit the loading platform at Bajo Grande.

(b) Guards. Two customs guards are stationed on the platform at Bajo Grande. They must be provided with sleeping quarters on the ship and seated in the officers' mess for their meals. Non-compliance may cause cargo stoppage and fines. The Customs Guard will request master to countersign his time on board the vessel. This is counted from time first hose was connected until all hoses were disconnected, regardless of whether vessel was receiving cargo or not.

(c) Plimsoll Marks. Port Captain requires that Plimsoll marks be readily visible. If they are not clearly legible, permission to sail may be withheld.

(d) Marine Stores/Charts. Marine stores are available in limited supply. Marine charts are not available.

(e) Compass Adjusters. There are no compass adjusters in Maracaibo.

(f) Classification. American Bureau of Shipping and Lloyd's Register have Agents in Maracaibo.

(g) Cash Advance. Cash advances are made only in local currency (Bolivares). In order that money be available on arrival, Masters are requested to include the amount required in the arrival message.

(h) Launch Service. The launch is primarily for the use of the port staff, but will transport crew when convenient.

(i) Taxi. Taxi service is generally available at Bajo Grande. It is recommended that the price be fixed in advance.

(j) Crew in Transit. In case a crew member is left ashore for a justified cause, as hospitalisation, repatriation, etc., his documents and personal effects are to be delivered to the port supervisor at Bajo Grande before sailing. A letter is required from the Master with detailed instructions as to maximum cash advance etc. All expenses incurred by such members are for vessel's account.

(k) Gangways. The ship is to supply a safe gangway, which allows easy access to the vessel. Chevronmar has a gangway which may be used at request with the understanding that any damage to the gangway or ship or shore personnel through its use may be held against the ship.

SAFETY: Vessel must be in readiness to move at all times. The attention of Masters of turbine steamers is called to this regulation.

Ship's fire-fighting equipment must be ready for instant use while vessel is alongside. Shore personnel will render assistance in an emergency but, since no fire-boats are stationed in the immediate area, vessels should be prepared to combat fire without outside assistance. It is necessary to obtain docking Master's approval for repairs of propelling machinery. Normal safety precautions apply, no smoking is permitted on the pier. No hotwork is permitted on vessels alongside without a written permission from the Port Supervisor. Swimming alongside pier is dangerous and absolutely prohibited.

CARGO TEMPERATURE: On short voyages, as for instance to the U.S.A., it was proved most practical to maintain the loading temperature. On longer voyages, as for instance to Europe, the temperature may be dropped to 130 °F, which does no harm as long as sufficient time is given to bring the temperature up again to that required for discharging. Masters should, however, not expect a temperature rise of more than 5°F per day, especially if the sea temperature is low. The heat transfer properties of Boscan Crude are very poor as are those of the heavy products made from this crude. Many ships have been delayed at the discharging port due to too low cargo temperature. Without exception, Boscan Crude, Topped Boscan and cutback asphalts should have at least 160°F on arrival in discharge port.

DISCHARGE: Boscan Crude has a flash point of 90–160°F and a maximum viscosity of 1400 SSF at 140°F. The viscosity at other temperatures follows the pattern of other petroleum products. Boscan Crude has been successfully handled in ships fitted with both reciprocating and centrifugal type pumps with forward and after pump rooms respectively. It is generally found that this crude can best be handled at a temperature which brings its viscosity to about 600 SSF 160°F. Vessels with forward pumproom should control stern trim so that it does not exceed about four feet while stripping the after tanks. Also a five-degree list is very helpful when stripping. Once the cargo gets below heating coils, tanks must be pumped empty as fast as possible. At times if has been found helpful to gather tanks strippings into a single tank for discharge ashore, as it is very difficult to strip against heavy back pressures. Watch reciprocating pumps for vapour-lock. Because of high viscosity, proper care should be taken that no oil is left in vessel discharge lines at low temperature.

TANK CLEANING: (After Discharge). Many Masters have expressed concern over tank cleaning after discharge. Assuming that ship proceeds to sea for this operation and has sufficient time for proper execution, vessel may be cleaned quite thoroughly using the butterworth system. However, it is of vital importance that the system be used at maximum pressure, and temperature not below 160 PSI and 170°F respectively. At these readings and with two machines, it has been found that about four hours are required for each tank. It is of important to keep the tanks well stripped during the butterworthing.

Some Masters prefer to steam out the tanks before butterworthing. If this course is adopted care should be taken that the steaming does not last more than one hour as the heat will drive off the light ends of the oil and leave a rubbery residue that is very difficult to remove.

It has been found helpful to keep the machines in low position for about one hour and then high – middle and low in order, in the usual manner.

Section B

LA ESTACADA: 10.42 N. 71.32 W.

(N.B. For important details of Documentation, Pilotage etc., see "Maracaibo Lake").

OPERATORS: Texaco Maracaibo Inc.

LOCATION: Loading terminal in the Lake of Maracaibo at La Estacada, located at 10° 42′ 30″ N. and 71° 31′ 40″ W. Entrance and leaving this terminal is made between buoys B.65 and B.66.

DOCUMENTS: As soon as vessel is safely moored Texaco's marine dispatcher will board the ship together with the port authorities.

PILOTAGE: (see "Maracaibo Lake").

1. All vessels must call Texacomar on 2182 kc when passing the E.M. buoy and when embarking the Pilot at San Carlos.

2. Reduce speed approaching inner channel buoy B–63; rig accommodation ladder starboard side properly illuminated. Company mooring master will board between B–63 and B–65.

3. Listen during transit on 2182 kc.

4. In event of unforeseen circumstances requiring vessels to anchor, area West of Estacada Northern buoy mooring outside of channel limits will be used.

Vessels proceeding to La Estacada Terminal must enter the Outer Channel and embark the Government Pilot between buoys B–25 and B–27. After vessel arrives in the vicinity of the E.M. buoy, Master must contact San Carlos Pilot Station by radio-telephone on frequency 2182 kc requesting Pilot between buoys B–25 and B–27.

Once Pilot is on board, the vessel will proceed to Estacada, reducing speed in vicinity of Inner Channel buoys B–63 and B–65 where Texaco's mooring master will board. Vessel should have a strong line ready to hoist Texaco's mariner radio on board. The official Pilot will stay on board until vessel is moored.

MAX. SIZE: Water depth in both buoy moorings is 44 ft. mean monthly observed lowest water (MMOLW). Because of the depth of the surrounding approaches, 41 ft. (MMOLW), admissable mid ship's maximum draft in both moorings is 39 ft. freshwater. Under certain tidal conditions, however, with vessels over 60,000 DWT and LOA exceeding 750 ft., it may be necessary to restrict loading to 38 ft. 6 in. Masters are requested to be guided by Mooring Masters in appropriate draft to be loaded.

Berth No. 2 will accommodate vessels up to 850 ft. LOA, and Berth No. 1 up to 720 ft. LOA. Beam in both berths is unlimited.

RADIO: Information to be cabled to Texaco Maracaibo Inc. Cable address: "Dekok, Texacomar, Maracaibo".

Upon vessel's departure from the last port bound for La Estacada, cable 72–48 and 24 hours ETA at San Carlos pilot station, including in this message last port, Master's name, if a.c. current on board and any requirements. If diverted, cable original destination, also have 5 copies of diversion cable ready on arrival. If the vessel is nominated to load a part cargo only at La Estacada, indicate at which port cargo will be completed. All cables should be sent via PJA (Curacao Radio) and via ITT all American Cables.

BERTHING: (a) Description: Marine Oil Loading Terminal, owned by Texaco Inc., is an off-shore installation and consists of two permanent buoy moorings, No. 1 to the South, and No. 2 to the North.

Berths No. 1 and No. 2 consist of 4 fourteen-foot cylindrical steel buoys, each fitted with a pelican hook to which ship's mooring lines are attached by Texaco's mooring launches. On each buoy there are two 1⅜ in improved plow steel wirelines to supplement mooring lines in order to provide additional security during strong winds. In berth No. 1 the plow steel wires are 520 ft. long and in berth No. 2 585 ft.

Both berths are two directional; ships moored heading North or South according to prevailing current.

(b) Deballasting. No facilities at La Estacada to receive dirty ballast, Ballast must be clean, and is discharged into the Lake.

(c) Mooring. All ships should have an adequate supply of stoppers or other special equipment necessary to handle wires attached on mooring buoys. Vessels mooring in berths must be equipped with four ropes for ward and four ropes aft. Vessels are cautioned that good quality ropes are essential and that they will be held liable for any damage occurring through improper or poor mooring ropes or inability to properly handle same.

Vessels in buoy moorings must have deck winches in readiness for use at all times. Method of berthing wil! be at discretion of Company's mooring master, as weather and other conditions permit. During berthing and unberthing, ship's engines, tackle and all other gear must be in operative condition and in a state of readiness for use on immediate notice.

Weather permitting, and berths being available, vessels may be berthed at any hour of the day or night. Mooring buoys are properly lighted. Texaco's mooring master will assist in mooring the vessel in berth No. 1 or 2. Loading hoses can be connected both port and starboard side, according to ship's position. The mooring master will remain on board ship to advise on connecting and disconnecting loading hoses, and loading of cargo. He will later unmoor vessel and hand over to government Pilot on departure.

Mooring Master acts as adviser only and the Master retains full responsibility at all times. When ship is in position and mooring wires tautened, mooring winches such as tension winches must have their manual brakes put on securely, and should not rely on automatic rendering devices.

During time vessel is at the berth, frequent and regular inspection of mooring is essential to ensure that mooring lines are kept taut and that movement of ship is kept to a minimum. When tugs are alongside or assisting a tanker, all cargo openings, permanent ballast tanks, lids and pump-room doors must be closed no matter what grade oil is being or has been carried, unless these spaces are gas-free.

The mooring operations are carried out by two mooring launches and two tugs.

TUGS: Use of two tugs of at least 1,600 h.p. is compulsory for mooring and unmooring at La Estacada (Government Decree). Use of two mooring launches with crew including a diver, who inspects the submarine loading hoses, is compulsory at La Estacada. These mooring launches remain alongside ship during stay in berth order act in any emergency.

TANK INSPECTION: As soon as all ballast is discharged and hoses connected, production supervisor from La Estacada boards to inspect ship's tanks. If same are dry and clean he will sign corresponding certificate.

LOADING: Berth No. 1 has two loading lines (one 24 in. and one 16 in.) with corresponding manifold, and Berth No. 2 also has two lines (one 24 in. and one 18 in.). Twelve-inch – 150 pds. marine loading hoses are used. Each berth capable of a maximum loading rate of 25,000 barrels per hour, with an appropriate reduction for topping-off.

However, maximum loading rate entirely at Company's option and will vary according to circumstances and type of tanker concerned. When completing loading, stoppage of cargo will be determined on board, and Masters are requested to inform mooring master at least 30 minutes in advance in order reduce pumping rate for topping-off. Mooring master will be in continuous contact with pumping station by means of portable radio. Should this means of communication fail, the following signals on ship's whistle will apply:

One long blast	Stand by
Two long blasts	Commence pumping
Three long blasts	Stop pumping

Upon completion of loading, marine dispatcher, together with ship's officer, will gauge ship's tanks and later prepare cargo documentation.

FUEL: Bunkers and marine fuels supplied by barge before or after loading operation at anchorage. Chevron, Creole, and Shell have bunker service in Maracaibo.

FRESH WATER: Must be ordered with first ETA cable so that arrangement can be made with supplier. A water barge and a tug must be hired. Although the water may be supplied by Texaco, the hire of tug and barge is very expensive. Recommended that Masters obtain adequate fresh water at other ports.

REPAIRS: Only smaller repairs can be effected locally; however, technicians available for radio and radar repairs.
SHORE LEAVE: Launch is primarily for use of authorities and company staff, but will effect trips for crew if required by Master. Contact mooring master who will make necessary arrangements.
GUARDS: One National Guard stationed on board. He must be provided sleeping quarters and seated in officers' mess for meals.
CLEARANCE: Immediately after termination of loading operations, hoses are disconnected and Texaco's mooring master will proceed to unmoor vessel. In the meantime, cargo documents are prepared by Agency personnel, the government Pilot is ordered, and as soon as vessel is cleared, she will proceed to her destination.
CURRENT/DENSITY/TIDE: Current velocity maximum 4 knots. Nature of bottom, mud. Salinity of water, 997–1003. The tidal range in feet for the Estacada Terminal is springs 1.5 neaps 0.5.
GENERAL: (a) Cash Advance. Cash advance will be in local currency (Bolivares). Cable in advance any such requirements.

(b) Mail. Outgoing correspondence may be given to our marine dispatcher. For personal mail (crew) a list should be made, indicating name of crew member, quantity of letters and destinations.

(c) Ship Chandlers. Two ship chandlers in Maracaibo who can supply vessels with fresh meat, fish, vegetables, fruits, etc. Requirements should be transmitted in first ETA cable.

AGENT: Texaco Maracaibo Inc.

LA SALINA: 10.22 N. 71.28 W.

(N.B. For important details of Documentation, Pilotage etc., see "Maracaibo Lake".)
OPERATORS: All terminal facilities are under the control of the Creole Petroleum Corporation.
APPROACH: Entrance and leaving this terminal is made between buoys B.97 and B.98.
LOCATION: La Salina located on Eastern shore of Lake Maracaibo, in latitude 10° 22′ 18″ N., longitude 71° 27′ 49″ W.
CARGO DOCUMENTS: These are generally placed on board prior to departure. Vessels whose Master accepts the early departure procedure may sail with documents in blank. Figures are then radioed for inclusion in blank documents. Outward clearance documents are placed on board the vessel prior to departure.
PILOTAGE: In the event that no contact can be made with San Carlos pilotage station, or if there is a language problem, contact should be made with Creole Marine at La Salina by voice radio on 2182 kc or 156·6 Mc.

A vessel entering or leaving the harbour must be assisted by a Docking Master in the general employ of area furnished by Creole Petroleum Corporation, an inbound vessel being boarded by him at the anchorage area approximately 3 miles off shore.
ANCHORAGE: For vessels awaiting berth there is an anchorage area located West of a line between rig L–175 to buoy S3 and the light buoys M1, M1A and S1 (chart No. MO-G-4-C) about 3 miles West of the loading Terminal in 6 to 7 fathoms of water with a mud bottom.
RESTRICTIONS: None. The port is open for navigation during the day and night, allowing ships to enter and sail at any hour.
MAX. SIZE: Up to 110,000 DWT. The access channel to La Salina has a least depth of 41 ft.
RADIO: The cable and telegraphic address for the Creole Petroleum Corporation at La Salina is "Creole La Salina". Radio messages to and from ships at sea are routed through the government radio station at Maiquetia (La Guaira) call letters YVG. This station operates on a 24 hour continuous watch, on the following frequencies: Listening frequencies: long wave: 500 kc/s; short wave: 4178–6267–8356–12534–16712–22225 kc/s.

Transmitting frequencies: long wave: 500–472–464–417 kc/s; short wave: 17141.6–12817.5–8730–8722–6519.5–6505.5–4352–4322 kc/s.

Radio notice of arrival should be sent 72 hours prior to arrival at La Salina and corrected if weather or other conditions delay the vessel.

La Salina Port Services section maintains radio-telephone listening watches on a 24 hour basis on following frequencies: 2182 kc/s., 156·8 Mc/s.

Frequencies 2638 kc/s, 2738 kc/s, 2120 kc/s and 156·6 Mc/s are available for use after initial contact on one of the above listening frequencies.

All vessels en route to La Salina may also communicate with Creole Amuay or Caripito Marine offices and request that messages dealing with corrected ETA's, pilots and other business be relayed to the La Salina Marine Office.
TUGS: Creole maintains one 3,000 h.p. diesel tug and one 1,300 h.p. diesel tug. Tug-boat assistance is considered essential and is afforded all vessels entering, leaving or shifting in the harbour.
BERTHING: At La Salina, Creole maintains a deep-water terminal (Lacustre) consisting of an island where are located two finger piers, each 1,100 ft. in length and 500 ft. between piers, providing four berths to accommodate tankers up to 110,000 DWT. Berths are numbered 6N, 6S, 7N and 7S, from North to South. At these berths various crudes can be loaded simultaneously. In addition there is an offshore platform (Pier No. 3) where liquefied petroleum gases (Butane and Propane) can be loaded and refined products can be loaded or discharged.

Instructions concerning berthing are given by Port Services Section by means of radio-telephone.

The use of an anchor when docking is permitted at all berths. It is considered prudent to have the outboard anchor hove-out prior to entering the harbour in order to facilitate speedy release if necessary while docking. The Pilot will advise whether the ship is to be berthed port or starboard side to the dock.
BALLAST: Vessels should arrive at La Salina with sufficient ballast to permit safe handling. Docking Master requirements in this connection under normal weather conditions are interpreted as drawing approximately 8 ft. forward, 18 ft. aft. on a T–2 or similar type tanker, and 11 ft. forward, 20 ft. aft on a 26,000 DWT, or larger type vessel.

Ballast should be carried in a minimum number of tanks, and all other tanks stripped, so as to minimize deballasting time.

It has been established that one of the major causes of contamination of crude oil is the relatively small amount of salt water remaining in the ship's tanks, pumps, and ballast lines after ballast discharge. This very small amount of salt, nevertheless, frequently results in costly damage and downtime to refining equipment, besides presenting many other processing problems.

It is therefore requested that the full co-operation of the Master and Officers of ships loading for Aruba, be given to ensure that all ballast tanks and lines are flushed with lake water and stripped as dry as possible.

Vessels equipped with a separate and completely segregated system of ballast tanks, lines and pumps, will be permitted to discharge ballast and load cargo simultaneously, providing approval of both the pier foreman and Petroleum Inspector is secured.

A pier supervisor who is in direct communication with the loading pumphouse is stationed at each pier during the entire time the vessel is discharging ballast or cargo or receiving cargo.

Absolutely oil-free ballast may be discharged overside. All dirty ballast must be pumped ashore. A 34 in. ballast line, with dirty ballast treating facilities are available.

If it is desired to follow the "load-on-top" procedure it is requested that the marine representative be informed on arrival.
LOADING: Instructions as to grade or grades of cargo, and the approximate loading rate anticipated, will be given to the Master on arrival. Supplementary information including number and size of lines and Chicksan Arms will be furnished to the Chief Officer before loading commences. Loading rates will be reduced as required when topping off.

If vessel's loading order from owners or characters do not agree with the terminal's orders, either as to grades or quantity, the marine representative should be advised immediately. The terminal is authorised to load 10% more or less than the quantity nominated; if the cargo to be lifted will be more or less than this 10% limitation it is necessary to cable Creole New York for confirmation.

A terminal employee is stationed at each pier during the entire time the ship is discharging ballast, bunkering, or loading cargo. Fifteen minutes "standby" notice should be given to this man prior to completion of ballast, bunkers, or cargo.

Shut-down controls for all crude oil pumps are available at each loading berth at ship's rail of loading vessels for use in case of emergency only.
LOADING RATES: Loading operations at La Salina Terminal are normally carried out at relatively high pumping rates; up to an average of 40,000 BPH. Ship's officer will be advised by the pier supervisor at what rate the cargo will be loaded. LPG is loaded up to an average maximum rate of 7,500 BPH at Platform No. 3.

The loading and discharging of all crude petroleum and its products will be stopped during the passage of an electric storm, and ullage covers must be closed and dogged down. During periods of calms, loading of gasoline or other similar low flash products may be at lower rates or loading stopped if the heavy vapours are not being dispersed quickly enough to prevent hazards from accumulated gas pockets. Ships' officers are cautioned to be on their guard during such conditions.

Loading rates will be reduced when topping off, if requested by the ship's officer.
MEDICAL: Complete medical, dental and hospitalisation facilities are available at La Salina. Medical treatment is provided at a Creole operated clinic.

Authorisation forms for medical treatment are provided which require the Master's signature. Transportation will be supplied by Port Services section.

If the patient does not speak Spanish or English, an interpreter should accompany him.
FRESH WATER: A limited supply of fresh and boiler water is available at La Salina Lacustre Terminal. Delivery is made through 2½ in. National Standard Fire Hose Thread hydrants at a charge of Bs. 6,75 per metric ton. Ship's personnel must provide hoses and connect up.
FUEL: Bunker C fuel oil, marine diesel and intermediate fuels are available at La Salina Terminal Lacustre. Delivery is made alongside Piers 6 or 7 by 8 in. diameter Chicksan hose, located about midship's.

It is the responsibility of the ship's engineer to give "stand-by" notice to the terminal employee and advise him when to shut down.

Supplies of Essomarine lubricating oils are available. Delivery will be effected while loading and requirements should be incorporated in the ETA radio.
WEATHER CONDITIONS: The weather in La Salina is dominated by a daily cycle of land and sea (or lake), breezes. During the hot part of the day (say 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.) a gentle breeze usually blows from lake to land. During the night it blows from land to lake.

During the rainy season, generally May through November, with May and October the wettest months, 90% of the year's thunderstorms (Chubasco) occur. They have an average duration of 18 to 20 minutes and wind velocity of 20 m.p.h., although a few have winds greater than 25 m.p.h. During this season the chubasco blows from the sector 270 degrees to 0.45 degrees and can occur at any hour. During the dry season a chubasco is most likely to occur between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. and can blow from any direction.

Average annual rainfall is 28 inches.

DENSITY: The average density at the berth is 1002 but varies dependent upon amount of rainfall. The temperature ranges from 82° to 86°F.

TIDES: The normal range of tides at La Salina varies between 4 and 5½ inches dependent to some extent upon seasonal rains.

REPAIRS: The Marine Port Staff will assist with emergency repairs as may be required in each case depending upon availability of competent personnel and equipment. The company's shop facilities while not equipped for extensive ship repairs, may be made available to fabricate or repair items that are urgently required.

The nearest dry docks are those at Puerto Cabello and Curacao, N.A. Several contractors in the area provide labour for hull painting and for tank cleaning. Contracts for these services are made by the ship's Master directly with the contractor.

Radio technicians are available for minor repairs. With sufficient advance notice a radar specialist can be arranged to board the ships at La Salina.

CONSULATES: The following countries have consular representatives in the area:

Belgium	El Salvador	Nicaragua
Chile	France	Panama
Columbia	Germany (West)	Peru
Costa Rica	Great Britain	Spain
Denmark	Guatemala	Sweden
Dominican Rep.	Italy	Switzerland
Ecuador	Netherlands	U.S.A.
	Norway

SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave is permitted and a representative of the Captain of the Port boards on arrival and issues the required number of passes. Shore passes are to be collected prior to sailing, and given to Pilot undocking the vessel. Vessels are not permitted to sail until all crew members are on board, unless hospitalised or prior arrangements made for disembarking. No launch service for liberty parties is available while vessel is anchored off La Salina awaiting berth.

GENERAL: Representatives of the Marine Department board vessels immediately on arrival, and it is particularly requested that Masters indicate at that time all ships requirements. The Marine Office Building is located at the Pierhead Trestle and personnel are available for assistance at all hours.

(a) Bonded Stores. Cigarettes or other stores in bond are not obtainable in La Salina.

(b) Cash Advances. Cash advances are made in local currency, the Venezuelan Bolivar with a rate of exchange of Bs. 4.50 to the U.S. dollar. The latter may be freely converted at banks, hotels, etc., at rates ranging from Bs. 4.54 to Bs. 4.75. Cash requirements should be included in the ETA radio.

(c) Charts. On first arrival of each tanker, the Marine Dispatcher will furnish a set of local charts if required. No supplies of U.S. Hydrographic or British Admiralty charts, or sailing directions, are available.

(d) Classification Societies. American Bureau and Lloyd's Register have non-exclusive Agents in Maracaibo, and qualified Masters and Chief Engineers are available for appointment as Surveyors when required.

(e) Gangways. All vessels using the port of La Salina must provide a safe gangway, unless there is a rotating telescopic counterweighted gangway in operation on the pier. The use of rung ladders, pilot ladders, etc., is contrary to port regulations and port authorities will not board except by means of a safe gangway or accommodation ladder.

(f) Plimsoll Marks. The Captain of the port requires that the Plimsoll Marks of all vessels using the port be clearly visible. Vessels may be checked on completion of loading, and if the Plimsoll Marks are not readily legible, permission to sail may be withheld.

(g) Port Services. On arrival at La Salina terminal, a company representative boards vessels, so it is particularly requested that Masters make known to him all ship's requirements. Master should bear in mind that while vessels are within Venezueland territorial waters, Government authorities do not permit the use of ship's radio equipment. Cables and radiograms should be handed to the company representative for transmittal via shore radio communication system. La Salina has also radio telephone communication with North and South America and Europe. For further information contact Port Services Section in the terminal building, tel. 88694 and 88695.

(h) Ratguards. By order of the Port Authorities, vessels are required to use ratguards on all mooring lines.

(i) Personnel – Seamen left ashore. In the case of seamen left ashore for hospitalisation, repatriation or other reason, his documents and personal effects are to be delivered to the Marine Office in La Salina before sailng. A letter is required from the Master advising maximum advances to be made to seaman if any, and instructions concerning his repatriation. All expenses incurred by seamen left ashore, including cost of repatriation, are for ship's account.

It is important that Masters bear in mind that the Venezuelan law will at all times hold the vessel, her Master, Agent or Owner, responsible for any seamen left behind in Venezuela.

(j) Provisions and stores. Fresh and dry provisions are supplied by various shipchandlers in Maracaibo and Cabimas (La Salina). Master should deliver his signed requisition to the Marine Department representative who boards on arrival. Provisions would then be delivered to the vessel while loading. The prices and quality of some items, such as fresh fruit, fish, shrimps, vegetables, etc., are competitive; dry stores are considerably higher than in most ports. The Fleet Steward will assist in filling requisitions. It is important that the Master sign the ship-chandlers invoice as authorisation for the Marine Department to make settlement.

(k) Mail. Any pending ship's mail will be delivered on board by the Marine Dispatcher on arrival at La Salina. At same time he will receive ship's mail to be dispatched. The Marine Dispatcher will accept personal mail only if it carries the proper amount of Venezuelan postage, or if Master authorises the postage by signing seven copies of the Company Postal Transmittal form. Masters interested in knowing the individual postage amounts to be paid by each crew member, should provide us with a list, in duplicate, of the senders, and number of letters sent by each one identified by a number written on each letter.

Copy of this list will be returned aboard the vessel when leaving this port outward bound. If not ready on time, it will be airmailed to the vessel's next port of call.

(l) Inspection of Petroleum Products and Crude Oil. Chas. Martin & Company and E. W. Saybolt petroleum inspectors are available if specified.

(m) Laundry. Laundry service is available between 0700 and 1700 on week-days. No guarantee can be given on time of delivery. Cost is about Bs. 2.00 per kilo for all flat work.

Section E

PUERTO MIRANDA: 10.46 N. 71.34 W.

(N.B. For important details of Documentation, Pilotage, etc., see "Maracaibo Lake".)

LOCATION: Situated at Eastern shore of entrance to lake of Maracaibo, in position lat. 10° 46′ N., long. 71° 34′ W.

OPERATORS: Compañia Shell de Venezuela Ltd.

CLEARANCE: Pratique and Custom's clearance will be granted on arrival either at the anchorage or after the vessel has been berthed. Masters therefore requested to have the accommodation ladder ready on arrival to avoid delays, since the Government Officials do not board the vessels by pilot ladder.

On arrival when pratique is requested, all vessels should fly International flag signal "Q", or show a yellow light during hours of darkness.

PILOTAGE: On arrival Puerto Miranda under Government Pilot's advice the vessel will be boarded by company Berthing Master, who will assist Master in docking vessel. He will also assist in undocking.

CHANNEL: Channel has a leading mark formed by the towers "P" and "M" and is marked by buoys.

(1) Incoming traffic bound for Puerto Miranda must leave the main channel between the buoys B–59 and B–61 towards the anchorage.
(2) Vessels coming from the Lake in ballast or to complete cargo at Puerto Miranda must leave the main channel when passing the buoy B–63 on their starboard side and proceed in the direction of Jetty 3 towards the anchorage.
(3) Vessels with draft up to 37 ft. 6 in. on leaving Puerto Miranda should enter the Main Channel by the buoyed exit channel marked by the buoys numbered AP–3, AP–2, AP–1 and B–57–B.
(4) Vessels with draft over 37 ft. 6 in. on leaving Puerto Miranda should navigate in the leading line Punta Gorda – Jetty 2 until buoy "P.M." (white flash) is passed and entered the main channel south of buoy B–63.

Once the ship is unmoored, the Berthing Master on duty at Puerto Miranda will emphasise to the official Pilots the route to be followed in each case.

MAX. SIZE: The maximum permissible draft is 39 ft. even keel, including the ship's sagging when taking the advantages of high water. Otherwise, draft must be in accordance with depth available at time of departure, which under no circumstances can be higher than 39 ft.

RADIO: Port Services Office equipped with radio-telephone installation operating on 24 hours basis, transmitting on following frequencies (simplex press to talk system).

		Int. Channel
Approach calling and safety	156·8 Mc/s	No. 16
CSV and other tankers port operations	156·6 ,,	No. 12
Emergency calling	2·182 kc/s.

ARRIVAL ADVICE: Vessels equipped with radio-telephone installation operating on above frequencies are requested call Puerto Miranda about three hours before arrival at port. Calls made in Spanish language will be answered promptly, since there is always a Spanish-speaking clerk on duty. Calls in English will be answered by Berthing Master on duty, except when he is occupied, in which case the call should be repeated later on, as an alternative, the Master could ask Government Pilot to report in Spanish his vessel to Puerto Miranda. During hours of darkness all vessels must identify themselves on arrival, either by radio-telephone or Aldis lamp.

TUGS: Two 1600 h.p. motor-tugs will assist all vessels in docking and undocking and also one or two mooring launches will be standing by to take ropes.

BALLAST: Discharge of oil or water polluted by oil into lake waters is prohibited and will incur heavy fines and compensation to beach owners and fishermen for cleaning nets.

All dirty ballast must be discharged ashore. Clean ballast in cargo tanks may only be pumped overboard after prior consultation with Port Services Dept. Deballasting line pressure must not exceed 100 lb. p.s.i. Vessels equipped with a special separate and clean ballast system are to discharge their ballast into lake.

Ocean vessels should be ballasted on arrival E.M. Buoy for inward passage with minimum ballast necessary for safe handling, taking into consideration Article 31 of Maracaibo Pilotage Zone Regulations, which states all vessels entering lake Maracaibo shall have a trim of no more than 8 ft., to permit safe navigation through channels.

One of the major causes of contamination of crude oil is relatively small amount of salt water remaining in ships tanks, pumps and ballast lines after ballast discharge. This very small amount of salt, nevertheless, frequently results in costly damage and down-time to refining equipment, besides presenting many other processing problems. It is therefore requested that full co-operation of Master and officers be given to ensure that all ballast tanks and lines are stripped as dry as possible.

MOORING: Vessels are to be moored to satisfaction of Pier Master. A suitable gangway will be provided by shore installation. When it is out of order vessel's gangway has to be used, which will be notified on VHF telephone before arrival at E.M. buoy.

Vessels of any deadweight must secure with at least: Forward: Two headlines; four breasting ropes fibre or two wires of 1¼ in. diam. minimum each connected by a 2½ in. shackle to a 1½ in. diam. shore wire, plus one polypropylene line from jetty in berths 1, 2, 5 or 6; one spring. Aft: Two sternlines; four breasting ropes fibre or two wires of 1¼ in. diam. minimum each connected by a 2½ in. shackle to a 1¼ in. diam. shore wire plus one polypropylene line from jetty in berths 1, 2, 5 or 6; one spring.

When vessel are fitted with tension winches (forward and aft) the following ropes are required:

Forward: Two headlines; two wires from tension winches as breasting lines plus one polypropylene line from jetty in berths numbered 1, 2, 5 or 6; one spring. Aft: Two sternlines; two wires from tension winches as breasting lines plus one polypropylene line from jetty in berths numbered 1, 2, 5 or 6; one spring.

When vessels are nominated to load at berth 1 or 2 of Jetty 2 one extra headline and a second spring is required. Vessel's best ropes or wires should be used as breasting lines.

LOADING: Vessels should load in accordance with International Loadlines Regulations taking into account maximum permissible draft at this Terminal and also at Maracaibo bar channel.

The Captain of the Port requires that the load-line marks of all vessels using the port be clearly visible. If Harbour Authorities should refuse to pilot an out-going vessel due to being overloaded, Master will be held responsible for all delays, expenses, in connection with discharging any overloaded cargo and all further losses.

Vessels' maximum permitted loading rate should always be required. Maximum shore loading rate is 7.000 M.T. per hour, using two shore lines and four hoses.

Following ship's whistle signals should be used for loading: Two blasts = Stand by (15 minutes prior completion of cargo and or part cargo). One blast = Stop (2 minutes prior to complete cargo and or part cargo).

EMERGENCIES: In order to deal quickly and efficiently with any emergency during loading/deballasting operations, the following equipment is available:

(a) Control for quick closing of shore manifold valves. This is a red-painted hydraulic valve situated on the ship/shore gangway. In the event of a spillage aboard, this valve must be opened. Within ninety seconds the shore manifold valves will close against the loading pumps.

(b) Direct ship/shore telephone. This is a red telephone and in order to obtain instant communication with the loading supervisor in the Control Room it is only necessary to lift the receiver. An Alarm Bell will alert the supervisor and a light will advise him from which berth the call originated.

FUEL: Available ex wharf: Bunker "C", thin fuels from 200 to 3500 seconds Redwood 1 at 100 deg. F., and marine diesel. Delivery rate 400 and 80 tons respectively. Gas oil, F. oil and thin fuels may be supplied by barge ex Maracaibo delivered at anchor, at a maximum rate of 110 and 140 tons.

FRESH WATER: Available on all jetties with a loading rate between 20 and 30 tons per hour. This depends on number of vessels at the same time. Price: Bs 10.00 per M. Tons (approx.).

MEDICAL: Ship's personnel may visit local doctor on week-days between 0700 and 1130 hours, or 1400 and 1700. Outside these hours, or in cases which require special treatment, patients receive attention in Maracaibo. Written request for medical attendance, as well as a shore pass, is always required.

CUSTOMS: One opened packet of cigarettes allowed to be taken from vessel by each crew member when going ashore. Masters advised to strongly caution crew against attempted smuggling.

SHORE LEAVE: Not granted until shore passes are stamped and signed by Authorities. Passes must be shown to guards at gangway and gates. Crew members must be properly dressed (long trousers and shirt) before proceeding ashore. Master must collect all passes and return them to Agent before vessel's departure.

GENERAL: (a) Tides: In view of the available depth in the channels which allow navigation to all vessels up to about 47.000 DWT fully laden at all states of tide, permanent prediction tide tables for calculating the ship's sailing draft have been prepared by the Instituto Nacional de Canalizaciones (INC), and they will send on board ships of over 47.000 DWT when required.

(b) Currents: The tidal current (Lunar tide) at this port can at times be very strong and subject to changes. Usually outgoing tide runs for 7 to 8 hours against 4 to 5 hours for incoming tide. Direction approx. at right angles to jetty.

(c) Movement of Passengers: Embarkation or disembarkation of passengers through this port is not allowed by Venezuelan law, as this Terminal is only authorised by the Treasury Ministry (Ministerio de Hacienda) exclusively for exporting crude oil.

(d) Short Dispatch Procedure: This procedure is available for ships loading cargoes consigned to Shell Companies.

(e) Failure to rejoin vessel: If any member of crew is not aboard at sailing time, Authorities will not clear vessel although permission may be given to proceed to anchorage if the berth is required. If sailing permission is granted, Master is required to sign letter accepting all costs in connection with missing crew member to be for Owner's account.

(f) Launch Service. A charge of Bs. 250.00 will be made for a round trip to Maracaibo, but launches are only available on written request by Master. Masters who have to go on business to Maracaibo (Agency or Consulates) can make use of public service launches.

(g) Proceeding to Cardon: Vessels proceeding to Cardon to load or to take bunkers, are required to have ready on arrival Cardon:

4 Lists of Deck and Engine Stores and Spares.
4 Lists of Stewards Stores.
6 Lists of Personal Effects.
6 Crew Lists.

In order to prevent delays it is imperative that these documents are presented to the port officials when they board to clear the vessel.

(h) Loading for Curacao: Unless Master requests otherwise, arrangements will be made for Government Pilot to board ship one hour after vessel has signalled "stand-by".

(i) Guards: Custom Guards (Guardia Nacional) will be posted on all vessels and Masters are reminded that these guards must be accommodated and treated in the same manner as ships' officers. Non-compliance entails not only a fine but will result in delays in clearance and cargo operations.

(j) Visitors: Only persons on business allowed on piers. Visitors, as guests of Master, allowed board vessels provided a written and signed request presented by Master to Port Services Department. Further particulars covering procedure for obtaining permits for visitors can be obtained from Port Services Office.

(k) Cables and mail: Crew mail list forms put on board all vessels when entering Puerto Miranda. Crew's private mail accepted for posting provided all letters bear the sender's name and a list in duplicate is prepared showing addresses and sender. One copy of list will be forwarded to Master showing individual charges. Cables can be dispatched at all times.

(l) Norwegian Government Seamen Service: A field representative of the above service is stationed at Puerto Miranda providing Norwegian and Swedish film exchange and other usual services.

(m) Charts – Nautical publications: On arrival of each tanker the Agency Representative will furnish a set of lake charts if required. No supplies of U.S. Hydrographic or British Admiralty charts or Sailing Directions, Nautical Almanac, etc., are available at this port.

(n) American Crew List: Vessels sailing for U.S. ports requested have American Crew List ready on arrival, so it can be forwarded to U.S. Consulate without delay.

(o) Films Exchange: Films may be exchanged at this Terminal.

(p) Fire Alarm: Each Friday morning at 1000 hours there will be a test of fire alarms including sirens at the wharves. Before the test will be a warning message in English and Spanish.

(q) Cash Advances. Local currency is Venezuelan Bolivar and cash advances are made only in this currency. It is requested that any requirement for cash advances be included in vessel's ETA radio, to permit delivery on board on arrival.

REGULATIONS: Following regulations should be strictly observed by Masters of vessels alongside jetties. Non-compliance with these instructions entails not only a fine but delays in cargo operations.

Use of rafts for painting the ship's sides is strictly prohibited.

Lifeboats should not be lowered without the special permission of the Government Port Captaincy (obtainable on request).

Swimming in the harbour is strictly prohibited.

Waste water sanitary or other must not be discharged on jetty.

It is strictly prohibited to paint ship's name or others on jetties. When this occurs the vessel will be charged for the cleaning.

Painting in ships alongside is strictly prohibited.

Before commencing loading, all dock scuppers should be securely plugged.

It is necessary to keep a close and constant watch on moorings and to adjust when necessary. When adjusting, call for assistance of harbour tugs before slackening off any mooring lines.

PUNTA DE PALMAS: 10.26 N. 71.38 W.

(N.B. For important details of Documentation, Pilotage etc., see "Maracaibo Lake".)

OPERATORS: Venezuelan Sun Oil Co. Punta de Palmas Terminal is jointly owned by Venezuelan Sun Oil Company, as Terminal Operator; and Venezuelan Atlantic Refining Company, Texaco-Seaboard, Inc., Pan American Venezuela Oil Company, Signal Oil & Gas of Venezuela, Sohio Venezuela Company, Pure Oil Company of Venezuela, Inc., Hancock Venezuela Oil Company, Phillips Petroleum Company, Ashland Oil & Refining Co., El Paso Venezuela Company, Sunray DX Oil Company, Triangle Refineries Inc., Venezuelan Canadian Oils, C.A., Venezuelan Pacific Petroleum, C.A., and Murphy Oil Venezolano, S.A., as non-operators.

LOCATION: The terminal is located at Punta de Palmas del Sur, approximately 13 miles South of the port of Maracaibo on the West shore of Lake Maracaibo. The terminal proper may be identified by a 300 ft. radio tower, having two small red lights 200 ft. from base, and one large red light on top of tower. The top light flashes every two seconds.

CARGO DOCUMENTS: Vessel's clearance and cargo papers will be delivered to the Master on arrival in Maracaibo Harbour outbound. Venezuelan Sun will accept no responsibility for delay in clearing a vessel due to unavailability of personnel from offices of the Port Authorities.

CHANNEL: The channel between Punta Palmas and Maracaibo is 10 miles long with a minimum width of 244 m. and a maximum width of 305 m. Depth 45 ft.

LAKE PILOT: A government Pilot will assist each vessel from Maracaibo to Punta de Palmas, and on the outbound trip to Maracaibo. The government Pilot will also assist in the mooring and unmooring operations. The ship's Agent will inform the Master of each vessel, as well as the government Pilot, the mooring scheduled for berthing.

MAX. SIZE: The maximum permissible fresh water draft in Mooring No. 2 is 38 ft. 6 in. and the maximum length vessel this mooring will accommodate, is 835 ft. in length. Vessels exceeding 785 ft. in length must be equipped with two bow and two stern tension deck winches with sufficient wire rope to run a line to each of the bow and stern buoys.

The maximum permissible fresh water draft in Mooring No. 1 is 38 ft. and the maximum length vessel this mooring will accommodate is also 835 ft. in length. Deeper water exists to North-west of both moorings.

RADIO: When vessel departs from its last port bound for Punta de Palmas Terminal, the date of departure and best ETA Maracaibo should be cabled to Venezuelan Sun Oil Company in Maracaibo. At least 48 hours before arrival at pilot station the ETA should be sent by cable to Venezuelan Sun Oil Company. Vessel's nationality, Venezuelan net tonnage (if available, otherwise registered tonnage), last port, Master's name and all requirements (fuel, water, etc.) should be included in cable. The cable address for the company is "Sunoil Maracaibo". As the cable office in Maracaibo is not able to communicate directly with vessels at sea, messages to Sunoil Maracaibo, should be routed via PJC Curacao, and prefix the message "Via AAC" (All American Cables and Radio).

MEDICAL: Emergency cases only will be transported to Maracaibo for medical treatment.

BALLAST: Since there are no disposal facilities for dirty ballast at Punta de Palmas Terminal, it is imperative that vessels arrive with clean ballast as Venezuelan laws are very strict regarding contamination of lake water.

TUGS: Tug service consisting of two tugs of not less than 1600 h.p. each is provided by the terminal operator for all vessels. Both tugs will assist all vessels in mooring and unmooring operations. Should it be deemed necessary by the terminal operator to require a tug in addition to the two terminal tugs for mooring or unmooring vessels exceeding 750 ft. in length, charges for this additional service will be for the account of vessel.

MOORING: moorings are designed as No. 1 and No. 2 and are located approximately $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles off shore from the Terminal and approximately $1\frac{1}{4}$ miles due West of channel buoy B–95 and B–96 on the Maracaibo ship channel.

Mooring No. 2 is located North-east of Mooring No. 1 and is further off shore. Mooring No. 2 is equipped with two bow buoys, two stern buoys, and a starboard stern breasting piling with cable.

All vessels planning to moor in either Mooring No. 1 or Mooring No. 2 shall be equipped with mooring hawsers of sufficient length and strength to run two lines to each of the bow and stern buoys and shall use such equipment while in moorings. Vessels equipped with tension winches and cables shall utilise these in addition to mooring hawsers or alone if vessel has sufficient cables to meet minimum requirements of running two cables to each bow and stern buoy. For added security of those vessels not equipped with tension winches and/or cables, one steel cable will be furnished on each of the bow and stern buoys by Venezuelan Sun Oil Company. It should be recognised by all parties, that while use of these cables is strongly recommended, Venezuelan Sun Oil Company accepts no responsibilities for loss or damage to any vessel or to any facility or to any person that may result from failure of this equipment. Two carpenter stoppers are available with each mooring for handling the steel safety cables and their use is also recommended.

Vessels in excess of 750 ft. length are required to moor in Mooring No. 2 and must use their starboard bow anchor for mooring and starboard stern breasting cable furnished in this mooring.

For convenience and safety of all personnel boarding or unboarding while at Punta de Palmas, it is recommended that vessel's accommodation ladder be rigged on port side, this being lee side under prevailing weather conditions in this area. The ladder should be suspended after mooring master boards and during mooring operations to avoid being fouled by mooring tugs or launches.

Venezuelan Sun Oil Company's mooring master will board each vessel prior to entering mooring to establish radio contact between ship and tie-up launch as well as with terminal office. The Venezuelan Sun Oil Company's mooring master will assist in mooring and unmooring operations. It should be understood that mooring master acts only in an advisory capacity to the Master. The vessel's Master retains full responsibility at all times. Venezuelan Sun Oil Company assumes no responsibility in connection with any acts or advice given by the mooring master.

The tie-up launch will handle all mooring or pick-up lines before and after loading. Tug service is on call 24 hours per day from the main terminal harbour. The Venezuelan Sun Oil Company tie-up crew will assist the ship's crew in lifting and connecting the cargo hoses and in removing same on completion of loading. The approximate lift required to haul cargo hoses into connecting position is 4 tons. The tie-up launch will carry connections and other equipment to facilitate hose connecting, which will be at the disposal of ship's crew, if required.

LOADING: Cargo hose position, supports, and connections must be to satisfaction of ship's personnel in charge. Upon approval from ship's personnel in charge of loading, cargo hose valves may be opened to test cargo hose connections for leaks and to commence loading.

The responsibility for and custody of cargo passes to ship's personnel when cargo reaches the connection owned by ship.

The minimum loading rate is 4,000 B.P.H. and then only when starting to load or when slowing down to trim vessel at completion of loading. The maximum loading rate to be expected under normal conditions is 15,000 B.P.H.

Under normal operation conditions it may be necessary to displace terminal sea line as cargo loading is completed. This will require ship's personnel in charge of loading to advise terminal representative when cargo is short by an amount equal to the sea-line displacement.

The sea line displacement is a set amount and should not be cut short or exceeded. Therefore, when displacements are to be made, the cargo should be carefully planned by ship and terminal personnel to eliminate the possibility of either cutting the displacement short or short loadings of cargoes.

The mooring master will be equipped with charts and drawings of both sea moorings and will make these, as well as advice, available to Captain, if so requested. The mooring master will also be available to inspect ship's tanks as required, and will act as a liaison between the ship's Captain and the Agent or Punta de Palmas Terminal to transmit any information pertinent to the ship. This person should be furnished with food and accommodation fitting a ship's officer.

FUEL: Heavy and medium marine diesel, intermediate fuel, and bunker "C" fuel oil available. Lubricating oils also available.

FRESH WATER: Available from local contractors with barges.

STORES: Fresh and dry provisions procurable through ship chandlers in Maracaibo for delivery at the terminal.

REPAIRS: No repair facilities are available, but when required, personnel from shops in Maracaibo, will travel to Punta de Palmas to effect repairs.

SHORE LEAVE: Launch service for business purposes and emergencies is readily available. Launch service for shore leave can be arranged through contract marine service and will be responsibility of ship's personnel. Arrangements for shore leave transportation can be made through loading master on board.

CUSTOMS: All vessels entering from foreign ports and bound for Punta de Palmas Terminal are required to anchor in Maracaibo harbour for formal customs clearance and visit of government port authorities prior to proceeding to destination.

The vessel's accommodation ladder should be rigged prior to the vessel's arrival at Maracaibo. A member of the National Guard will board each vessel at Punta de Palmas to observe all activities connected with loading or unloading operations. This official is authorised as the customs representative, and is referred to as Customs Watch. Food and accommodation similar to officers should be made available to him by vessel in order to avoid difficulties.

CONSULS: See "Maracaibo".

GENERAL:

(a) Oil spillages: There has been considerable discussion in Venezuela concerning oil spillages resulting in contamination of Lake Maracaibo, to the extent that a special commission has been formed by the oil companies in order to collaborate with government officials in combating and eliminating oil spillages. In addition, considerable pressure has been exerted by governmental agencies and commercial organisations to eliminate oil spillages in lake water. Venezuelan Sun is making every effort to prevent contamination of Lake Maracaibo because, if this is not done, stronger measures will be taken by government officials.

Because of the above, it is strongly recommended that Masters emphasise to the officers on deck to endeavour avoid spillages all possible and to make certain that the scupper plugs are installed prior commencement of loading operations in order to withhold on deck any spillage that might occur.

(b) Mail: Outgoing mail for ship's account may be given to the Agent's representative who boards vessel on arrival at Maracaibo inbound. Personal mail will be accepted only if carrying the correct amount of Venezuelan postage, or if postage is authorised by master for the vessel's account.

(c) Classification Societies: American Bureau and Lloyd's Register have Agents in Maracaibo. Surveyors are available by appointment from any of these agents.

(d) Currency: The Venezuelan unit of currency is the Bolivar (Bs) and is the only currency recognised as legal tender within the country. Masters desiring a cash advance should make the request when advising ETA. Payment of all invoices for disbursements shall be made in Bolivars to the Venezuelan Sun's Maracaibo office, unless other instructions are given.

Section D – PUNTA CUCHILLO
(Phillips Petroleum Terminal)

ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS:

1. As early as possible, advise Puerto Ordaz Radio Station, call letters YVM, giving ETA at Buoy EO of North (natural) channel, or at Buoy 0.1 of South (dredged) channel.
2. Twenty-four hours prior to arrival, send another ETA to YVM.
3. Upon arival, depending on whether Master intends to enter Orinoco waterway through North or South channel, adhere to following procedure:

(a) North Channel. Notify Port Captain, Ciudad Bolívar, via YVM, of time of arrival at Buoy EO and give ETA at Beacon G7 (mile 27·7).

(b) South Channel. Request permission to enter from Port Captain, Ciudad Bolívar, via YVM. Do not enter until notified by YVM that Port Captain has granted permission; while awaiting, lay to or anchor at least 1 mile outside of Buoy 0.1.

4. While navigating waterway, inbound or outbound, report position to YVM hourly on the hour.
5. No Pilot required nor available for navigation along North or South channel at the Boca Grande of the Orinoco River.
6. The International Rules for Preventing Collisions at Sea apply outside of Beacon G7, mile 27·7.
7. Given the case of two vessels navigating North and South channel respectively, the one navigating South channel is the privileged vessel.
8. Anchoring either in North or South channels is forbidden.
9. Throughout Orinoco waterway, the down-bound loaded vessel is the privileged vessel.
10. It is compulsory to fly Venezuelan ensign inside of Buoy EO or Buoy 0.1.
11. Vessels can only carry clean ballast within Orinoco Waterway
12. Pilotage compulsory within Pilotage Zone No. 1 of the Orinoco Pilots board at outer boundary of said pilotage zone. in upstreamward vicinities of Beacon G7.
13. Regulations for the Pilotage Zone No. 1 of the Orinoco apply inside of Beacon G7.

APPROACHES: (Also see "Radio" – paragraphs (b) and (c)).

1. The Waterway

A Radio Direction Finder, located at Lat. 8° 31′ 45″ N., Long. 60° 28′ 28″ W., transmits following signal continuously: YV – AYV. The transmitter has an output of 500 watts with a range of about 200 miles and operates on a frequency of 305 kc/s. While navigating the waterway, ships should favour the shore on their starboard side to the extent possible, giving preference of manoeuvre to loaded vessels in all cases. Ships navigating upstreamward (inbound), upon approaching narrow channels should await the passing and give way to downbound vessels. It follows, therefore, that downbound loaded vessels are the privileged vessels.

2. The Boca Grande (Barima Bar) Channels

There are two navigable channels across the Boca Grande (Barima Bar), identified as follows: North channel (or natural channel), and South channel (or dredged channel). The two channels have converging courses and meet at mile 27·7 in the vicinity of Beacon G7. Vessels navigating the South channel are privileged, regardless of the direction in which they travel.

(a) The North (Natural) Channel

This channel has a minimum depth of 12 ft., referred to Mean Low Water. The approach from the sea is marked by a battery-operated electric flashing black buoy, identified with the letters EO. This buoy is located in 46 ft. of water at Lat. 9° 00′ 10″ N., Long. 60° 18′ 20″ W. Its characteristics are: colour of light, white; flash, 1.0 seconds; eclipse, 6.0 seconds; height above water, 10·7 ft., visibility, 7 miles. From seabuoy EO, the channel develops for 7.3 miles to Buoy EOA on a course of 213° 40′ true, then for 2·8 miles to Buoy EOB on a course of 198° 57′ true. From this point the channel follows an approximate straight course of about 205° true for a distance of 17 miles to Beacon G7. Starting from EOB distances between successive navigation aids are as follows: G1 at 1·9 miles; G1A at 1·5 miles; G3 at 2·1 miles; G3A at 2·3 miles; G5 at 3 miles; EL 24 at 2·6 miles; G7 at 3·7 miles. All navigation aids are black buoys fitted with white lights, except Beacon G7 and EL 24 which is a range structure indicating the West side limit alignment of the South (dredged) channel. This structure has been fitted with a white flashing light to mark the North (natural) channel.

(b) The South (Dredged) Channel

The South channel is a 400 ft. wide dredged channel. Depths therein accommodate the maximum draft authorised by the Port Captain. The approach from the sea is marked by a battery-operated electric flashing black buoy, identified with the number 0.1. This buoy is located in 45 ft. of water at Lat. 8° 55′ 52″ N., Long. 60° 11′ 17″ W. Its characteristics are: colour of light, white; flash, 0.5 seconds; eclipse, 11.5 seconds; height above water, 25 ft.; visibility, 11 miles. From seabuoy 0.1, the channel develops along four different courses over a total distance of 27·7 miles to Beacon G7. The course reduces by about 7° true at each of three turning points, located at miles 9, 15 and 21 respectively. The initial course of 234° 18′ true continues to mile 9 where it changes to 227° 07′ true. Upon reaching mile 15, the course again changes to 219° 51′ true to mile 21. At mile 21, the course changes to 212° 45′ true to Beacon G7 at mile 27·7. The centreline of the channel on all courses is visually marked by range structures fitted with green flashing, directionally beamed lights. The West (right ascending) side limit of the channel through mile 21 is also visually marked by range structures fitted with amber flashing, directionally beamed lights; the alignment given by the side ranges develops 200 ft. to the West and parallel to the centreline of the channel. Battery operated electric flashing navigation aids are located along both sides of the channel. All navigation aids along the East (left ascending side of the channel are located 325 ft. from centreline or 125 ft. outside of the channel lateral limit. White flashing navigation aids are located at one mile intervals through mile 25·1; all aids along this side are black buoys, except beacons 8.1, 9.1, 14.1, 15.1, 20.1, 21.1, 22.1, 23.1, 24.1, 25.1, 27.1 and 27.7 (G7). All navigation aids along the West (right ascending) side of the channel are located 200 ft. from centreline or on the exact lateral limit of the channel. Red flashing buoys painted red are located at one mile intervals from mile 1·6 to mile 11·6. From mile 11·6 to mile 27·7, there are only two aids; red buoys 13.6 and 26.0.

3. The River Channel

From mile 27·7, the navigable channel develops upstream. The river channel is generally deep and wide, except for the following 12 reaches which require periodic dredging: miles 27·7 to 36·5; miles 37·3 to 38·6; miles 53·1 to 54·2; miles 99·0 to 106·5; miles 109·1 to 111·0; miles 131·7 to 131·9; miles 136·6 to 139·0; miles 141·2 to 145·8; miles 146·2 to 149·4; miles 167·6 to 170·8; miles 178·4 to 182·4; miles 183·5 to 184·1. Dredged channels are normally 300 ft. in width, but occasionally can be restricted to a minimum of 250 ft. The depth maintained therein can accommodate the maximum draft authorised by the Port Captain. By notice to Mariners, the Port Captain has instructed all Masters and Pilots to reduce speed and to proceed with caution while navigating the aforesaid reaches, especially during the low water season.

4. River Stages

In response to the cycle of wet and dry seasons, the flow of the Orinoco River follows a relatively regular pattern of rise and fall each year. The river normally begins rising in later March or early April and continues to rise until it peaks at crest in late August. In September, the river begins a fairly steady recession until the extreme low-water stage is reached, generally in March. The amplitude of stage variation above the low water plane of reference (0.0 ft.) at Palúa (Mile 181·7) averages about 35 ft. with minimum variations of 31 ft. and maximum variations of 39 ft. The effects of the flood rise decrease progressively below Palúa and practically vanish in the upstreamward vicinities of the Boca Grande.

5. Tides and Currents

(a) The indicated mean tidal range is 5.4 ft. Tidal influence is not experienced above mile 60 during high river stages. At low river stages, a tidal effect can be observed throughout the waterway, although it progressively diminishes, moving upstreamward. However, the tidal effect is still significant at Puerto Ordaz, mile 184, where a maximum semidiurnal change of 1.7 ft. has been recorded.

(b) The strength of river currents is generally commensurate with flow, the strongest currents occurring at high river stages. The velocity of currents at any one time generally decreases moving downstreamward. However, in certain locations, this pattern is affected by particular characteristics of river width and shape as well as by bottom gradient. Maximum velocities of about 6 knots have been recorded.

6. Navigation Aids

(a) The navigation aids installed along the waterway consist of buoys, beacon and ranges. All aids are lighted. Identification is provided by means of numbers representing the approximate mileage of each aid, to the nearest one-tenth of a mile. The last digit of numbers identifying white lighted aids is odd, while the last digit of numbers identifying red lighted aids is even. White lighted aids mark the left ascending limit of the navigable channel, while red lighted aids mark the right ascending limit. Aids are placed as to be intervisible, to the extent that – when abreast of any one aid – the preceeding and the following ones can be sighted. Consecutive aids always carry different light characteristics. Buoys are normally placed on the exact lateral limit of the channel (except for black buoys along the South channel at the Boca Grande); beacons, instead, are located at variable distances outside of the channel.

(b) During the execution of dredging along any of the reaches which require periodic maintenance, buoys are generally moved 100 ft. outside of the channel lateral limits. This information is made available to ships by YVM.

(c) The Ministerio de Comunicaciones, Dirección de Marina Mercante, publishes semi-annually a complete list of navigation aids. Monthly lists of changes are also published so that the complete current list can be maintained up to date.

(d) Upon encountering damaged, inoperative, or misplaced navigation aids, vessels should immediately notify YVM.

(e) Vessels are forbidden to make fast to any navigation aid.

7. Dredging Aids

Range structures, generally located close to shore or over the bank, are normally used to mark the lateral alignments of the channel along the reaches which require periodic dredging. These ranges are generally fitted with amber flashing, directionally beamed lights. The lights are extinguished except during execution of dredging. Dredging ranges are not to be used for navigation.

8. Navigation Charts

Navigation charts of the Orinoco Waterway should be aboard vessels for use by the Master. These charts are sold by the Instituto Nacional de Canalizaciones and are also available for purchase from the Orinoco Mining Company. If requested, the Orinoco Mining Company will, if possible, arrange to make the charts and latest revisions available through the Pilot who boards at Punta Barima, provided such request is received by radio (YVM) at least 48 hours in advance of the Pilot's boarding. A set of navigation charts, corrected to latest revisions, is maintained in the office of the Traffic and Ships' Agency of the Orinoco Mining Company in Puerto Ordaz. Masters may use this facility to keep their charts up to date.

DOCUMENTS: (Clearance, documentation and other requirements).

1. Consignment of Inbound Vessels

The official documents of all vessels proceeding to Puerto Ordaz should show the following consignment: to: Orinoco Mining Company, Ciudad Bolívar, Zona de Puerto Ordaz. The proper consignment of vessels proceeding to Palua, on official documents, is as follows: Iron Mines Company of Venezuela, Ciudad Bolívar, Zona de San Felix.

2. Customs Requirements

Vessels bound for Venezuela in ballast, without passengers, from foreign ports outside the West Indies or Guianas, require the following documentation:

(a) Vessels must have a ballast despatch statement (Certificado de Lastre) which must consist of a note from the Venezuelan Consul, if such Consul is present at the port of departure; otherwise, in descending order of desirability, from the Consul of another friendly nation, the local Chamber of Commerce or two reputable merchants of the port of departure. The note should include the name and nationality of the vessel, name of the Captain, registration number of the vessel and tonnage, sailing date and assertion that the vessel is en route in ballast, cargo, or with passengers. The note should be given to the Captain of the vessel or his Agent in an open envelope, which the Captain can exhibit in intermediate Venezuelan ports of call and can turn over to Customs authorities in the Venezuelan ports of destination. Under no circumstances may the ballast despatch statement be signed by an Agency of the government of the country from which the vessel is departing.

(b) The vessel must have a clearance certificate (Certificade de Zarpe) or sailing authorisation issued by the Customs authorities of the port of departure, representing the government of the country the vessel is departing from. No consular certification need be placed upon this document.

(c) Stores List (Lista de Rancho) signed by Master unless vessel is dispatched from the West Indies or Guianas, then the stores list must be visaed by the Venezuelan Consul at port of departure. Stores list must indicate separately all deck, engine and cabin stores. These lists may be prepared on board prior to arrival.

(d) Spare Parts List (Lista de Repuestos). It must contain a note of all the spare parts and objects for the service of the vessel, including fuel. No consular certification required. To be signed by the Master and to be current as of the day of entering the Venezuelan port.

(e) List of Effects for use of Captain and Crewmen (Lista de efectos personales de la dotacion). No consular certification required. To be signed by the Master and to be current as of the day of entering the Venezuelan port. The Customs are very strict and will confiscate any article that appears new.

3. Health, Immigration, and Police Requirements

Vessels bound for Venezuela in ballast, without passengers, from foreign ports outside the West Indies or Guianas, require following documentation:

(a) Current individual International Vaccination Certificates for each member of the crew.

(b) Rat Eradication Exemption Certificate. No consular certification required.

(c) Crew Lists (original and seven copies). No consular certification required.

(d) Panama or Suez Canal or any comparable type measurement certificate.

Contraband: The Venezuelan law is very strict on this subject. It cannot be emphasised too strongly that all new articles, clothing, cigarettes, liquor, etc., must be declared and sealed-up upon arrival.

Meals for Pilots and government officials. It is requested these men be granted the privilege of eating in the officers' dining salon.

N.B. Masters of vessels calling at Trinidad for bunkers before proceeding to Venezuela must also have the documents stamped by the Venezuelan Consulate at Port of Spain.

PILOTAGE: In order to expedite the movement of shipping in the waterways, Masters are requested to establish contact with YVM station as soon as possible, giving ETA pilot station at Barima (Orinoco River entrance). At the same time a radio-telegraph message must be sent to Agents giving ETA Barima and cargo required. When vessel is 24 hours from pilot station, send another ETA via YVM.

After reporting the ETA in advance of arrival, try to contact directly, by radio, the Estacion de Pilotos when the ship approaches the sea-buoy of the bar entrance (about two hours before arrival at the pilot station).

After taking the Pilots aboard, report to Radio Marina and continue giving the ship's position according to the mile, up-river, at exactly every hour on the hour, and receive from Radio Marina the pertinent information concerning the traffic in the river waterway. If no communication can be established by voice radio aboard, comply by radio-telegraph by way of the YVM station.

Pilots are employees of the Venezuelan Government and act in an advisory capacity. The Master retains responsibility for the ship at all times.

(1) Pilotage is not required and Pilots are not available for navigation outside the pilotage zone. Masters will take charge of inbound and outbound navigation on the North or South channel outside Beacon G7 at the Boca Grande, without Pilot's assistance.

(2) Pilotage is mandatory within the Pilotage Zone No. 1 of the Orinoco. Inbound vessels will embark the government River Pilot in the upstreamward vicinities of Beacon G7. It is important that vessels pass Beacon G7 and be in sight of the pilot station at Barima in order to avoid any delay, as Pilots may not proceed until vessel is sighted. The government River Pilot will pilot the vessel while navigating the waterway; a special government Docking Pilot will generally take the vessel into and out of the Puerto Ordaz harbour.

Signals

(1) All signals used outside of the pilotage zone (that is to say, seaward of Beacon G7 – mile 27·7) shall conform to the International Rules for Prevention of Collisions at Sea.

(2) Within the pilotage zone (that is to say, inside of Beacon G7 – mile 27·7) the signals used shall be in accordance with the "Regulations for the Pilotage Zone No. 1 of the Orinoco". It should be noted that these signals are peculiar to the Orinoco Waterway, and are not necessarily in conformance with the International Rules.

(3) Within the pilotage zone, special signals are used for passing dredges at work along the waterway.

Speed

The Captain of the Port has the authority to impose speed restrictions. By means of "Notices to Mariners", the Port Captain has ordered that all vessels reduce speed while navigating by the following locations: San Felix Dock, mile 179·8; El Toro, miles 95·4 to 96·6. It is recommended that speed be also reduced while navigating by the Palúa Dock (mile 181·8), Barrancas (mile 143·2), and Curiapo (mile 60·4). At the inception of the low water season each year (generally in early January), the Port Captain has in the past issued a "Notice to Mariners" instructing all vessels to reduce speed and proceed with caution while navigating the following river reaches: (1) miles 184 to 178, (2) miles 171 to 167, (3) miles 150 to 141, (4) miles 140 to 137, (5) miles 133 to 131, (6) miles 112 to 109, (7) miles 106 to 98, (8) miles 55 to 53, (9) miles 39 to 36

ANCHORAGES:

(1) No ships are permitted to anchor either in the North or South channel at the Boca Grande. Vessels are to anchor at least one mile outside of Buoy EO or Buoy 0.1.

(2) Within the pilotage zone, no vessel is allowed to anchor in narrow channels, nor close to a turn.

(3) Between Beacon G7 – mile 27.7 and mile 137, vessels which need anchoring may do so by coming as close as possible to shore on the ship's starboard side.

(4) Between mile 137 and mile 184, the Pilotage Regulations provide for three permanent anchorages and one seasonal anchorage, as follows: Area No. 5 (permanent): miles 139.3 to 140.4. Area No. 6 (permanent): miles 150.1 to 151.7. Area No. 7 (permanent): miles 178.0 to 179.0. Area No. 8 (seasonal): at the junction of the Caroní and the Orinoco. It should be observed that Area No. 7, as determined in the Pilotage Regulations, partially encroaches on the narrow (dredged) channel and on shore. Vessels are to anchor in the naturally deep and wide part of the area.

(5) The low-water anchorage (for one ship only) previously established by the Port Captain between miles 182 and 183 is no longer in use. This area is currently used as the turning basin for vessels exiting the Palúa channel, upon sailing from the new Palúa dock at mile 181.8.

(6) If due to emergency a ship is required to anchor in places other than the designated areas, it may do so in such a way as not to obstruct the channel and by taking the necessary precautions to avoid swinging around.

(7) Upon anchoring, vessels should notify YVM.

MAX. SIZE:

1. Maximum Permissible Draft

The Port Captain of Ciudad Bolívar can establish the permissible draft for the Orinoco Waterway, to a maximum of 40 ft.

2. Controlling Depths and Authorised Draft

The draft authorised by the Port Captain for the Orinoco Waterway is made public by means of a "Daily Bulletin of Depths and Draft" (Boletín Diario de Profundidades y Calado). Each daily bulletin issued by the Port Captain carries the following information, in Spanish and English:

(a) Controlling (minimum) depth between miles 184 and 133, and corresponding location.

(b) Controlling (minimum) depth between miles 133 and 42, and corresponding location.

(c) Controlling (minimum) depth between miles 42 and 0, and corresponding location.

(d) Predicted high tides (heights and times) at mile 13.5.

(e) River stage (height of river level above low water plane) at Puerto Ordaz and Palúa.

(f) Authorised draft, in feet and inches.

The controlling depths given for locations comprised between miles 184 and 42 are actual depths, and reflect depth conditions as of the date of the bulletin. The controlling depth given for locations comprised between miles 42 and 0 is referred to mean low water springs and does not include the height of tide at high water.

The authorised draft may be predicated either on the controlling depth existent between miles 184 and 42 or between miles 42 and 0, dependent upon whichever is the least.

When the controlling depth between miles 184 and 42 is the significant factor, the permitted draft authorised is at least 2 ft. less than the controlling depth in this sector.

When the controlling depth between miles 42 and 0 is the significant factor, the permitted draft authorised is generally less than the mean low water springs controlling depth but occasionally can be equal to the mean low water springs controlling depth.

Whenever the MLWS controlling depth existing between miles 42 and 0 does not provide sufficient clearance under the keel of the vessel at low water, the Master is expected to navigate by the site where the controlling depth is located only at times when the height of tide will assure a safe passage.

3. Variations in Authorised Draft

(a) The authorised draft is generally increased or decreased by multiples of six inches.

(b) Throughout the year, the authorised draft is susceptible to variations, according to the conditions of depth and witdth existing in the channel at any one time. On the basis of average river stages, it is estimated that the authorised draft should not be less than 31 ft. at extreme low river stage; the maximum permissible draft possible at high river stage is 40 ft.

(c) Although variations may possibly occur on a day-by-day basis, the broad pattern of change in authorised drafts should closely follow the seasonal change in river stage; that is to say, that when the stage is increasing the draft should also increase, and that when the stage is decreasing the draft should also decrease.

HEALTH: Radio pratique may be obtained by sending a message, after picking up Pilot, to the Port Health Officer, advising that there is no sickness on board, name of last port, ETA, number of crew and nationality of vessel and name and nationality of Master.

RADIO:

(a) Communications: Communications are generally handled through the radio-telegraph station at Puerto Ordaz, call letter YVM. This station is operated on a 24 hour basis. The operating frequencies are: 440 kc/s; 472 kc/s; 4322 kc/s; 6505.5 kc/s; 8722 kc/s. The GMT – CQ times and frequencies are: 0900 hours, 4322 kc/s; 1200 hours 6505.5 kc/s; 1430 hours 8722 kc/s; 2000 hours 8722 kc/s; 0030 hours 8722 kc/s; 0300 hours 4322 kc/s.

There is no charge for messages from ship to shore or from shore to ship handled directly through YVM. A VHF frequency modulated radio system provides voice communications along the Orinoco Waterway. Master sets for the system are installed in the Puerto Ordaz radio-telegraph station (voice call: "Marine Radio"); Marine Radio handles shipping matters exclusively, The system consists of a high-band VHF frequency modulated voice radio net. To ensure a more efficient and satisfactory coverage, this system operates on dual frequencies alternating according to location, so that ships can either transmit on 161.700 megacycles receiving on 159.000 megacycles, or transmit on 161.150 megacycles receiving on 159.850 megacycles. For best results, ships should select frequencies according to the following: From sea to mile 50: transmit on 161.700 mc., receiving on 159.000 mc.; From mile 50 to mile 112: transmit on 161.150 mc., receiving on 159.850 mc.; From mile 112 to mile 159: transmit on 161.700 mc., receiving on 159.000 mc.; From mile 159 to mile 184: transmit on 161.150 mc., receiving on 159.850 mc.

Pilot station at Barima Bar, Palúa and Matanzas are equipped with this system. For the Puerto Ordaz area, ships will transmit to Marine Radio on a frequency of 43.02 megacycles and to others on a frequency of 43.18 megacycles, receiving in both cases on a frequency of 43.18 megacycles.

(b) Control of Navigation:

(i) Navigation on the North (natural) channel at the Boca Grande is free. However, vessels are requested to notify the Port Captain, Ciudad Bolívar, via YVM, upon arrival at Buoy EO, giving ETA at Beacon G7, mile 27.7.

(ii) Simultaneous navigation in opposite directions by two or more vessels is not permitted on the South (dredged) channel at the Boca Grande. The restriction is placed on inbound traffic, to the extent that any vessel wishing to enter the South channel requires prior authorisation from the Port Captaincy of Ciudad Bolívar. The request for permission to enter the South channel is to be addressed to the Port Captain, Ciudad Bolívar, via YVM, and is to be transmitted before the vessel reaches Buoy 0.1. Upon receipt of the request, the Port Captain will notify the vessel via YVM whether permission is or is not granted, indicating, in the latter case, the approximate waiting time. Until permitted to enter, vessels are to anchor at least 1 mile outside of Buoy 0.1. Once that authorisation has been granted, vessels are to enter the South channel at the earliest opportunity. Any vessel which has been notified to wait may elect to proceed and enter through the North (natural) channel; in this case, the vessel will have to satisfy the requirements outlined in paragraph (1) above.

(iii) While navigating the Orinoco Waterway inbound or outbound vessels are to report their position to YVM hourly on the hour.

(c) Accident, Stranding, etc.

(i) Should a collision, stranding or other accident occur in the waterway, or should it be found necessary to take control of the vessel away from the Pilot for any reason, the Venezuelan law requires that a written report be made to the Captain of the Port by the Master of the vessel involved within hours. The report is to be addressed to the Captain of the Port and may be handed to the Pilot or the ship's Agent for delivery. The Master need not appear in person before the Captain of the Port unless specifically ordered to do so.

(ii) Slight groundings or touching of banks and bottom may simply be noted on the reverse side of the receipt for pilotage signed by the Master.

(iii) In case of collision, stranding, slight grounding, touching of banks and bottom, or other accidents, vessels should immediately notify YVM.

Section B

PALUA: 08.21 N. 62.41 W.

N.B. See "Orinoco River" for all important entry requirements. Specific details, relevant to Palua only, are as follows:

SUPPLIER: The ore supplier is Iron Mines company of Venezuela, cable address El Pao San Felix (Venezuela). Their Palua office is fitted with VHF radio-telephone on 161.150/159.850 megacycles and 2182 (call) kilocycles.

CLEARANCE: Agent will secure the Clearance dispatch.

Note: The Palua dock and facilities are the private property of Iron Mines Company of Venezuela. All Company regulations must be obeyed by vessels and vessels personnel.

The Bill of lading will be prepared by Iron Mines Company of Venezuela, also the Commercial Invoice on the Consular Invoice form 138. The Inward Foreign Manifest, U.S. Customs form 7527–B, should be prepared by Master after sailing from Palua.

BALLAST: To provide the best manoeuvring trim on docking, it will be at the discretion of the Master to properly ballast the vessel. But in order to lose no time on loading operations, as well as to prevent short loading, the ballast should be pumped out as soon as possible, using utmost caution not to pump oil or sludge overboard in the port area.

APPROACH AND DOCKING IN PALUA: After passing the village of San Felix, and before reaching the turn off from the main channel, a Tug and a Docking Pilot will meet the vessel and will assist in the docking manoeuvre. Although the Master will always be responsible for the vessel's movements either in the case of docking or undocking, the Docking Pilot will actually pilot the vessel to and dock the ship at Palua.

At mile 180.5 the ship should leave the main channel, turning to the left to follow the new dredged entrance channel of approach which is marked by two flashing buoys: white on the port and red on the starboard side. Diamond-shape range marks of 6 ft. side, painted white with black diagonal cross, indicate the centre line of the approach channel. The front range, fastened on the ore loading pier, shows flashing green light, and the rear range, set on a tower approximately 2,000 ft. away, has fixed green light.

The docking shall be port side to in all events; and please stow all hatch boards, or pontoons, or steel battens, etc., on the starboard side of the hatch; as this will keep the gear cleaner and lessen the work of the ore handling gang.

The dock will provide a gangway for access to the ship. Nothing should overhang the port side of the vessel on docking.

If the loading berth is not available the arriving vessel would be instructed to anchor at an anchorage just below the entrance to Palua approach channel at mile 179.

LOADING DOCK: The ore loading port is located at mile 181.5 of the Orinoco waterway, along the left bank going up-river. The new steel dock here is aligned up and down stream in the general direction of the current. It is 907 ft. long between its pointed heads, with 791 ft. of boarding side along, the deck fixed at about 6 ft. over the maximum expected rise of the river in the flood season. It has a strong fender system of steel structure covered with timber overhanging the side, down to near the lower river stage; and is fitted with 14 bollards plus two more, one on each head, for proper docking and securing the vessel.

Once the vessel is moored alongside the new ore loading dock, there shall be no further shifting necessary to load, as the loading tower moves along the dock on rails to facilitate the loading through the various hatches.

LOADING: The ore handling and loading equipment for Palua has a capacity to load 3,000 metric tons of ore per hour, for the time being. With this capacity, the vessel's mooring lines should be tended during the operation.

The boom of the loading tower is so designed as to allow free movement in any direction, fore and aft. The gantry and boom travel along the dock for a distance of 518 ft., and can place the ore at a distance horizontally out from the dock fenderline of 23 ft. minimum and 62 ft. maximum at the highest water stage, and from minimum 29 ft. to maximum 67 ft. horizontally out at the lowest stage.

Care must be taken during the course of loading to avoid piling the ore too high in the holds, as this necessitates hand trimming before the hatch covers can be properly secured, and incurs unnecessary trouble.

UNDOCKING: The Master, assisted by a Docking Pilot if required, will handle the vessel on leaving the dock, going upstream from the dock not less than ¾ mile distance to the turning basin in the same heading as when the ship moored alongside. One tug (or two tugs if required), will go alongside the ship prior to undocking and will assist the vessel until it is headed downstream in the main Orinoco channel. The amber lights at the heads of the dock form a range to mark the shoreside boundary of the local dredged channel. A red light high up on the loading gantry will come in the same range as the two amber lights. In the turning basin a tug-boat will assist the vessel swinging downstream.

When the ship is in the main channel, properly headed downstream, the Docking Pilot will leave on the tug, and the River Pilots (two of them) will assume the navigational direction. Report to Radio Marina by voice radio and give ETA at mile 31.

Report again to Radio Marina giving position every hour, and try to contact Barima pilot station sometime before arrival at mile 31, where the Pilots will disembark.

If Voice radio communication is not possible, comply by radiotelegraph by way of the YVM station.

HEALTH: The vessel will be boarded by the Public Health Doctor after docking at Palua; unless instructions to the contrary.

In the event that the Authorities have to board the vessel anchored out in the stream, an accommodation ladder should be rigged, preferably on the starboard side, to keep the port side clear for docking. Venezuelan authorities and workmen will not use pilot ladders.

REGULATIONS: The Master, members of the crew and passengers if any, are required to have in their possession individual smallpox vaccination certificates. Serious delays may result in the dispatch of the vessel if this requirement is not complied with.

The Venezuelan law is very strict on the subject of contraband. It cannot be stressed strongly enough that all new articles, clothing, cigarettes, liquor, etc., must be declared and sealed up on arrival.

Concerning passes, the regulation states that "members of the crew who are not officers of the vessel, in order to go ashore and return aboard, have to be supplied with an identification card to be issued by the Purser of the vessel or his substitute, which card will contain the name of the vessel, the name of the crew member and the date of issue. This card will have to be signed by the person issuing same and has to be authorised by the respective officer of the Port Captain's office for the district".

GAS-FREE CERTIFICATE: Vessels reporting to Palua to load ore should have the holds and cargo compartments swept clean and ready to receive cargo. Also, any combination ore/tanker vessel tendering to load iron ore at Palua shall present, along with the notice of readiness, a Gas-free Certificate if said vessel has in the past been employed in the carriage of petroleum products. Such certificate shall be dated subsequent to the discharge of the vessel's last petroleum cargo. But they are advised that around Palua in Venezuela there is no chemist available for granting such a Gas-free Certificate. It may be secured before arriving at Venezuela by calling at Trinidad, reporting to cable address: Harriman, Port of Spain.

In case of necessity, or for convenience, it could be arranged for the chemist to travel to Venezuela to meet the ship in Palua, advising Harriman (Port of Spain) at least three days before arrival at Palua.

If the vessel is equipped with a gas-indicating meter (explosimeter), Iron Mines Company of Venezuela will accept the Master's certification in writing that the vessel is gas-free. However, they reserve the right to check the vessel with their own equipment prior to acceptance.

RADIO: Should a vessel receive radio advice at sea to proceed to Palua, and the clearance is to another port, the Master must radio to Agents-Alcoaships Puerto Ordaz (Venezuela) and advise the name of the vessel, flag, port of embarkation, original port of destination, Captain's name and the number of members in the ship's crew including the Master. This is necessary in order to comply with the Venezuelan Customs Law.

CONSULS: At the present time there are no Consular Agents located around Palua, the nearest being in Ciudad Bolívar or Caracas.

FLOOD SEASON: The port experiences a yearly flood season from the middle of June to the middle of November, to a maximum of about 38 ft. at the last days of August, above the lowest stage (during the first days of April) in the dry season that occurs from the middle of November to the middle of June.

TIDE: The wind in the locality blows generally upstream, and on exceptional occasions during the dry or low-river season, when the current is weak, does overcome the current and cause the anchored ships to tend with stern upstream.

REPAIRS: Minor emergency repairs of mechanical, electrical and electronical types may be carried out in the shops by the personnel of the Iron Mines Company of Venezuela. The American Bureau of Shipping has a surveyor at Puerto Ordaz, near Palua.

MEDICAL: There is a medical dispensary at Palua, and a hospital of the Company at El Pao, where seamen may be admitted when requiring hospitalisation in emergency cases.

FUEL: No bunker fuel is available in Palua. Diesel oil can be obtained in small quantities, in drums.

FRESH WATER: Drinking water is available at the dockside in limited quantity of about 100 tons every 24 hours. Small amounts of fresh provisions may be obtained in the locality.

AGENT: Alcoa Steamship Company, Cable address: Alcoaship, Puerto Ordaz.

Section C

PUERTO ORDAZ: 08.21 N. 62.43 W.

OPERATORS: Orinoco Mining Company.

LOCATION: The operations of the Orinoco Mining Company are centred in the State of Bolívar in Eastern Venezuela and iron ore is loaded into ocean-going vessels at Puerto Ordaz 8° 21′ N., 62° 43′ W.) at the junction of the Caroní and Orinoco rivers, approximately 184 nautical miles from the open sea.

GAS-FREE CERTIFICATE: Any combination ore-tanker vessel tendering to load iron ore at Puerto Ordaz shall present, along with the notice of readiness, a gas-free certificate if said vessel has in the past been employed in the transportation of petroleum products. Such certificate shall be dated subsequent to the discharge of the vessel's last petroleum cargo. Gas-free certificates can be obtained through an approved surveyor in Puerto Ordaz.

HEALTH: Vessels will be boarded by the Public Health Doctor in the stream off Puerto Ordaz. He will not come up a pilot ladder and will insist on an accommodation ladder which should be rigged and ready when he approaches. In order not to delay docking, this accommodation ladder should be rigged on the port side during low river stage, and starboard side during high river stage.

RADIO: Should a vessel receive radio advice at sea to proceed to Puerto Ordaz, and the clearance is to another port, the Master must radio station YVM Puerto Ordaz, and advise the name of the vessel, flag, port of embarkation, original port of destination, Master's name and number of members in the ship's crew. This is necessary in order to comply with article 17 of the Venezuelan Customs Law.

TUGS: All vessels touching at Puerto Ordaz will be assisted by a tug in docking and undocking manoeuvres. Line-handlers are available on the dock to secure mooring lines on vessel's arrival, and to release them on vessel's departure.

BERTHING:

1. The Harbour: The Puerto Ordaz Harbour extends from mile 183.5 to mile 184.1 of the waterway. The harbour consists of a natural basin formed by the mouth of the Caroni as it flows into the Orinoco. The width of the turning area within the basin varies from a minimum of about 1,600 ft. at low water to a maximum of about 2,000 ft. at high water. The lighted buoys marking the navigable limits on either side of the harbour are moved to different positions according to river stages in order to achieve full utilisation of navigable waters. The bottom of the harbour is generally rock, with scattered layers of sand overburden deposited as sediment by the river. This sand is regularly removed by dredging in order to maintain depths which will accommodate the maximum draft authorised by the Port Captain. The bottom configuration across the harbour consists of a rocky shelf extending about 900 ft. from the face of the dock. Beyond this shelf the bottom slopes steeply into a deep gorge, then rises to form a sandy beach along the opposite shore. The velocity of river currents at this site varies according to stage levels. A slower current is generally experienced over the rocky shelf adjacent to the dock, with velocities averaging about 1.5 knots at flood stages and about 0.5 knots or less at reduced river stages. The velocity of the current over and along the deep gorge averages about 3.5 knots at flood stages and 1.5 knots or less at reduced river stages. During extreme low water, the basin is subject to tidal influence and the velocity of currents is minimal, although there is no reversal of flow. The direction of the current is aimed slightly toward the face of the dock at its South-east end but deflects away from the pier about 500 ft. downstreamward. Access to the harbour is by way of a naturally deep and wide fairway which is the continuation of the gorge as it enters the Orinoco River.

2. The Dock: The Puerto Ordaz dock is located along the right ascending side of the harbour and extends outward from shore on a South-east by East alignment. The all-steel fixed-height dock is 1,885 ft. long; its elevation is 41 ft. above low water plane (0.0 ft. stage). This dock is fitted with a strong fender system and with a sufficient number of accessible bollards for proper docking and securing.

3. Arrival:

(a) Notice of Readiness: When completely ready to receive cargo, vessels will submit "Notice of Readiness" to Orinoco Mining Company. Vessels will be loaded in the order in which Notices of Readiness are accepted by Orinoco Mining Company. The Company will advise when the vessel may proceed alongside the dock.

(b) Docking: Special Docking Pilots are provided for the docking and undocking of vessels at Puerto Ordaz. These Pilots are qualified River Pilots, thoroughly familiar with local conditions. All vessels will dock starboard side to. During the low water stage, which is from the middle of November to the middle of June, no gangway should be rigged and nothing should overhang the starboard side of the vessel. When the river is sufficiently high which is from the middle of June to the middle of November vessels are requested to have starboard gangway or accommodation ladder rigged and ready to lower immediately after docking in order to expedite the commencement of loading. Venezuelan authorities and workmen will not use pilot ladders. Vessels reporting to Puerto Ordaz to load ore should have holds and cargo compartments broom clean and ready to receive cargo. Considerable time will be gained if this requirement is met prior to reporting.

(c) Hatches: On arrival at Puerto Ordaz all hatch boards or pontoons, beams, tarpaulins, steel battens, wedges, etc., should be stowed on the port side of the hatch. This will keep the hatch gear cleaner and lessen the work of the ore handling clean-up gang.

(d) Ballast: In order to lose no time with the loading operations, as well as preventing short-lifting, all ballast should be pumped out before arrival at the dock. Use utmost caution not to pump oil or sludge overboard in the port area. The Orinoco Mining Company Ships' Agency Representative will contact vessel on arrival and will assist in every way possible.

4. Departure: All vessels which have completed loading at Puerto Ordaz and have received the latest river information from the port officials, and are ready for their river transit in every respect, will proceed outward via the Orinoco Waterway, disembarking the Pilot at mile 31. Once the Pilot has disembarked, vessels shall proceed over the South (dredged) channel to mile 0, and exit the waterway.

TANKERS: See Punta Cuchillo.

MEDICAL: There is a hospital at Puerto Ordaz which will admit seamen requiring hospitalisation.

FRESH WATER: Drinking water is available alongside the dock.

FUEL: A limited amount of bunker "C" and diesel oil is available but purely on an emergency basis.

CONSULS: There are no Consulates located at Puerto Ordaz, the nearest being in Ciudad Bolivar or Caracas.

REPAIRS: Minor emergency repairs may be carried out in the shops of the Orinoco Mining Company.

TIME: The legal time of Venezuela, which is four hours behind Greenwich Mean Time, shall be used in Pilotage Zone No. 1 of the Orinoco River.

SHORE LEAVE: Permitted, but it is mandatory that all crew members should report back to their respective ships before sailing time.

GENERAL: 1. Ore Loading Equipment: The ore handling and loading equipment installed on the pier has a speed ratio of 6,000 long tons of ore loaded per hour. Due to this great loading capacity the vessel's mooring lines must be tended at all times.

2. Handling Facilities: A movable 110-ton, rail mounted stiff-leg derrick is installed on the dock for the handling of general cargo.

3. Provisions: Small amounts of fresh provisions are available.

4. Surveyor: The American Bureau of Shipping has a non-exclusive surveyor in Puerto Ordaz. Lloyds has an agency in Ciudad Bolivar with a branch office in Puerto Ordaz, and will appoint surveyors upon request.

AGENTS: Mailing Address: Orinoco Mining Company, Apartado 2736, Caracas, Venezuela. Cable Address: Oconiro, Caracas.

The Orinoco Mining Company acts as ship's Agent for all vessels consigned to load iron ore at Puerto Ordaz. This function is performed by the Superintendent, Traffic & Ship's Agency and his staff, whose offices are located adjacent to the loading dock at Puerto Ordaz.

Section D

PUNTA CUCHILLO, (Puerto Ordaz Terminal): 08.20 N. 62.47 W.

N.B. See "Orinocco River" for all important entry requirements. Specific details relevant to Punta Cuchillo only are as follows:

OPERATORS: Phillips Petroleum Company.

LOCATION: Phillips Petroleum Company terminal and dock is located near Mile Post 192 on the South side of the river.

PILOTAGE: Government Pilot will pilot vessel to Puerto Ordaz. In some cases this same Pilot will act as Mooring Pilot and dock vessel at Phillips' terminal. If River Pilot does not also act as Docking Pilot, the River Pilot will disembark at mile 178 during low water, and mile 183 in high water, and a Docking Pilot will embark and take the vessel to mooring.

RADIO: The cable address for Phillips Petroleum Company, Caracas, is Filven. Messages to the Phillips Petroleum Company's Puerto Ordaz Terminal should be addressed to Alcoa Steamship Co. Inc., Puerto Ordaz. Cable address: Alcoaship, Puerto Ordaz.

Vessels diverted at sea to Puerto Ordaz (Phillips Terminal) which do not have a Venezuelan clearance on board, must advise Alcoa, Phillips Petroleum Company's Agent at Puerto Ordaz, by radio as soon as they receive their orders to change destination. The following information must be given: Master's name, vessels flag, net tonnage, last port of call, port to which originally cleared and ETA. This information is required in order that inward clearance may be arranged with government officials in ample time prior to vessel's arrival. In absence of this information, vessel will be subject to a fine.

HEALTH: Vessel will be boarded by the Public Health Doctor in the stream off San Felix or Puerto Ordaz or occasionally at the Phillips Terminal. If he boards before docking, an accommodation ladder should be rigged and ready when he approaches, as he will not come up a pilot ladder.

All Masters, members of the ship's crew, and passengers, if any, are required to have in their possession individual smallpox vaccination certificates. If this requirement is not complied with, a serious delay may result in the dispatch of the vessel.

BERTHING: The dock at the terminal consists of a docking platform, two breasting dolphins and two mooring dolphins. The docking platform is connected to shore by a 10 ft. causeway capable of carrying a light truck.

At mean low river stage, water depth at the face of breasting structures is 40 ft. The bank rises sharply from face of dolphins toward shore. The 40 ft. depth contour extends parallel to shore for a considerable distance upstream and downstream from the dock, allowing a flat approach angle.

Current is negligible during low river stage and is approximately 6 knots at midstream at high river stage. Current runs generally parallel to the face of the dock at the dock site.

Top of dock elevation is 45 ft. above low water stage. Buffering system extends from a point below low water stage to a point immediately below top of dock. Nothing should overhang the shoreward side of the vessel when docking during the lower stages of the river. The buffering system is designed to accommodate forces exerted by a vessel of 47,000 tons displacement, approaching the dock with a velocity component perpendicular to the dock face, of ½ ft. per second.

Bollards for vessel's lines are provided at the mooring dolphins and at the breasting structures. Mooring dolphins will safely withstand 200,000 pounds of mooring line tension.

Phillips Petroleum Company facilities include a 24 in. diameter submarine pipe-line which crosses the river a short distance downstream of the dock. The crossing is marked by triangular-shaped signs on both banks of the river. Masters are cautioned against use of vessel anchors in this area.

The terminal pumps are capable of loading oil aboard ship at the rate of approximately 14,000 barrels per hour.

TUGS: Ministry of Communications Oficio No. 1387 states that, "The use of tugs is necessary in docking and undocking manoeuvres of boats at this Marine Terminal." Alcoa has a 2,100 h.p. tug available for this service. A tie-up launch will be provided to assist in the mooring of the vessel, and will handle all the mooring lines before and after loading.

LOADING: Phillips Petroleum Company Lot 9 Monagas crude is the only cargo available at the Puerto Ordaz Terminal. This crude has an API gravity of 11.9° to 12.5°F. (6.490–6.517 U.S. barrels per long ton. This cargo must be heated to approximately 140°F. in order to attain normal discharge rates.

Loading is accomplished through three 10 in. hoses provided with 10 in., 150 lb. ASA flanges. Hoisting gear is provided for handling the hoses. A dock crew will connect the cargo hoses and disconnect them on completion of loading. Some adapters and other tools are available on dock. The oil will be loaded at an elevated temperature.

Precautions, as are common for any heavy oil, should be taken to ensure that no ballast water is left in any tank to be filled with this oil. If the cargo is contaminated with water, the water will not separate from the oil. The salt content of the oil will be raised approximately 10 lb. per 1,000 barrels for very 0.10% contamination by sea water.

All cargo compartments must be stripped dry. Cargo pipe-lines should be drained and/or purged of water.

There is no provision at the Puerto Ordaz Terminal for disposal of dirty ballast or tank washings. Tankers bound for Puerto Ordaz for loading must dispose of all dirty ballast and tank washings before entering the Orinoco River.

Prior to proceeding to sea, all butterworth plates, cargo tank hatch covers and ullage plugs should be inspected to ensure against entry of salt water.

AGENCY: Phillips Petroleum Company uses Alcoa Steamship Company, Inc., Puerto Ordaz, as its Agent in the handling of all papers and documentation connected with the ship's business. Alcoa will also help the ship's Master in providing required land transportation, limited provisions, or any other assistance that may be required for the operation of the ship's normal business. Alcoa will also assure that the ship's requirements are met in regard to Sanitary Inspection, Customs Inspection and Guardia Nacional.

PUERTO CABELLO: 10.29 N. 68.07 W.

(EL PALITO TERMINAL.)

OPERATORS: Mobil Oil Company de Venezuela.

LOCATION (of El Palito Terminal): The terminal facilities operated by Mobil de Venezuela at the port of Puerto Cabello (Punta Chávez), are situated on the Venezuelan coast, 7 miles West of Puerto Cabello. The terminal has a 2,475 ft. pier, part causeway and part trestle, extending out from Punta Chávez along a shallow reef then angling into water 45 ft. deep. Two tankers can tie up simultaneously at the berths.

WEATHER: Winds are normally from the N.E. with an average Beaufort scale force of 2–3. Average temperature about 85°. The months of January, February and March have the roughest sea and swell, and vessels may not be able to dock due to the weather.

TIDE: The normal range of the tide is 1 ft.

ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS:

1. Incoming vessels must send ETA 72 hours before arrival at El Palito Terminal and another 24 hours before arrival advising any change of ETA.

2. If a vessel originally cleared for another port (including some other Venezuelan port) is diverted at sea to El Palito, certain information must be received prior to arrival, to avoid heavy fine and/or delays.

3. No ballast may be pumped overside in port. Ballast disposal facilities are available at the El Palito Terminal.

4. The use of Venezuelan Government Pilots is compulsory for docking and undocking.

5. The Venezuelan flag should be displayed at the mast-head during daylight hours by vessels anchored and berthed in Venezuelan waters.

6. In addition to other clearance documents, two copies of an itemised list of articles in the ship's slop chest must be presented to the authorities on arrival.

7. The emergency fire signal is five long blasts on the vessel's whistle or siren. No other signal is to be given in case of emergency.

8. Rat guards must be in place on all mooring lines.

APPROACHES: The terminal pier is marked by the following lights: One occulting red light at the top of No. 1 (North-west) Hose Rack, 80 ft. above sea level. Latitude 10° 29′ 51″ N., Longitude 68° 07′ 13″ W., and one green light, flashing every 3 seconds at the top of No. 2 (South-east) Hose Rack, 80 ft. above sea level, located 275 ft.

S.E. of No. 1 Hose Rack. A group of 5 crude storage tanks, painted aluminum, visible 20 miles on a clear day, are located 1.25 miles 200° from the head of the pier.

DOCUMENTS:

A. Admeasurement Certificates. All vessels calling at Venezuelan ports for the first time must be measured for tonnage by the Captain of the Port. It is the usual practice to take the ship's Panama Canal or Suez Canal Certificate, which is used as a basis of recalculating the tonnage under the Venezuelan regulations and is returned before sailing. The Venezuelan Admeasurement Certificate is forwarded to the owners at a later date. A fee is charged for the certificate which is payable only on the vessel's first call. Vessels registered in the following countries are excluded from the above regulations: Denmark, France, Germany, Ireland, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, United Kingdom and U.S.A.

B. Inward clearance is affected on board immediately after docking by Government Port Officials and a representative of the Marine Department. It is necessary that the following documents be ready on arrival:

Clearance from last port (1 copy).
Ballast Manifest from last port (1 copy, visaed according to paragraph (d) if there is no Venezuelan Consul).
Crew List (9 copies).
Passenger and Baggage Lists (5 copies, visaed; 2 copies not visaed).
List of Personal Effects (5 copies not visaed).
Store List (3 copies, see paragraph (c)).
List of Slop Chest (3 copies not visaed).
Sailing Permit (issued by maritime authority of last port).

C. Store list prepared should indicate separately all deck, engine and cabin stores. The store lists may be prepared on board prior to arrival unless the vessel is coming from the Netherland Antilles or the Guianas, in which case they must be visaed by the Venezuelan Consul at the port of departure.

D. Outward clearance and cargo documents are delivered on board by the Marine Dispatcher. However, in order to obtain the sailing permit, a special form which is delivered on board on arrival must be completed, not later than two hours before sailing time. This form gives cargo and freeboard information required by the Captain of the Port. In addition, one of the 9 copies of the crew list specified above, corrected to show any changes made while in port, should be attached to the form.

PILOTAGE: The Pilot's working hours are from 0600 to 1800 hours. There are no charges for their assistance during those hours on workdays. On Sundays and holidays they charge overtime. There is also a charge when ship has anchored in the bay as according to the pilotage law each movement (and entering the bay is one movement) requires a Pilot. By special agreement only Pilot's overtime will be charged for anchorage, as anchorage and docking is considered as one movement with respect to Government Pilotage Fee.

Pilotage is compulsory government service. The government charges the Pilot's assistance according to ship's net tonnage. Vessels under flags of Panama and Liberia are required to have their Venezuelan Tonnage Certificate. The government charges for docking and sailing.

Pilots are employees of the Venezuelan Government and pilotage is compulsory for vessels entering or leaving the harbour. The terminal will arrange for Pilots to board all vessels as necessary. Pilots meet the vessel via launch provided by the terminal. The Pilot may decline to moor the vessel if it is not equipped with satisfactory mooring equipment, lines, gear, etc., or if it is not sufficiently ballasted. It is the responsibility of the Master to notify the Pilot of any special conditions or peculiarities, such as defective navigation equipment, mooring lines, tackle, gear or lack of necessary equipment, which might impose hazards in connection with the handling, mooring, discharging or loading of vessels.

At the berths, vessels must be moored to the entire satisfaction of the Pilot and the terminal operators' Mooring Master.

The Pilot acts in an advisory capacity. The Master retains responsibility for the vessel at all times. In the event it becomes necessary to disregard the Pilot's advice in order to ensure the safety of the vessel, the Master must forward a full written report of the circumstances through the terminal for delivery to the Captain of the Port.

ANCHORAGE: Notice of Readiness can be tendered at anchorage. The suggested anchorage for El Palito Terminal is located ½ to 1 mile North or West of the seaward end of the pier. The area to the East of the pier is not recommended as an anchorage.

RESTRICTIONS: None. Vessels enter day or night and at any state of tide.

MAX. SIZE: East berth draft 38 ft. 06 in. West berth draft 40 ft. 00 in. Length 800 ft.

DRY CARGO JETTY: Can accommodate bulk carriers up to 32 ft. draft.

BALLAST: Due to the exposed location of the oil piers, vessels are required to be ballasted to the following minimum drafts for safe manoeuvring to and from the berths:

Overall Length of Vessel	Minimum Draft Required
400–480 ft.	forward 9 ft., aft 17 ft.
481–700 ft.	forward 12 ft., aft 20 ft.
701–800 ft.	forward 14 ft., aft 23 ft.

Two 80,000 barrel slop pits and a 20 in. ballast line are available to receive all ballast.

Vessels with separate ballast tanks, lines and pumps may discharge ballast overside. Ballast for entering the harbour should be carried in the minimum number of tanks, and all other tanks stripped dry so as to minimise the time required for discharging ballast alongside berths.

All ships in ballast from abroad are charged for Consular Ballast Certificate.

HEALTH: No radio pratique. Health officers board vessel at berth.

RADIO: Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, Coastal Station call sign YVL, makes radio contact with all vessels "CQ" on 8722 kc. at the following hours: 1130, 1330, 1530, 1830, 2130, 0030, 0200 GMT. Also "CQ" on 17.141 kc. at 1630 GMT and "CQ" on 4.322 kc. at 0430 and 0630 GMT.

Vessels originally cleared for another port, and diverted at sea to El Palito, should Radio Socony Puerto Cabello the following information as soon as the change of sailing orders are received:

Advise diverted.
Name and class of vessel.
Number of crew.
Flag of vessel.
Last port of call.
Port from which originally cleared.
Estimated time of arrival at pilot station.
Type and amount of cargo vessel will load.
Time required to discharge ballast.
Master's name in full as signature (John Jones, Master).

This information is required in order to make in advance special arrangements for inward clearance to avoid payment of fines.

TUGS: Tugs are not available at El Palito.

BERTHING:

1. The use of both anchors is required for docking at both berths. It is considered prudent to have both anchors hove-out prior to entering the harbour in order to facilitate speedy release while mooring. The Pilot will advise whether the vessel is to be moored port or starboard side to the dock.

2. In the event the berth is required by another vessel, a vessel having completed loading may be required to vacate the berth promptly and proceed to anchorage to await cargo documents.

3. East Berth. Approach at very dead slow speed along a line parallel to a line formed by the East and the West berth at a distance from it equal to the distance of the North buoy. Drop the starboard anchor at the point of intersection of the ship's fore with a line formed by the two East shore range markers. Continue along same path at very dead slow speed until reaching with the ship's fore the East berth. Drop the port anchor. Allow the ship to drift into position alongside berth. This will be done by tying mooring lines as required by Pilot and with the help of the ship's engines.

4. West Berth. Approach at very dead slow speed along a line parallel to a line formed by the East and West berths and at a distance from it equal to the distance of the North buoy. Drop the port anchor at the point of intersection of the ship's fore with a line formed by the two West shore range markers. Continue along same path at very dead slow speed until reaching with the ship's fore the West berth. Drop the starboard anchor. Allow the ship to drift into position alongside berth. This will be done by tying mooring lines as required by the Pilot and with the help of the ship's engines.

5. General. Available hose connections, all 8 in., are as follows: Three for Fuel oil, one for diesel products and one for leaded or unleaded gasolines. All dirty ballast to be pumped ashore through the fuel oil loading hoses.

LOADING:

1. Cargo: On completion of inward clearance, information regarding the number of hoses and loading rate will be given to the Master and Chief Officer. During ballast discharge supplementary information will be given the Chief Officer. A 15 minute standby is required prior to finishing any grade.

2. Contamination of Crude: It has been established that one of the major causes of contamination of crude oil is the small amount of salt water remaining in the ship's tanks, pumps and ballast lines after discharging ballast. This small amount of salt water frequently results in costly damage and downtime to refining equipment and also presenting many other problems. Therefore all tanks and lines must be pumped as dry as possible.

3. Draining of Hoses: Hoses are drained by gravity on all products and crude. Ship personnel must co-operate with terminal personnel in this operation to ensure complete draining of hoses into ship tanks and adequate drip cans must be placed to catch the remaining oil in line. Sawdust or equivalent must be on standby to clean up any oil leaks.

4. Loading Rates:

Commodity	Available at berths	Size of Line	Estimated Max. Barrels per Hr.	Hoses
Crude Oil	1×2	30″	27,000	1–10″ & 3–8
Bunker C	1×2	24″	18,000	3–8″
Diesel	1×2	16″	8,000	1–8″ & 1–10
Unleaded Gasoline	1×2	8″	8,000	1–8
Leaded Gasoline	1×2	16″	3,000	1–8
Ships Bunkers	1×2	8″	6,000	1–8
Lube	2	8″		1–8

Loading rates will be reduced by the terminal when topping off tanks at the vessel's request.

5. Scuppers: Loading will not be started till all deck scuppers are properly sealed to the satisfaction of the terminal.

6. Simultaneous Deballasting and Loading: Vessels equipped with separate and completely segregated ballast tanks, lines and pumps and never used for oil may be permitted to discharge ballast and load simultaneously providing approval has been obtained from the terminal.

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and hospitalisation, if required, are available at the Seguros Sociales in Puerto Cabello. Several dentists are located in Puerto Cabello. Authorisation for any medical and/or dental treatment must be made by the Master. Transportation is available at the Terminal Office. If the patient does not speak Spanish an interpreter should accompany him.

FRESH WATER: Not available.
FUEL: Bunkers are available only for vessels loading cargo. Disputes as to quantity should be registered by signing the bunker receipt under protest and noting the ship's quantities thereon.
CUSTOMS: While the vessel is in port, Venezuelan National Guard officials are assigned on board to ensure compliance with Customs regulations. The law requires that meals be supplied to these officials during regular meal hours.

Venezuelan laws are strict in regard to contraband and Masters are requested to instruct their crews not to take cigarettes or other articles ashore.

Cigarettes in cartons, cigars, tobacco, souvenirs, gifts (particularly items of women's apparel), should be collected prior to arrival in port, listed with the items in the slop chest and placed in the custody of the Master for deposit in the slop chest which will be sealed for the duration of the vessel's stay in port.
CONSULS: French, Norwegian, Swedish and Panama Consulates are represented in Puerto Cabello. There is no American Consulate. It is necessary for Masters of Panamanian flag vessels to visit the Panamanian Consulate at Puerto Cabello to present documents and receive dispatch as required by law. Regular office hours are from 0800 to 1200 and from 1400 to 1700 Mondays through Fridays; any dispatch issued outside of regular office hours is billed at double fees. Terminal Office will arrange transportation to Puerto Cabello upon request.
REPAIRS: Only emergency repairs of a minor nature can be made. Prices are very high.
REPATRIATION: The documents and personal effects of seamen left ashore for hospitalisation, repatriation or other reason, must be delivered to the Terminal Office before sailing. A letter from the Master is required advising the maximum amount of advances to the seaman and any other instructions concerning his repatriation. All expenses incurred by the seaman, including the cost of repatriation, are for the vessel's account. Venezuelan law at all times holds the Master, Agent or Owner responsible for any seaman left behind in Venezuela.
AIRPORT: Distant about 4 miles.
TIME: Local time is four hours slow of Greenwich Mean Time.
SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave is permitted and a representative of the Captain of the Port boards on arrival and issues the required number of passes. Shore passes are to be collected prior to sailing and given to the National Guard watchmen on board.

Vessels are not permitted to sail until all crew members are on board, or special permission has been obtained to sail without a crew member.
REGULATIONS:

1. Engines: No engine repairs will be made while the ship is in dock. Engines are to be kept at standby at all times while the ship is in port.
2. Ratguards: Vessels must use ratguards on all mooring lines.
3. Visitors: All visitors to vessels are prohibited, without written permission in each case by the Port Captain or his assistant. Mooring Master, petroleum inspectors, dispatchers, and terminal employees handling hoses may board ship in performance of their duties.
4. Pollution: The laws of Venezuela are very strict in regard to the pollution of harbour and coastal waters by oil, and heavy fines are imposed for violations. No dirty ballast or oil is to be pumped or allowed to escape over the side. No engine-room or pump-room bilges may be pumped overboard. All pump-room sea suctions and overboard discharge valves must be secured prior to loading or discharging cargo. Loading must be conducted with the utmost care and vigilance so that errors or delays may not result in spills. All deck scuppers must be plugged tight before loading so that in the event of a spill pollution of the harbour may not result.
5. Garbage: No garbage is to be thrown over the side while the vessel is in port.
6. Passengers: Passengers will not be permitted to disembark unless in possession of the required visa and documents. To facilitate clearance, if passengers are carried, the Master should include this information in his ETA.
7. Firearms: Firearms on board any merchant vessel calling at Venezuelan ports must not exceed one per officer, nor can the ammunition exceed 18 cartridges per officer. All firearms and ammunitions must be noted on the store list. Officers must not carry firearms while the vessel is in Venezuelan waters and these sidearms and ammunition should be collected and held in the Master's safe custody.

It if becomes necessary for the Master of the vessel to disregard Pilot's orders in order to ensure safety of the ship a written report from the Master shall be submitted promptly to the Government Port Captain in Spanish. Meneg will assist in translation, when necessary.

ANCHORAGE: Upon arrival at the entrance to Pozuelos Bay the ship should be veered within the area bounded by approximate co-ordinates: Lat. 10° 17′ 30″ N., Lat. 10° 10′ 30″ N., Long. 64° 35′ W., Long. 64° 42′ W., This is the anchorage zone. When ready to dock, a Pilot will be dispatched by launch to ship.

MAX. SIZE: No limitation is placed on width of tankers. Ships up to 1,000 ft. in length can be turned around in the inner harbour area. Max. safe draft alongside (berth No. 5) is 62 ft.

HEALTH: In theory the Government Port Doctor is to board each incoming vessel and board only outgoing vessels which carry passengers. In practice, however, the doctor boards at his discretion.

Ships cleared between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. Mondays through Fridays and all day Saturday, Sundays and holidays are charged by Immigration Service for the issuance of shore leave passes. There is no charge for this service from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Transportation and immigration clearance fees on movement of seamen are billed at cost.

RADIO: Masters are requested to advise Meneg Puerto la Cruz by radio 48 hours in advance of estimated arrival outlining vessel's name, date and hour of arrival, bunkers and cash required, if any. In cases of ships diverted at sea, legal requirements also call for name of Master, number of crew, port of departure, port to which originally cleared and flag of ship. Vessels may contact the terminal by radio-telephone on any of the following frequencies: 2080 kc., 2120 kc., 2182 kc., 2638 kc., and 2738 kc. There is standby attention 24 hours a day to all frequencies mentioned.

Notice of diversion at sea, not received prior to arrival of vessel, subjects ship to incontestable fine from the government.

Ship-to-shore radios are installed on the oil dock and the company tug Unare. A 350-watt AM transmitter-receiver operates on the follow ing frequencies which are monitored 24 hours a day: 2080 kc. 2120 kc., 2182 kc., and 2738 kc. VHF Channel 16 for calling.

TUGS: Two-tug service is compulsory by law in this port. The Company has available a first-class diesel-electric tug of 1,600 h.p. and a contract tug of 2,100 h.p.

Tug assistance is charged from the moment the tugs leave their mooring, after having been requested, until they have returned and made fast. In other words, time is charged during the entire period the tugs are at the service of the requesting vessel, whether or not the latter is under actual manoeuvres. Generally, the Pilot will not commence movement of the vessel until he is assured that the tugs are standing by.

BERTHING: The loading facilities consist of five berths. Products available and safe draft are as follows:

	Berth 1	2	3	4	5
Crudes	×	×	×	×	×
Heavy fuel oil					×
Refined products			×	×
LPG		×	×
Bunker "C" fuel	×	×	×	×	×
Diesel fuel	×	×	×	×	×
Intermediate fuels	×	×	×	×	×
Fresh water	×	×	×	×	×
Safe draft	38′	38′	38′	38′	62′

Upon arrival at dock the following rules must be observed:

(a) Masters must ensure that mooring lines are properly tended during the discharge of ballast and loading of cargo, and that sufficient personnel is on board at all times to handle same. Discharging or loading will be temporarily suspended upon infringement of this regulation.

(b) Masters are requested to remove the blank flanges from their vessel's loading manifold before docking, so as to expedite the connecting of the shore hoses by company personnel. Vessels using berth No. 5 are also requested to have their derrick and gangway ready for use.

Note: Vessels always dock with starboard side to dock.

(c) While docked, circulating sea water, hot water or steam on starboard side of ship is prohibited. Hot water or steam may activate the automatic sprinkler system as well as damage piping located under the dock surface.

(d) Rat-guards must be placed on all ropes connected with the shore.

(e) Heavy exhaust smoke from vessel's smoke stack is not permitted. Any infringement of this rule will result in Government fine and/or removal of ship from dock.

(f) Meals must be provided in officers' mess-room for Venezuelan National Guard personnel who may be assigned to the vessel during stay in port.

LOADING: After the vessel has been cleared, the Company Dock Supervisor on watch will give the Master of the vessel written instructions as to grade or grades of cargo, loading rates, information on size of hoses and lines, and other information pertinent to the loading of the vessel.

During loading operations, company employees are on watch to administer to the needs of each vessel.

Upon termination of loading cargo, hoses are normally displaced with air at controlled rates prior to disconnecting. If the ship's officers request that the alternate procedure of draining hoses be effected, shore personnel will be happy to comply provided the following steps are observed by ship's officers:

1. Advice be received prior to termination of loading cargo.
2. Ship's receptacles be situated to receive oil drained on board. It should be noted that heavy fines are imposed for spills or overflows which contaminate the bay.

Shortly after completion of loading company personnel will take ship's ullages and, later, deliver cargo and sailing papers to an officer of the vessel.

Ships must vacate berth upon completion of loading and await papers at anchorage if the berth is needed for another vessel. The Dock Supervisor on duty will advise ship's officer of this matter.

MEDICAL: All requests for medical or dental treatment must be accompanied by a written request from the Master to the Company Dock Supervisor on duty. The Company makes available to ship's personnel the same clinic which has been designated for its employees. Seamen requiring medical attention should first contact the Company's Dock Supervisor who will provide them with a medical order and also provide transportation to and from the hospital.

In the event of hospitalisation, and after a seaman has been discharged, he must rejoin his vessel if it is still in port. Otherwise, he will be lodged in a hotel pending instructions as to his disposition.

Company doctors do not visit ships. If medical attention is required aboard ships, the Government Port Doctor will board and attend the patient.

FRESH WATER: Treated fresh water is available in reasonable quantities for vessel's boilers and for human consumption. The supply of water is not held in special reserve for vessels. When required, it is supplied from the terminal water system utilised by Mene Grande Oil Company. It is, therefore, an accommodation to ships calling at the terminal.

FUEL: The terminal is not a general bunker station. Only ships discharging dry cargo or loading petroleum may take bunkers.

Bunker "C", light and heavy diesel fuel and complete range of intermediate fuels are available in quantity. Delivery rates to the ships are approximately as follows: Bunker "C", 200 tons per hour; heavy diesel, 150 tons per hour; intermediate fuels, 150 tons per hour.

Note: Orders for light diesel must exceed 2000 bbls. (approximately 280 tons.)

Whenever a vessel takes bunkers the Master or Chief Engineer, or whomever they may appoint, may inspect the shore tanks and meters to satisfy themselves as to quality and quantity. Meters are installed on all bunker systems with the exception of light diesel, and the master meter has been certified by E. W. Saybolt & Company.

Gas oil for galley fuel is supplied only by tank truck or in barrels through local suppliers.

The dock valves on the bunker lines will only be opened and closed upon advice from the ship's personnel.

Bunkers are delivered concurrent with the cargo.

Lubricants are available through ship chandler, or directly from oil company distributors.

CUSTOMS: Crew members should be warned against taking knives or other lethal weapons ashore, as this is strictly prohibited. All firearms and ammunition must be noted on stores list. They cannot exceed one per officer nor 18 cartridges per gun. No arms may be carried while ship is in Venezuelan waters or tied up at dock. Contraband of any description will be confiscated. Each man is allowed one package of cigarettes on his person and this package must be opened. No liquor is to be taken ashore. It is prohibited to carry liquor from shore to ship without authorisation from captain of vessel. It is further strictly prohibited to consume liquor in dock area.

It is normally forbidden to take photographic cameras ashore. However, upon written request to the National Guard contingent on the oil dock, special permission may be obtained. This is subject to two limitations: one, that the camera is returned to the ship; two, that no photographs are taken of the petroleum installations.

IDENTITY CARDS: Passes for shore leave are issued by the officials of the "Capitanía de Puerto", who board with the Customs authorities upon the vessel's arrival at dock. These passes are valid for the duration of the vessel's stay in port and must be returned before sailing to the guard assigned to the vessel.

In order to comply with Immigration Regulations, crews should be carefully checked before sailing, and any missing seamen reported to the Dock Supervisor. Crew members left behind when the vessel sails will be held in custody until deported at the vessel's expense.

CONSULS: The following foreign countries have consular offices in the vicinity of Puerto La Cruz:

Belgium	France	Panama
Brazil	Great Britain	Sweden
Columbia	Italy	The Netherlands
Denmark	Norway	United States
		West Germany

Dock personnel should be apprised of vessels' consular requirements promptly upon docking. Transportation, if necessary, will be furnished by the Company for this purpose.

REPAIRS: Request for repair work by local contractors must be accompanied by a written request from the Master of the vessel.

REPATRIATION: Seamen discharged from hospital for transfer to another port, seamen arriving from another port or those being repatriated are handled by company personnel without charge. However, hotel, transportation, government and handling fees are billed at cost.

In the case of seamen left ashore for any reason, Masters are requested to furnish a letter accepting responsibility for all expenses incurred, advances if any, and instructions for repatriation. Venezuelan regulations, at all times, hold the vessel responsible for a seaman during his stay in the country. Close contact is maintained by radio with ship owners regarding disposition of their seamen.

AIRPORT/MAIL: With the exception of Saturdays, Sundays and holidays there is daily airmail and airfreight service to and from Puerto La Cruz.

Mail handed to company representatives for posting shall be separated by "ship" and "crew". Separate charges will be noted on disbursement account. The Company will not, however, keep a record of postage expense of any individual. This is the responsibility of the Master.

About 75% of all ship's mail received is eventually reforwarded or returned. This is due to late receipt of mail, diversion of a vessel or cancellation of a scheduled trip. The folowing rules have been set up to eliminate any misunderstanding between the Company and interested parties:

1. Mail arriving for a ship on which no advice whatsoever has been received will be kept for thirty days and thence returned to its point of origin. A bill for postage will be sent to the interested party.
2. Mail arriving for a ship which has already sailed, and on which no forwarding instructions have been left by the Master of the vessel, will be retained for thirty days and thence returned to its point of origin. Postage costs will be charged to the disbursement account of the interested vessel.
3. When parts and machinery are received for a vessel which does not arrive within a reasonable period of time, we will advise the sender of the material on hand. If no instructions are received from the sender of the material, we will not be responsible for disposition of material. Air express packages usually arrive through Maiquetra Airport which is 200 miles distant from Puerto La Cruz. Receipt and transshipment of air express packages to Puerto La Cruz usually take several days. Shippers should, therefore, not expect one day service within Venezuela and should time their shipments accordingly.

TIME: GMT minus 4 hours. Permanent.

REGULATIONS:

(a) Excessive Smoke. It is absolutely prohibited to exhaust heavy smoke through a ship's funnel while tied up at the Company's docks. It is also prohibited to blow boiler tubes. Failure to comply with this regulation will result in any or all of the following actions:

1. Vessel's discharge of ballast or loading of crude or products will be immediately shut down.
2. Vessel will be subject to fine from authorities.
3. Vesel may be removed from dock.
4. Owners will be advised of infractions of this regulation.
5. Fines, time lost, and other related expenses will be charged against the vessel.

(b) Ballast. Although climatic conditions in Puerto La Cruz are relatively mild, vessels should arrive with sufficient ballast to permit safe handling. Venezuelan regulations strictly prohibit the pumping overboard of dirty ballast while vessel is in sight of land. All ballast must be pumped ashore with the exception of vessels especially equipped with clean segregated systems which are reserved for ballast only. Vessels so equipped will be permitted to pump overboard after first being inspected and approved by shore personnel. Heavy fines are imposed for pollution of waters and industrial fishermen are quick to report any infringement. Maximum discharge pressure to shore installations is 90 psi. through the 16 in. line which dumps into ballast lakes approximately 300 metres south of dock.

(c) Pollution. Venezuelan laws are very strict on this subject. The escape of dirty ballast, lubricating oil or crude oil into coastal waters is considered to be pollution whether it takes place at the dock or in the harbour. All discharge valves, bilges and scuppers are to be closed before loading operations commence. Strict vigilance must be exercised in discharging ballast and loading crude and bunkers. When an oil spill occurs the Master, government officials and a company representative evaluate the quantity of the spill and make a report to the Government Petroleum Inspector. On the basis of this report a fine is imposed. This type of fine cannot be appealed. The majority of spills are due to negligence by ship's personnel supervising loading operations. Therefore, an efficient watch aboard ship should be maintained at all times.

TONNAGE CERTIFICATE: Due to reciprocal agreements between Venezuela and the following countries, ships flying the flag of any of the below-named countries exempted from Arqueo compliance and payment of fees: Denmark, England, France, Germany, Holland, Ireland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, United States.

Ships bearing the flag of any other nation shall require a Venezuelan Arqueo Certificate. The cost of measuring is contingent on the size and tonnage of vessel, but the average is Bs. 225. The certificate is usually issued after the ship sails from port. It is then sent to the marine department of the Owners of the vessel by airmail.

GENERAL:

(a) Cash. Masters are requested to consider their cash requirements carefully, as return cannot be accepted. The local currency is the Venezuelan "Bolívar". No other currency is available from the Company. Foreign exchange may be secured from local banks by interested parties. Local banks are open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m., excepting holidays.

(b) Stores. Foreign cigarettes or other bonded stores are not available in Puerto La Cruz. There is ample supply of national and imported products through the ship chandler. During the past several years there has been improvement in the supply of fresh and canned food items. Prices are competitive due to favourable exchange rates.

(c) Laundry. Laundry service is available during daylight hours, excepting Sundays and holidays, provided prompt notice is given to ship chandler upon arrival in port.

(d) Charts. No charts or sailing documents are available in the terminal. Same should be forwarded by airmail to the Company for delivery to the ship.

(e) Launch. Launch service in transporting Pilots to and from ships, handling lines to dock, and for other official business is supplied by an outside firm under the direction of the Dock Supervisor. In the Puerto La Cruz Terminal no government launch is available. Therefore, the service performed for transportation of government officials is for account of the vessel, at cost. The present fee is subject to change without notice.

AGENCY:

(i) It is unnecessary to request "Agency" on vessels loading at the Company's terminal. The Company does not act as "Agent" and, also, ship's business is taken care of automatically.

Mene Grande Oil Company, as operator, charges a fixed fee for General Services. The Company does not act as Agent for a vessel, but it does render all of the services required for a prompt and efficient tanker turnaround. These services consist principally of the following:

Request for Pilot.
Transport Government employees who perform official visits.
Render complete documentation service for cargo.
Supply land transportation for functions relating to the receipt and dispatch of vessel.
Present the shipper of the cargo with complete set of disbursements.
Dispatch vessel.
Handle, at cost, seamen left behind.
Handle, at cost, mail and packages.

(ii) Supervisor Assistance. This assistance covers the following company services at a fixed change.

Control over marine units which service vessels.
Assistance in docking and mooring vessels to dock.
Supervision over connection of hoses, discharging ballast and cargo loading facilities.
Supervision over undocking of vessel.
Assistance in securing medical and dental attention for seamen.
Assistance in securing ship chandler.
Miscellaneous other related services.

PUNTA CARDON: 11.36 N. 70.15 W.

OPERATORS: Compañia Shell de Venezuela.

FLAG: It is compulsory to display a Venezuelan flag at the foremast starboard yardarm during daylight hours for ships anchored or berthed in Venezuelan waters. The ships Services will provide a Venezuelan flag at any time for ship's account.

LOCATION: The port of Punta Cardon is located on the Gulf of Venezuela, on South-west coast of Paraguaná Peninsula, Venezuela. Punta Cardon is an open sea port with practically no swell, due to the Easterly winds prevailing almost all year from the shore side.

WEATHER: There is little rainfall at Punta Cardon, it averages some 12 in. annually. The trade wind normally blows from the E.N.E., force 4 (maximum force 8) Beaufort scale. There is a humidity of 55%. Sea temperature 79° (26.1°C). Density of water 1.025. The Caribbean hurricane season is from August to November. Most rain falls during this period, and although Cardon lies far South of the usual hurricane tracks, calm days or even Westerly winds may be expected. Occasionally ships cannot be berthed for a couple of days due to high swell.

TIDE: The normal range of the tide is about 11 in. However, an 18 in. range has been observed during spring tides.

CURRENT: The tidal current (Lunar tide) at this port is negligible. During the flood tide the current runs S.S.W. speed 0.7 knots and when the tide is ebbing it runs N.N.E. at a speed of 0.35 knots.

ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS:

1. Incoming vessels must send ETA at least three days before arrival at Punta Cardon.
2. If a ship, originally cleared for another port (including any other Venezuelan port) is diverted at sea to Punta Cardon, certain information must be radioed prior to arrival in order to avoid heavy fine(s) and/or delays.
3. No dirty ballast may be pumped overside in port in Venezuelan coastal waters. Ballast disposal facilities are available at Punta Cardon Terminal.
4. The use of Venezuelan Government Pilots is compulsory for berthing and unberthing.
5. In addition to other clearance documents, five copies of an itemised list of articles in the ship's slop chest must be presented to the authorities on arrival.
6. The emergency fire signal is five long blasts on the ship's whistle or siren. No other signal is to be given in cases of emergency.
7. Rat-guards must be placed on all mooring lines.

DOCUMENTS: Clearance (inward pratique). Inward clearance is effected on board by Government Port and Customs Officials and a representative of the Oil Movements Department immediately after berthing. The following documents must be ready on arrival:

(1) In ballast:

*(a) Clearance from Last Port (1 copy).
*(b) Ballast Manifest from last port (1 copy).
(c) Crew List (7 copies).
(d) Steward's Store List (all foodstuff, liquors, tobacco, etc.), to be declared on a separate and independent sheet (5 copies, see note below).
(e) Deck and Engine Stores and Spare Parts List (paints, varnishes, chains, ropes, etc.), to be declared on a separate and independent sheet (5 copies, see note below).
(f) Medicine Chest Lists (including narcotics accurately itemised) (5 copies).
(g) Slop Chest Lists (5 copies).
(h) Personal Effects Lists (4 copies).
(i) Sailing Permit (issued by Maritime Authority at last port of call) (1 copy).
(j) Passenger and Baggage Lists (if any) (2 copies).
(k) List of Passengers in transit (if any) (4 copies).

* Documents marked with asterisk are to be visaed by Venezuelan Consular Authorities at the last port of call.

In the absence of a Venezuelan Consul the documents must be visaed by the Consul of a friendly nation, or by the Local Chamber of Commerce, or by two local reputable businessmen, whose signatures shall be notarised.

In the absence of a Venezuelan Consul the following notation should be written in Spanish on each document signed by the alternates designated above.

"Por no existir en la localidad Agente Consular Venezolano y a petición de los embarcadores, certifico el presente documento".
(Signature)

Both the Steward's Store List and the Deck and Engine Stores and Spare Parts List may be prepared on board prior to the vessel's arrival. However, if the vessel is dispatched from the colonial Antilles or Guianas, these lists as well as the Personal Effects List must be visaed by the Venezuelan Consul at the port of departure. The Steward's Stores List must be comprehensive and accurate, especially with regard to cigarettes and liquor. All new clothing, gifts, souvenirs, etc. are to be clearly marked. All personal effects of the crew are to be collected and placed in the Bonded Stores Locker, ready for sealing by the Customs Authorities on arrival.

Although vessels proceed directly to Punta Cardon, clearance documents should be made out showing the port as "Las Piedras, Paraguana (Punta Cardon)". Failure to comply with this requirement may result in fines up to a maximum of U.S. $600.00.

(3) Clearance documents out-bound: Outward clearance and cargo documents are delivered on board by the Ships Services Representative.

In the event that the berth is required by another vessel, a vessel having completed loading may be required to vacate the berth promptly and proceed to anchorage to await cargo documents and clearance.

PILOTAGE: Pilots are employees of Venezuelan Government and pilotage is compulsory for vessels entering or leaving harbour. The Ships Services Office will arrange for this service at any time. If it becomes necessary for Master of the vessel to disregard Pilot's orders in order to ensure safety to the ship, the Master must promptly submit a written report to the Harbour Master on the matter, via the Ships Services Representative, stating the reason for his action.

Pilots sustaining injuries: It is compulsory to submit a full report in cases where a Pilot is injured while performing duties on board vessels.

ANCHORAGE: The anchorage at Cardon roads within a radius of 2 miles from end of jetties has depths varying from 54 to 100 ft. (LWS) and a bottom consisting of mud with some patches of small stones, sand and shells. There are no known obstructions from West to North-west of the Piers and there is ample water for a clear approach when coming from West and North-west, but the anchorage is limited on the South by a sandspit projecting 1 mile South-west off Punta Cardon Cape. A beacon is located on this sandspit in position: Latitude 11° 36′ 03.4″ North, longitude 70° 14′ 15.6″ West. Fl.R. ev. 1 sec. 17 ft. 5 miles (U).

APPROACHES: Restricted Fishing Area. Masters when approaching coast should keep a particularly sharp lookout for fishing boats, nets and small craft.

Mechanically propelled vessels drawing more than 5 ft. are prohibited from navigating in the restricted fishing area that extends off Paraguaná Península from Punta Macolla, latitude 12° 5′ 32″ North, longitude 7° 12′ 55″ West to Punta Estanques (Los Taques), latitude 11° 48′ 45″ North, longitude 70° 16′ 45″ West, and a line connecting the position indicated below:

(b) Latitude 12° 03′ 15″ North, longitude 70° 19′ 23″ West.

BALLAST: It is suggested that vessels nominated to load at this installation arrive with the minimum of ballast on board, necessary for the safe handling of the vessel under normal conditions. In this connection experience has shown that, under normal weather conditions, vessels can be safely berthed and unberthed with a quantity of ballast of approximately 20% of their respective summer deadweights. Clean ballast can be pumped into the sea, but Masters are reminded that pollution of the sea incurs heavy fines. Dirty ballast can be received ashore. Maximum discharge pressure to shore installation is 150 psi. in the 20 in. ballast line of Jetty No. 2; Jetties Nos. 4 and 1 have a 24 in. ballast line, and Jetty No. 3 has a 16 in. line. Masters are requested to endeavour to arrive at this port with 20% SDW ballast.

TUGS: Two tugs of 1,200 h.p. and 1,600 h.p. respectively are available, and their assistance is compulsory for berthing. Number, disposition and manoeuvres of tugboats are directed by the Pilot. The following tug signals in practice in this port are listed below for Master's guidance:

Short blasts are used to give orders to the tug situated ahead.

Long blasts are used to give order to the tug situated aft.

One blast means push tug engine, ahead (if it is stopped); stop tug engine, stop (if it is moving).

Two blasts, pull tug engine, astern.

One long, one short, one long and one short whistle, "Calling tugs".

Two long and two short whistles, "Tugs Dismissed".

RADIO: Arrival messages (ETA). Master of vessels bound for, or diverted to Cardon are requested to radio the following information to "Shellref. Caracas" via "La Guaira Radio", call sign YVG, 72 hours in advance of estimated arrival, or as soon as possible.

(b) Flag
(c) ETA
(d) Last port
(e) Master's name
(f) Number of crew and passengers
(g) Port for which the vessel is cleared
(h) Quantity of clean ballast on board
(i) All requirements

This information is of the utmost importance to the Harbour Authorities in facilitating the entry of vessels in general, and in case of diversion.

VHF Radio Telephony. The radio and communication centre is located in the Oil Movements Office Building situated at the foot of No. 2 Pier at a height of 50 ft. above sea level. The roof of the building is painted black and the word "Marine" painted across in large white letters.

There is a RT set operating 24 hours a day on the following frequencies, and manned by English speaking operators:

156.6	Mc/sec.	FM	VHF	(Channel 12)	Range limit	25	miles
156.8	mc/sec.	FM	VHF	(Channel 16)	,, ,,	25	,,

Call sign: "Marine Cardon".

Vessels not equipped with radio telephone may call the installation by signal lamp (Aldis' lamp) whereupon the service launch will be sent out to vessel to pick up any message it may have.

BERTHING: Without exception ships always moor head-in on all berths. It is considered prudent to have the outboard anchor hove out prior to approaching piers to facilitate speedy release while socking if necessary. Vessels are to be moored to satisfaction of the Port Services Superintendent or his deputy; mooring lines must be tended regularly and kept hove taut to prevent surging and possible damage to ships, docks or hoses. When adjusting mooring lines, the assistance of harbour tugs should be requested before slackening off any mooring line.

MEDICAL: Facilities are available for medical and dental treatment, vaccination and hospitalisation in a private clinic.

The doctor's working hours for out-patient treatment are as follows: Monday to Friday, 09.00 to 11.00, 14.00 to 17.00. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, only urgent cases will be attended to. Emergency cases will be attended to at all times.

Masters requiring medical or dental service or vaccination for their crew members should call Ships Services by dialling 2105. Our representative will make the necessary arrangements with the clinic and arrange for transportation to pick up the crew members on the pier and to take them to the clinic and back. Any crew member who is sent ashore for medical or dental treatment, and who does not speak English or Spanish, must be accompanied by a crew member who speaks one of these languages.

Doctors do not attend patients on board. In serious cases where the patient is unable to walk an ambulance will be provided to take him to the hospital.

FRESH WATER: Fresh water is available at all berths. Loading rate is 30 tons per hour.

CUSTOMS: Venezuelan National Guards are stationed at the piers to ensure that vessels in port comply with regulations. Masters are requested that these guards must be treated as ship's officers. They should be provided with a cabin when so required and be allowed to take their meals in the officers dining-room.

1. Smuggling. Strict compliance with the Customs laws of the country is enforced by the Authorities and Masters are strongly advised to caution crew members against attempting to smuggle ashore cigarettes in carton lots cigars, tobacco, souvenirs, gifts (particularly items of women's apparel) or other articles. A maximum of twenty cigarettes per person for personal use is allowed to be carried but a greater quantity will result in the imprisonment of the offender with possible heavy fines and delay to the vessel.

2. Bar. On Customs Authorities instructions vessels maintaining a "Bar Service" on board for the use of officers, crew, passengers and visitors, must keep the bar closed during the vessel's stay in port.

3. Firearms. Firearms on board any merchant vessel calling at Venezuelan ports must not exceed one per officer, nor can the ammunition exceed 18 cartridges per officer. All firearms and ammunition must be declared on stores list. Officers must not carry firearms while ship is in Venezuelan waters. Said arms should be collected together with the ammunition and held in the Master's safe custody. Crew members should be warned against taking knives or other weapons ashore as these will be confiscated and the bearer fined.

CONSULS: Brazil, Great Britain, Italy, the Netherlands and Norway have Consular representatives in this area.

TIME: Local time is Greenwich Mean Time minus 4 hours.

CERTIFICATES: All ships arriving in Venezuelan ports for the first time must be measured by the Maritime Authorities for issuance of a Venezuelan Tonnage Certificate, known as "Certificado de Arqueo". This document gives the measurements and weight of the vessel in accordance with existing laws. The cost of measuring and issuing of the Certificate is contingent on size and tonnage of vessel.

It is usual practice to take ashore the ship's "General Arrangement" and "Capacity" plans, which are used as a basis for calculations. These plans and the Venezuelan Tonnage Certificate are later forwarded to ship's Owners.

Vessels registered in following countries are exempt from above regulations, due to existing reciprocal agreement with Venezuela: U.S.A., Great Britain, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Ireland, Sweden, Norway, Portugal.

The Venezuelan Tonnage Certificate is used in calculating Venezuelan Government Port charges, such as Port Captain Habilitation for entry and despatch of vessels and Pilotage Dues, for all vessels except those registered in the countries mentioned above, in which case the Lloyd's Registered Tonnage is used.

HOLIDAYS: By order of the local Port Authorities it is requested that all ships in port be fully dressed on the following national holidays: January 1st, April 19th, July 5th, July 24th, October 12th, December 25th.

REPAIRS: Shore facilities are available for emergency repairs of a minor nature. The nearest dry docks are located at Puerto Cabello and Curacao, N.A. Request for repairs should be mentioned in ship's ETA message.

SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave is permitted and Harbour Master's representative who boards vessel on arrival issues the required number of shore passes. These passes must be shown when proceeding ashore to the Government and Company Guards at the gangway and refinery gates. They are to be collected by Master prior to sailing and handed to Pilot unberthing the vessel. Masters are reminded that in accordance with the instructions of local police, crew members be properly dressed before leaving the vessel, i.e. long trousers and shirts.

Masters are requested to have shore leave expire at least two hours before expected departure. Men then found missing should be reported to the Ships Services Office, tel. 2105, who will endeavour to locate them. An officer must accompany shore personnel in order to identify the missing crew member.

Vessels are not permitted to sail until all crew members are on board, unless said crew members are hospitalised or previously signed off by the Master through the Ships Services representative. If any crew member is missing at sailing time and cannot be found, his passport and other personal documents must be handed to the Ships Service representative, as well as written instructions as to his repatriation, when found. All costs and expenses of a crew member so left behind will be for ship's account.

GENERAL:

1. Animals: The importation and transit of all birds belonging to the genus parrot or parakeet is prohibited. For other birds a valid health certificate is required. For so-called "small animals" e.g. dogs, cats, monkeys, rabbits, etc. a valid health certificate and a valid rabies vaccination certificate are required.

2. Bonded Stores: Stores in bond are not obtainable in Punta Cardón. The nearest port with bonded stores facilities is Curacao.

3. Board of Trade Gangway: A safe gangway must be provided by the vessel and should be rigged as soon as possible after mooring to allow the Port Authorities to board, and should not be taken in until Pilot has boarded to unmoor vessel. The use of rung ladders, pilot ladders, etc. is contrary to Port Regulations and Port Authorities will not board except by means of a safe gangway or accommodation ladder.

4. Damage during Manoeuvres: When a vessel or the pier sustains damage during manoeuvres with an official Pilot on board, it is the responsibility of the Master to submit to the Ships Services representatives, immediately after the accident, a report in quintuplicate, for presentation to the Harbour Master. Such reports should give full details of the accident and of all engine movements as ordered by the Pilot, as well as a sketch in triplicate of the ship's manoeuvring position at the time. These will be translated by the Agents into Spanish and forwarded to the Harbour Master.

5. Cash Advance to Masters: Cash advances to Masters are made only in Venezuelan currency, which is the Bolívar. Cash requirements should be included in the vessel's ETA message. Foreign currencies are accepted in the United Seamen's Service Club.

6. Rat-guards: By order of the Port Authorities rat-guards must be fitted to all mooring lines. Non compliance entails a fine of 200 bolivars for each unguarded line.

7. Kerosene, Motor Gasoline, Gas-Oil, Solvents: Supplies for ship's purposes are available in drums. The return of empty drums ashore is prohibited by Customs regulations. therefore the cost of each drum will be billed to the vessel in the Port Disbursement Account.

8. Lubricants, Oils and Greases: Supplies of Shell products are available. Vessels arriving at Punta Cardon on Saturday or Sunday or on a holiday should give ample notice of their requirements by cable in order that the necessary labour arrangements for delivery can be made. This procedure also applies to the delivery of white oils mentioned under 7 above, when required outside working days.

9. Laundry Service: Laundry service is available throughout each working day. Such service should be requested in the vessel's ETA message.

10. Wireless Transmitters in Port: It is strictly prohibited to use vessel's wireless transmitters in the Port of Cardon. Non-compliance with this regulation may result in a fine being imposed on the vessel by the authorities.

11. Mail: On vessels' arrival, blank Mail List Forms will be handed to the Master to be completed in sextuplicate and duly signed by him, when sending ship's and crew mail ashore for posting. Ship's mail received after ship has sailed, or for vessels on which no advice has been received, will be held for 15 days and then returned by airmail to the owners or operators or senders, at ship's expense unless specific instructions have been received beforehand.

12. Marine Surveyors: Both the Lloyd's Agents at Maracaibo and Norsk Veritas at Caracas have a representative in Punta Cardon who acts on their behalf when a surveyor is requested. However, in the case of continuous or classification surveys, advance notice of four days should be given in order to arrange for an appointed surveyor to come from Caracas. There is also a representative of the American Bureau of Shipping in this area (Caracas).

13. Miramar Club: Masters, chief engineers and their wives can visit the Miramar Club. For this purpose entrance passes should be requested from the Ships Services Office, tel. 2105.

14. Manaure Bathing Beach: The above mentioned bathing beach is open to all ship's staff and crew members.

15. Norwegian Government Seamen Service: A Norwegian Vice Consul and Welfare Officer is stationed at Punta Cardon, and provides the usual services to seamen of this nationality. His telephone number is 4359.

16. Navigation Charts: Navigation charts are not available at this port.

17. Passengers: Movement of passengers over Cardon Piers is subject to restriction under terms of agreement with the government. Passengers will not be permitted to disembark unless in possession of the required Venezuelan visa and travel documents. If passengers are carried, Master should so advise in his radio ETA so that arrangements can be made for Immigration Authorities to visit vessel on arrival and thus facilitate clearance.

18. Petroleum Inspection: Charles Martin & Co., and E. W. Saybolt, petroleum inspectors, are available in this area. Contact can be made through the Loading Supervisor (tel. 2821).

19. Personnel – Seamen Left Ashore: In the case of seamen left ashore for hospitalisation, repatriation, desertion or other reasons, all documents and personal effects are to be handed to the Oil Movement Department's representative before sailing. A letter is required from the Master advising the maximum advances, if any, to be made to the seaman, and instructions concerning his repatriation. All expenses incurred by seamen left ashore, including cost of repatriation, are for ship's account. It is important that Masters bear in mind that the Venezuelan law will at all time hold the vessel, her Master, or Owner responsible for any seaman left behind in Venezuela.

20. Photographing: The taking of photographs within the boundary fence of the Cardon Refinery is prohibited. Taking cameras ashore is likewise prohibited.

21. Provision and Stores: Provisions and stores are available. Requisitions should be conducted through the Ships Services Office. Telephone number 2105 or the Ships Services representative when he calls on board with the authorities on arrival. Ships chandlers are not permitted to visit ships, unless specifically instructed to do so by the Agents.

22. Radar and Radio Repairs: Repair and maintenance services for radar, radio, gyro compass, radio direction finder, echo sounder, etc. are available. The repair man should be contacted through the Ships Services Office, telephone number 2105.

23. Safety of Personnel: It will be appreciated that persons intoxicated by alcoholic drinks can create risks of accidents; therefore we ask the Master's co-operation to ensure that these persons do not enter the refinery gates and/or board their vessel unless accompanied by sober members of their crew. In this connection we will advise the Master or one of his officers, so that measures can be taken to ensure the safety of the forementioned person(s) e.g. by sending one or more of the crew to the gate to accompany him (or them) to the ship.

24. Visitors: Visits to ships are prohibited except from those company employees, petroleum inspectors, etc., whose duties require their presence on board.

25. Walport Film Exchange: Subscribers to the Walport service may exchange films at the U.S. Seamen's Club situated at the foot of No. 2 Pier, from 7.30 a.m. to 10.00 p.m. every day, by telephoning 2803.

26. Staff and Crew Changes: No staff and/or crew should be engaged or discharged without consulting Ships Services (telephone 2105). In case of discharge, identification documents must be handed to the Ships Services representative or the Norwegian Consular Officer in the case of Norwegian vessels.

27. Tank Cleaning and Mopping: Several contractors in the area provide labour for tank cleaning and mopping. Masters in need of this service should submit their requirements to our Ships Services Office (telephone 2105), who will contact and request a contractor to go on board to discuss details and estimate costs of work to be effected. It must be pointed out that the Master of the vessel is solely responsible for the proper fitness of the ship's tanks for loading his next cargo, and will therefore be held liable for any contamination of the cargo after loading, due to inadequate tank cleaning. Therefore it is up to him to decide the degree of tank cleaning necessary. He may, of course seek advice from the installation representative in this respect, whenever there is any doubt. Assistance in the nature of technical advice is provided by the Marine Unit, at Master's request.

28. Turnaround: To promote the economical operation of their vessel, Masters are requested to co-operate with installation representatives in minimising their in-port time. Any delays which are considered unnecessary or extensive should be reported to the loading Supervisor (tel. 2133) so that corrective measures can be taken.

29. U.S.S. Club: All seamen are welcome to the club operated by United Seamen's Service which is located at the shore end of Pier No. 2. Shore passes are required to reach this Club. Beer, soft drinks, ice-cream, candies and various souvenirs and presents can be purchased at reasonable prices. Free cinema shows are usually held twice weekly. Master's Certificate on Preliminary Entry.
Master's Oath.
Stores List.
Crew Purchases List (Curio List).
Inward Foreign Manifest.
Quarantine Free Pratique.
Deratisation Certificate.
Crew List (Certified).
Clearance from Last Port.
Crew men Landing Permits.
Passengers List (if any passengers).

PILOTAGE: Service is available 24 hours a day and is compulsory for all vessels using HOVIC facilities in Limetree Bay. The HOVIC Harbour Master acts as Pilot and will assist the Master in docking and undocking vessels using Hess facilities; however, the Master of the vessel retains full responsibility for the ship at all times. The Pilot can be contacted by VHF Channel 16. Pilot boards at the sea buoy, position 17° 40.7′ N., 64° 44.3 W. Vessels over 45,000 dwt. are subject to movements in daylight only. Vessels should remain outside the sea buoy until boarded by the Pilot. The Pilot will be placed aboard by a company tug.

The tug HOVIC 1 is equipped with a radio-telephone having the following crystals: 2182 k.c., U.S.C.G., 2638 k.c., Ship to ship. 2738 k.c., Ship to ship. 2134 k.c., San Juan, Puerto Rico and Galveston, Texas. Ships having the above crystals should call the HOVIC 1–3 hours before their arrival at the sea buoy, and advise of any change in their ETA.

ANCHORAGE: There is no suitable anchorage for deep draft vessels off the port. Normal practice is to stop engines and wait 6 to 8 miles from the sea buoy if required to wait instructions. In bad weather vessels should proceed to Frederiksted and anchor in the vicinity of the long pier in depths of 30 to 60 ft. Vessels shall have their anchors ready to let go upon entering the channel into Limetree Bay.

APPROACHES: The entrance channel is dredged to a depth of 45 ft. and is 400 ft. wide through the reef. From inside the reef to Oil Dock 2 the channel is 45 ft. in depth and 350 ft. in width. The balance of the channel and turning basin area including Oil Dock 1 has been dredged to 45 ft. The Harbour Master will check and report on each vessel's drafts before boarding and piloting them either inbound or outbound.

HEALTH: National quarantine laws are enforced in the U.S. Virgin Islands by officers of the U.S. Public Health Service. All vessels are subject to inspection.

RADIO: Masters are requested to advise both HOVIC – St. Croix and their Agents by radio 48 hours and 24 hours in advance of their ETA giving the vessel's name, date and hour of arrival (local time), bunkers and water required.

TUGS: Tug assistance in the channel, docking and undocking is mandatory and is provided by an 1,800 h.p. diesel tug which is stationed in the port to provide this service. A second, smaller tug is available if required. Both tugs are under the orders of the HOVIC Harbour Master and are equipped with fire pumps and monitors to assist in fire fighting. A second large tug is available with advance notice.

BALLAST: United States laws prohibit the pumping overboard of dirty ballast while a vessel is within U.S. coastal waters. All ballast must be pumped to facilities available ashore. However, if a vessel is especially equipped with clean segregated systems which are reserved for ballast use only, it is permissible to pump overboard at the dock after first being inspected and approved by the dock master.

In pumping dirty ballast ashore, the ballast is received through one 12-in. shore line at a maximum discharge pressure to shore installations of 125 psi. The ballast is pumped into a ballast facility about 1 mile North of the dock. Due to the limited facilities and to the possibility of two vessels deballasting at the same time, it is requested that vessels arrive with the minimum possible ballast.

The U.S. Oil Pollution Act of 1924 applies to the Pollution of Coastal Waters. Violators are subject to fines of up to $2,500 and a year's imprisonment for each offence.

NOTICE OF READINESS: Notice of readiness to load or discharge is a warranty that the vessel is in all respects ready to load or discharge, and that all of the ship's equipment (including, but not limited to tanks, pumps, valves, and pipe-lines) is ready and fit to load or discharge petroleum and/or petrochemical products. Notice of readiness will not be accepted unless the vessel is in all respects ready to load or discharge, as appropriate. Vessel will not be deemed ready to load or discharge and pumping will not commence until the senior deck officer shall have executed and delivered to HOVIC a "Declaration of inspection prior to bulk cargo transfer" as required by U.S. Coast Guard Regulations.

BERTHING: Vessels must provide their own gangway. Terminal comprises three berths at T-head jetties. One berth suitable for vessels of 30,000 dwt. only, but other berths dredged to depths of 45 ft. Vessels moor with two head lines and two stern lines from mooring points ashore, and four spring lines to the jetty.

LOADING: Loading operations are normally carried out at relatively high pumping rates. Loading rates may be reduced by request. Loading cargo overall will not be permitted without specific written authorisation from HOVIC'S General Manager.

Hose pressures should not exceed 125 psi during loading or discharging.

Oil Dock is serviced by: 1 24 in. diameter crude line, 1 24 in. diameter no. 6 oil line. 1 20 in. diameter gasoline line, 1 20 in. no. 2 oil line, 1 10 in. diameter kerosine line, 1 12 in. diameter ballast line, 1 8 in. diameter fresh water line.

Four 10 in. hoses are available for connecting up to each of the 20 in. and 24 in. shore lines – single 10 in. hoses are available for the kerosine and ballast lines.

Oil Dock 2 serviced by: 1 24 in. diameter crude line, 1 24 in. diameter 6 oil line.

MEDICAL: Medical attention is generally available from the public hospital at any hour of the day or night to crew members of all vessels. The representative of the ship's Agent should be contacted by the Master with any requests for medical attention for the crew. For each man needing medical or dental attention, a form should be completed in duplicate and signed by the Master, or in his absence, by the Chief Officer. The form should provide the date, patient's name, rating, and the name of the vessel. In case of emergency, or when a patient cannot be moved from the vessel, the Master should advise the ship's Agent by radio if at sea, or on the telephone if in port.

DENSITY: 1025.

FRESH WATER: The island of St. Croix is dependent almost entirely on rainfall for its supply of fresh water. There are wells but many of them are rather saline in nature. As a result fresh water is scarce and expensive. In conjunction with its refinery operation HOVIC operates a desalination plant and limited quantities of fresh water are available providing at least 48 hours notice of these requirements is given prior to the ship's arrival. All fresh water is metered aboard ship.

FUEL: Both no. 6 fuel oil (Bunker C) and light marine diesel are available by prior arrangement. Advice concerning quantities should be given in the vessels arrival message (ETA) sent 48 hours prior to arrival.

DEVELOPMENTS: A fourth-berth is under construction and a further three berths are planned. It is projected to increase the available depth to 65 ft. in the future.

SHORE LEAVE: Under normal circumstances, no restrictions are imposed by the Immigration Authorities on shore liberty. Masters are requested to have all crew members on board at least 1 hour prior to departure time, to avoid delay "awaiting crew members". If crew members of foreign vessels are to be given shore leave, Form 1–95 must be prepared for each member of the crew.

TIME: The U.S. Virgin Islands use Atlantic Standard Time, which is four hours slow of Greenwich Mean Time.

GENERAL: (a) Immigration: The United States immigration laws apply in the U.S. Virgin Islands. Passports and visas are required.

(b) Customs: The customs collection district of the U.S. Virgin Islands is under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Treasury Department but has its own Customs laws.

(c) Liquors: The transportation of alcoholic beverages inside HOVIC's property is strictly prohibited; consequently, no liquor or beer may be removed from vessels. The only exception to the foregoing is in the case of bonded stores ordered by Masters.

(e) Laundry: Only limited facilities are available to handle ship's laundry.

(f) Surveyors: Representatives of the American Bureau of Shipping, Lloyds' Register and other maritime classification societies are available in San Juan, Puerto Rico on 12 to 24 hours notice. The ship's Agent will assist Masters in soliciting their services.

(g) Mail: Official and persohal mail will be delivered on board by the ship's Agent when vessels are being cleared inwards. Mail received for vessels while in port will be delivered on board prior to sailing. Outgoing mail is accepted from Masters, provided it is accompanied by a mail transmittal slip to support disbursements.

(h) Transportation: Walking through the refinery is not permitted. Arrangements for transportation will have to be made through the ship's Agent or the Refinery General Manager's Office.

(i) Supplies and Repairs: Limited supplies of provisions and marine hardware are available on the island. There are no facilities for major repairs closer than San Juan, Puerto Rico. Machine shops in Christiansted and Fredriksted can assist in making minor repairs.

(j) Overloading: Masters are advised that the international laws are strictly enforced with regard to overloading and should be guided accordingly. In cases where overloaded cargo has to be discharged, all expenses incurred, including ship delay, will be for the vessels account.

(k) Weather Conditions: The loading and discharge of all crude petroleum and its products will be stopped during any electrical storm. Ullage screens or ullage plugs must be in place. Loading gasoline or other similar low-flash products will be stopped during periods of calms when the heavy vapours can not be dispersed quickly enough to prevent hazards from accumulated gas pockets. Ship's officers are cautioned to be on their guard during such conditions. In the event of abnormal weather conditions in the area as a hurricane, vessels will be notified that additional moorings are required. If the situation so demands, Masters will be told to suspend all operations and proceed to sea until normal weather conditions again prevail.

(l) Demurrage: Vessels are required to vacate berth promptly upon completion of cargo handling operation (loading or discharging operations, as the case may be). Permission to lay alongside at any time the vessel is not engaged in cargo handling operations must be granted in writing by the Dock Master. The Harbour Master will keep vessels advised of other vessels awaiting berth. If any vessel fails to vacate its berth upon completion or cargo handling operations and expiration of free laytime for dock usage as outlined below, the vessel will be responsible for penalties and demurrage as follows:

(a) To pay dock demurrage at the rate of $300 per hour, or a pro rata share thereof for a fraction of an hour, and also,

(b) To hold HOVIC harmless for any demurrage and damages incurred as a result of other vessels awaiting berth.

The following rules shall govern the determination of demurrage:

(a) One hour free laytime will be allowed after completion of cargo handling operations. This free time will start at the time cargo hoses are disconnected from the ship's manifold on completion of loading or discharge of cargo. Vessels awaiting cargo papers and/or Customs clearance must vacate the berth within 1 hour of such completion and move outside to wait for their papers.

(b) Three hours free laytime will be allowed for ballasting after discharge operations.
